LEGISLATIVE HEARING DISCUSSION ITEMS

Items listed under the Consent Agenda will receive a combined public hearing and be enacted by one motion with no separate discussion. Items may be removed from the Consent Agenda for a separate public hearing and discussion if desired.

- 28 RLH CO 22-8 Appeal of Brett Cummings, Panama Flats Rowhouse Association, to a Correction Order at 228 EXCHANGE STREET SOUTH.

Correction Order passed. Next step for the Home Owners Association (HOA) is to talk with Public Works and get their assessment and determination of financial responsibility. If the HOA is dissatisfied, they can file a claim against the city. Either way though, the costs of these need to be paid up front to get this process moving for the next construction season. The public safety issue is the primary concern, and the financial responsibility is secondary.

Also in attendance: Brett Cummings, resident and HOA president, in-person

Moermond: This is a correction order to repair a retaining wall. Google street view from 2019 shows asphalt side repairs, indicating that the sidewalk has experienced some problems in the past. Right now, though, the issue is the retaining wall between the sidewalk and the lower garden-level opening. What has happened is that the wall is beginning to fail. Photos show some efflorescence and some opening. There is also an opening between the private sidewalk and city sidewalk. There is also sidewalk failure where the sidewalk next to the curb is beginning to come down. The sidewalk is tilting towards the wall, causing water to infiltrate into the wall and making it worse. The order is to fix the wall. The appeal agrees that the wall needs to be fixed, but how does this relate to fixing the sidewalk? It also argues that they should not be responsible for all of the wall repair cost, and that the City should own some responsibility. To figure this out, I asked the head of Public Works' Sidewalk Division, the head of their Right of Way division, and the city's bridge engineer. They all took a look at the situation and could not make a determination whether the wall failed first causing the sidewalk to fail, or if the sidewalk failed first causing the wall to fail. Both items need to be fixed. The sidewalk is public, the wall is private. Public Works has put in a temporary fix to prevent additional water infiltration. This includes asphalt repairs, putting in a temporary curb, and eliminating the trip hazard. These are estimated to hold for a year. The wall repair needs to come next, which will require engineering analysis, ripping up the sidewalk and replacing it. Then finally will be the long-term repair of the sidewalk. The agreement was for the wall to be fixed by the property owner by August 1, 2023, and then after that the city will take care of the final sidewalk repair. Right now all that's in front of you though is the correction order. The date I am recommending is informed by the complicating factors of making this type of repair. What is not in front of you though is a mechanism for determining financial responsibility, culpability, or replacement plans. This is just "should this be corrected by this date?". This is just square one, to affirm that this needs to be repaired. August 1 of next year is enough time. We need to look at next year's construction cycle for this.

Councilmember Noecker: Thank you for the explanation. Can you speak to the process required for figuring out the repair process and how this happened?

Moermond: In the hearing I said that the first step is to talk to Public Works to hear their assessment and their belief of their public responsibility. If the property owner is not satisfied, I indicated that the next step would be litigation via a claim against the city. This would not come before Council.

Noecker: If we issue the correction order today, and a claim is filed against the city, how does that interact with the August 1 deadline if the dispute gets drawn out?

Moermond: My recommendation is to not condition the August 1 deadline, but rather to let the financial matters resolve themselves over time. Someone will need to pay for this up front, but the first concern is getting this public safety concern resolved, and the matter of cost is secondary.

Noecker: And the August 1 deadline is informed by how long the temporary repairs will last and how long the fix will take?

Moermond: Yes, this also gives time for Public Works to fix the sidewalk afterwards before the construction season ends.

Council President Brendmoen opened the public hearing.

Cummings: 25% of our residents are also here today as well. I have lived here for 4 years. Prior association boards have spent the last 7-8 years petitioning Pubic Works to replace the sidewalks because they are failing. The asphalt patches in the 2019 photo were there when I moved in, so they have been there at least 4 years. We also noticed that the failure of the sidewalks were causing them to tilt and funnel water into the building. We are hoping for a more equitable solution, since we have been trying for so long. My understand from talking to DSI staff is that this came to a correction order because when someone was sent to look at the sidewalks, instead of fixing them they issued a correction order for the wall. There were other incidents as well that I outlined in the appeal, including a water main break next to the sidewalk and the utility contractor noticed that it had been leaking for years right where the settlement begins. We think we've done everything possible to the fix this problem. We think that if the sidewalk had been maintained properly, we would not be here today with this issue of the wall. I understand that this is not the conversation for today, and that the only opportunity is to file a claim against he City, but I still want to make my case before the City Council.

Noecker: Thank you Mr. Cummings and your fellow residents for being here. I understand your frustration and I am sorry for the prolonged process. Right now all we are dealing with is: does the wall need to be fixed? I think it does. We just do not have the capacity to litigate this or dig through the history of this to determine an equitable solution. The right next step would be to file a claim, as Moermond said. I will move her recommendation, and I am grateful that we have a full year to make these changes.

Brendmoen: I do also want to add that sometimes this action of a correction order can catalyze things and get them rolling. We talked about deferred maintenance a lot this morning and we need to take care of these maintenance tasks. I second the apology and do support the recommendation.

PARK STREET in Council File RLH RR 21-71. (Recommendation is forthcoming, pending Certificate of Code Compliance is received by September 7, 2022)

Owner has evidence of finance and has two weeks to get a certificate of code compliance before the matter comes back before Council.

Moermond: Last week I indicated that if the certificate of code compliance was received by today, I would not be asking the Council to forfeit $5000 of the performance deposit. The certificate has not been received, but I did meet with the owner and I have seen evidence of financing. I recommend to continue the public hearing for two weeks to give him time to get the certificate.
