NOTICE OF CITY ACTION BEING APPEALED

Attached is the June 1, 2022 Notice that the City had provided the owner of an exception from the statutory rent increase limit permitting an 8% rent increase. Under the City rules for the program the City provides no notice to affected residents and leaves provision of notice up to the owner.

Union Flats

Dear Hannah Gray:

Thank you for being a valued resident in our community. Our goal at Union Flats is to offer one of the finest apartment communities in the area; a place you can truly be proud to call your home!

Our community participates in an affordable housing program known as Section 42, or the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program. The LIHTC program provides rent control as the maximum allowable rent charged for each affordable apartment home is determined each year by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

I would like to invite you to renew your lease with us.

12 Month Lease: $1203

HUD recently released the 2022 Area Median Income for our area which results in an 11.89% increase over 2021 rents. The City of St. Paul recently passed a rent stabilization ordinance requiring increases between 3% and 15% be approved for exception. We applied for and received exception for an 8% rent increase.

Increasing your rent allows us to maintain and make improvements to our community and continue to offer the level service that all of our Dominion residents deserve. While this new rent may seem high, it is substantially less than the rent increase amounts in neighboring market rate communities and less than the growth in income limits and maximum allowable rent amounts determined by HUD. We hope you will choose to renew your lease with us!

If your plans require you to move, we will be sorry to lose you from our community. Remember we require 1 months written notice prior to your moving date. Again, we would like to extend our appreciation for making Union Flats your home.

Sincerely,

Community Manager Name

This rental rate does not include ancillary charges such as pet, parking, storage, etc. Rent increases are implemented only once in a 12-month period. If you believe you have been assessed an increase prior to the 12-month anniversary of your most recent rent increase, please contact the Community Manager immediately so that we may review your account history.

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF HANNAH GRAY'S RENT INCREASE APPEAL

We represent Hannah Gray in this appeal of rent increases which substantially exceed the 3% annual limit set out in the St. Paul Rent Stabilization Ordinance, § 193A.03. Ms. Gray lives in Dominion's Union Flats building at 787 N. Hampden Avenue, St. Paul Apartment 213, owned by St. Paul Leased Housing Associates VIII LLLP and managed by Dominion Management Services (hereafter "Dominium"). Attached hereto and labeled "Notice of City Action Being Appealed" is the Notice dated June 1, 2022 which Ms. Gray received on that date from her apartment manager, indicating that Dominion had "applied for and received" exception from § 193A.03 permitting a rent increase of 8%. The letter invited Ms. Gray to apply for a new 12 month lease at $1,203 and implied that her only alternative was to move.¹ The rent in her new lease, $1,203 is a $89 or 8% increase over the $1,114 rent in effect through 6/30/22. (See Exhibit 1, first page of Ms. Gray's July 1, 2021 lease; Dominion subsequently reduced the rent by $5). Ms. Gray has applied for the new lease as directed by the letter. This application has no effect on this appeal, as the City Ordinance prohibits any waiver of its provisions. §193A.07(c)

Ms. Gray challenges on two grounds the City action effectively approving the 8% exception rent increase and her actual 8% increase as well as an increase in rent on another unit which exceeds the 8% exception for which Dominion received approval.

An 8% increase could not be justified under the terms of the City Rent Stabilization Ordinance and the regulations and policies under which rent stabilization is being administered.

The Ordinance provides that landlords may request exceptions to the 3% annual limitation on increases "based on the right to a reasonable return on investment." § 193A.05. The Final Rules for Rent Stabilization adopted by the City provide that the owner's Net Operation Income (hereafter "NOI") in the base year, 2019, is presumed to have provided such a reasonable return. The Rule further provides owners with a right to obtain a NOI equal to the 2019 NOI increased by 100% of the percentage increase in the CPI since the 2019 base year. The CPI to be employed in this calculation is that for the twelve-month period ending in March of the current year for All Urban Consumers for the Minneapolis-St. Paul-Bloomington area.

The 12-month CPI for March 2020 increased 1.2% over that in the 2019 base year. In March of 2021 the 12 month increase was 3% over that in 2020 and in March of 2022 it was 8.2% over that in 2021. Exhibit 2, Table A; https://www.bls.gov/regions/midwest/news-release/consumerpriceindex_minneapolis.htm. Thus the March 2022 CPI has increased by 12.8% over that in March 2019 ($1.012 \times 1.03 \times 1.082 = 1.128$). Therefore, a rent increase resulting in a NOI increase of no more than 12.8% over that in 2019 would be justified under the City Rules.

Her Union Flats building opened in early 2019 and Exhibit 3, attached, is a copy of the application form from a neighbor who was an early occupant, showing the original rent for 1 BR units like Ms. Gray's for a March 2019 move-in was $970. The rent under the new lease effective July 1, 2022 is $1,203, an increase of 24% over that in the 2019 base year.

NOI is defined by the City Rules as gross rental income (made up largely of Rent, and including additional sources of revenue such as parking payments) minus operating expenses. Gross rental income is then equal to operating expenses plus NOI. Therefore, the only way that a 12.8% increase in NOI to assure a reasonable return under the rules could justify a 24% increase in rents is if operating expenses since the 2019 base year had increased by even more than 24%. Given that overall inflation was only 12.8% over this period, this is extremely doubtful and therefore something which Dominion is obligated to demonstrate in response to this appeal.

The owner has not demonstrated any need for an 8% rent increase in order to receive a fair return on investment.

The Ordinance clearly provides that exceptions to the 3% limitation in increases are to “be made only when the landlord demonstrates that such adjustments are necessary to provide the landlord with a fair return on investment.” (emphasis added); § 193A.05(b). Dominion has certainly not demonstrated the need for this increase to the residents. The June 1 letter justifies the increase solely on the basis that the federal tax credit program could have permitted a greater increase. But what the tax credit program doesn’t guarantee any particular level of rents, it merely sets an upper limit. That upper limit has nothing whatsoever to do with the limits imposed by the Rent Stabilization ordinance.

Nor has Dominion demonstrated the need for the increase to the City, because the procedure adopted by the City provides that the demonstration need not be submitted to the City. The procedure, apparently adopted by City staff but not in the Rules adopted by the City Council, violate the Ordinance requirement of a demonstration of need for an exception, and any approval of a rent increase in excess of 3% by City staff using this procedure is ultra vires and the resulting rent increase a violation of the City ordinance.

Dominium is now advertising a 1-BR unit at a rent increase greater than the 8% permitted by the City-granted exception.

Exhibit 4 is a current advertisement for a 1-Bedroom unit renting for $1,257 on the Union Flats website, <https://www.unionflatsapartments.com/availableunits?bed=1&calledfrom=home>. This is the maximum Dominion is permitted to charge under the Low Income Housing Tax Credit rules. It represents a 12.8% increase over the $1114 rent for 1-bedroom leases, such as Ms. Gray’s, expiring in June 2022. The City’s Ordinance provides that the “Limitation on the amount of annual rent increase shall apply regardless of change of occupancy in a residential rental unit.” Thus the fact that the $1,257 rent does not involve an individual tenant’s increase is irrelevant. The rent represents an increase of more than the 8% for which Dominion has received permission and represents a violation of the Ordinance.

¹ The notice is very misleading in this regard. As is plain from paragraph 3 in her existing lease (see Exhibit 1), the actual effect of a tenant declining the offer of a new lease at higher rent is simply an automatic renewal of the existing lease on a month to month basis with no immediate rent increase but subject to an increase with proper notice. Thus not only has Dominion flagrantly ignored the requirements of the Rent Stabilization ordinance, it has done so in a way designed to panic its tenants into accepting an illegal rent increase.

Consumer Price Index, Minneapolis-St. Paul-Bloomington area - May 2022

Area prices were up 1.9 percent over the past two months, up 6.7 percent from a year ago

Prices in the Minneapolis-St. Paul-Bloomington area, as measured by the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U), advanced 1.9 percent for the two months ending in May 2022, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. (See table A.) Regional Commissioner Jason Palmer noted that the food index increased 4.1 percent, and the energy index advanced 11.1 percent from March to May. The all items less food and energy index rose 0.8 percent over the past two months. Within the all items less food and energy category, prices were higher over the two-month period for public transportation and lower for apparel and recreation. (Data in this report are not seasonally adjusted. Accordingly, bi-monthly changes may reflect seasonal influences.)

Over the last 12 months, the CPI-U rose 6.7 percent. (See chart 1 and table A.) The index for all items less food and energy increased 5.8 percent over the year. Energy prices advanced 43.1 percent, largely the result of an increase in gasoline prices. Food prices were up 11.8 percent. (See table 1.)

News Data Data

Food

Food prices increased 4.1 percent for the two months ending in May. Prices for food at home (groceries) advanced 5.1 percent as all six of the major grocery store food group indexes increased over the two-month period. Categories increasing included fruits and vegetables (10.5 percent) and meats, poultry, fish, and eggs (5.7 percent). Prices for food away from home (restaurant, cafeteria, and vending purchases) rose 1.0 percent for the same period.

Over the year, food prices increased 11.3 percent. Prices for food at home were up 14.0 percent since a year ago. Among the grocery food categories, the index for fruits and vegetables was up 17.3 percent over the year and costs for meats, poultry, fish, and eggs rose 13.5 percent. Prices for food away from home rose 8.5 percent compared to May 2021.

Energy

The energy index increased 11.1 percent for the two months ending in May. The increase was mainly due to higher utility (piped) gas service prices (38.1 percent). Gasoline prices rose 5.2 percent, and electricity prices increased 2.9 percent for the same period.

Energy prices increased 43.1 percent over the year, largely due to higher gasoline prices (46.2 percent). Prices paid for utility (piped) gas service were up 64.9 percent, and electricity prices rose 11.2 percent during the past year.

All items less food and energy

The index for all items less food and energy rose 0.5 percent in the latest two-month period. Higher prices for public transportation were partially offset by lower prices for apparel (-4.4 percent) and recreation (-2.1 percent).

Over the year, the index for all items less food and energy advanced 5.8 percent. Components contributing to the increase included shelter (5.3 percent) and new and used motor vehicles (12.6 percent).

The July 2022 Consumer Price Index for the Minneapolis-St. Paul-Bloomington area is scheduled to be released on August 10, 2022.

Technical Note

The Consumer Price Index (CPI) is a measure of the average change in prices over time in a fixed market basket of goods and services. The Bureau of Labor Statistics publishes CPIs for two population groups: (1) a CPI for All Urban Consumers (CPI-U) which covers approximately 83 percent of the total U.S. population and (2) a CPI for Urban Wage Earners and Clerical Workers (CPI-W) which covers approximately 29 percent of the total U.S. population. The CPI-U includes, in addition to wage earners and clerical workers, groups such as professional, managerial, and technical workers, the self-employed, short-term workers, the unemployed, and retirees and others not in the labor force.

The CPI is based on prices of food, clothing, shelter, and fuels, transportation fares, charges for doctors' and dentists' services, drugs, and the other goods and services that people buy for day-to-day living. Each month, prices are collected in 75 urban areas across the country from about 6,000 housing units and approximately 22,000 retail establishments—department stores, supermarkets, hospitals, filling stations, and other types of stores and service establishments. All taxes directly associated with the purchase and use of items are included in the index.

The index measures price changes from a designated reference date; for most of the CPI-U the reference base is 1982-84 equals 100. An increase of 7 percent from the reference base, for example, is shown as 107.000. Alternatively, that relationship can also be expressed as the price of a base period market basket of goods and services rising from $100 to $107. For further details see the CPI home page on the Internet at www.bls.gov/cpi and the CPI section of the BLS Handbook of Methods available on the Internet at www.bls.gov/publications/handbook/.

In calculating the index, price changes for the various items in each location are averaged together with weights that represent their importance in the spending of the appropriate population group. Local data are then combined to obtain a U.S. city average. Because the sample size of a local area is smaller, the local area index is subject to substantially more sampling and other measurement error than the national index. In addition, local indexes are not adjusted for seasonal influences. As a result, local area indexes show greater volatility than the national index, although their long-term trends are quite similar. NOTE: Area indexes do not measure differences in the level of prices between cities; they only measure the average change in prices for each area since the base period.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul-Bloomington, MN-WI, Core Based Statistical Area covered in this release is comprised of Anoka, Carver, Chicago, Dakota, Hennepin, Isanti, LeSueur, Male Lake, Ramsey, Scott, Sherburne, Sibley, Washington, and Wright Counties in Minnesota; and Pierce and St. Croix Counties in Wisconsin.
