Apartments	$1,127,550	+9.97%	($1,025,300 in 2021)

The chart below illustrates that the City of Saint Paul saw a slightly lower market value growth than the surrounding suburbs, this would indicate that there will be some tax shifts that may benefit Saint Paul property owners.

	Residential	Industrial	Commercial	Apartments	Overall
Saint Paul	13.27%	6.95%	0.67%	14.32%	11.76%
Ramsey County
Suburbs	15.02%	11.38%	2.71%	21.45%	13.93%
Total	14.21%	9.55%	1.78%	17.00%	12.88%

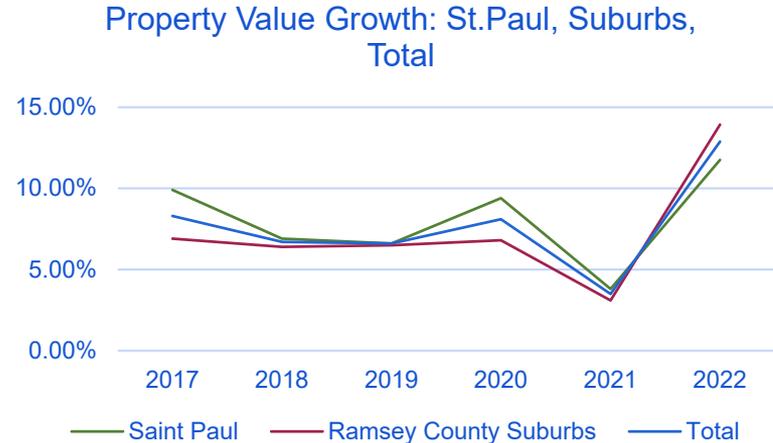

History of Property Value Growth

— Residential — Industrial — Commercial — Apartments

Apartments and commercial properties have had some significant growth years, the yellow and brown line. This year apartments and residential values are significantly up in 2022.

- Saint Paul property value growth has outperformed total county growth, until this year. This should cause tax shifts to the suburban cities.
- All of Ramsey County including Saint Paul saw relatively low growth LY, 3.5% total. This year's increase is up 12.88% total, driven by residential and apartment growth.
