Dear Saint Paul City Councilmembers Thao, Noecker, Tolbert, Brendmoen, Bostrom & Prince,

I am writing to apply for the interim Ward 4 City Council position. As a long-time Saint Paul Ward 4 resident, I bring extensive professional, political and civic experience to this opportunity. I welcome the chance to serve our city and this Ward's citizens during the six month special election period, providing continuity and robust constituent service. I will not be a candidate for election.

I arrived in Saint Paul in 1981, a Macalester College undergraduate from a small southwestern Minnesota farm. My first dip into the community was 1982's precinct caucuses. Since then, I've been involved in neighborhood, city, regional and state activities. Our first house was on Ashland. Joining District 13's then-Snelling Hamline Community Council opened my eyes to municipal challenges. Everything that I've learned about Saint Paul's complex life and the tools deployed by leaders and policymakers, flows from that experience.

I joined Fourth District Congressman Bruce Vento's staff in 1997, acting as his principal district liaison. Bruce was a gifted public servant, deeply attuned to his community's needs. Bruce taught me to serve people, working to make government a force for good, affecting positive change. He showed me that Saint Paul and the entire East Metro area was brimming with possibility that flowed from its people and its cooperative, neighborhood traditions.

Bruce's untimely cancer death in late 2000 opened a family door. My wife accepted an overseas posting in Hong Kong, allowing me the chance to be the primary caregiver to our two very young children. After surviving the 2003 SARS outbreak, we returned to Saint Paul's St Anthony Park neighborhood, two blocks from my wife's childhood home. I worked in campaign politics. In 2007, I co-founded Minnesota 2020, a state public policy think-tank focusing on education, healthcare, transportation and economic development. We worked to move Minnesota's public policy debate forward through rigorous research communicated across all media platforms. I'm proud that we were early champions of minimum wage increase, expanded affordable healthcare, increased school funding and transportation infrastructure investment.

Because of my neighborhood and city engagement background, I understood just how hard the Pawlenty-era reduction of progressive tax revenue distribution hit Saint Paul. At Minnesota 2020, we analyzed the economic data and created a public information stream challenging the state's unilateral shift and illuminating the resulting consequences. Today, Minnesota 2020's published archive is statically hosted by the Minnesota AFL and may be freely accessed.

Finally, I'm a disabled, full-time power wheelchair user, having lost most of my ability to walk due to muscular dystrophy. All MD forms are genetic afflictions, meaning that we're born with it, but I wasn't diagnosed until turning 40. It's been a complex, ever evolving experience but I seek opportunities to bring practical insight to the public policy debate around disability and accessibility issues.

I hope to bring my life's experience to the interim Ward 4 seat. It's important to continue the city's business, be an able colleague and provide Ward 4 with strong constituent service. People understand that leaders must make difficult decisions but they expect to have their concerns fairly heard. This notion is the very soul of Saint Paul's strength.

I look forward to speaking with you at greater length.

Sincerely,
John Van Hecke

Subject: Interim Ward 4 City Councilmember Application
Attachments: SBizhub18012515550.pdf

February 1, 2018

Dear Esteemed Members of the Saint Paul City Council:

Attached please find my resume, references and letters of recommendation from Mayor Chris Coleman, Councilmember Jay Benanav, Michigan Governor James Blanchard, Michigan Senate Majority Leader William Faust and Ted St. Antoine and Daniel Farber, professors of law at the University of Michigan and Minnesota, respectively. I offer these materials in support of my application to serve as the Interim City Council member being vacated by the Honorable Russ Stark.

My interest in Saint Paul civic affairs is long and deep, having served as President of the Merriam Park Community Council (before unification into the Union Park District Council), Land Use Committee Chair of the Merriam Park Community Council and founding member and co-chair of the West Summit Neighborhood Advisory Council. As an attorney, I engage in transactions and litigation, though I am best known for my mediation skills which have served me well in my civic activities.

I would be most honored to discuss the Interim position with you and can most easily be reached at cell telephone number 651.276.4911 or at my residence which is 1838 Portland Avenue, Saint Paul, Minnesota 55104.

Thank you most kindly for any consideration you may give to my application.

Very truly yours,

Scott A. Banas

Scott Banas, President
Merriam Park Community Council
1684 Selby Ave.
St. Paul, MN 55104

Dear Scott,

It is with great fondness, respect and not a little sadness that I write to congratulate you and thank you for your years of service as President of the Merriam Park Community Council. Your commitment has been inspiring. You've accomplished a great deal on behalf of your neighbors throughout St. Paul.

Let me name just a few of the achievements that would not have occurred without your conscientious leadership and painstaking attention to detail:

- As Merriam Park's representative negotiating team to deal with the expansion of the University of St. Thomas, you were a driving force in creating a multi-layered compromise, including UST's transformation of 30 rundown student rental properties into permanent homeownership, and the creation of the West Summit Neighborhood Advisory Committee, which you now co-chair;
- Through your skilled negotiation with the St. Paul Parks & Recreation Division, the Merriam Park Community Council created a neighborhood-driven parks improvement fund for Merriam and Desnoyer parks, from revenue derived from a T-mobile Cell Tower;
- You assisted the Merriam Park Land Use Committee in developing a thorough and effective community process to shepherd the development of two new condominium projects by Wellington Management in Shadow Falls; and
- In the interest of achieving appropriate citizen participation funding levels for the residents and employees of Merriam Park, you have withstood slings and arrows from all sectors, to ensure that Merriam Park will be on equal footing with district councils throughout the city;
- And projects too numerous to mention that served business owners at Cleveland and Marshall, that empowered Iris Park residents to take back their neighborhood, that assisted a recalcitrant developer in working with neighbors to restore 1956 Feronia, and so much more.

Whenever I think of Scott Banas, I'll see him – at Trotter's, at a WSNAC meeting, in my office – looking over the top of his glasses to ask, "Jay, what do you think the best approach would be in this situation?" You always give your best to this job!

While I write to thank you, I must also extend my sincere thanks – and even heartier appreciation – to your wife, Laura, your daughter, Mariah, and your son, Jacob, for sharing you for these years with the whole community. Of course, while you were making things better for all of us, you were also making things better for them, and that is perhaps what is most important.

For when all is said and done, you have set a wonderful example for your children, and for the rest of us, on what it means to be a leader in making our neighborhood, our city and our world a better place.

Warm regards,

To Whom It May Concern:

Despite the generic salutation on this letter, I write to highly recommend Mr. Scott Banas for his accomplishments both personal and professional.

When my administration took control of the Executive Branch of Michigan State Government in 1983, the State was in the depths of a serious depression which threatened the continued economic viability of Michigan's economy. I made it my campaign theme at that time and continue to place primary emphasis on the need to both attract new business to and expand existing business in our State. In the past five years, my administration has initiated a plethora of business attraction programs in the hopes of expanding and diversifying our economy. Many of these programs have proven highly successful, and Michigan has recently benefited from a major increase in job opportunities.

Obviously, these very satisfying results would not have been possible without the efforts of a small group of bright, hard-working and innovative people committed to building a strong economic base and close working relationships among business, government and organized labor. Without the tireless efforts of these people, Michigan's revitalization would not have been possible. The purpose of this letter is to recommend to you Mr. Scott Banas, who is clearly one member of this group of young professionals involved in building a new era of cooperative relationships within the governmental community.

I further note Mr. Banas's work with State Senator William Faust, one of the Michigan Legislature's most highly respected members. Under former Majority Leader Faust's tutelage, Scott has developed extremely valuable skills in negotiating compromise on very difficult public policy issues which in the past have pitted business, labor and other interest groups against one another. Further, he has shown commitment and dedication to enhancing Michigan state government through long hours of research and negotiation often in concert with members of my staff, state legislators and outside interest groups.

Additionally, Scott spent a year on leave of absence from State service with an organization called The Economic Alliance for Michigan. The Alliance is a highly innovative coalition of corporate chief executive officers and labor union leaders (all of whom actually participate in the organization) committed to the resolution of the kind of public policy problems which in the past have created tremendous tension and conflicts between business and labor.

August 15, 1988

While he was principally responsible for The Alliance's health care cost reduction policies, he was also extremely active in the effort to reduce the cost of workers' compensation and unemployment compensation in our State. The high level of actors who participate in the Alliance process (e.g., Roger Smith, Lee Iacocca and Owen Bieber) along with the high quality of work this organization is known to produce are a testament to Scott's ability to effectuate meaningful compromise and also to his ability to move difficult agreements through the legislative process.

While my discussion thus far has centered upon Scott's work with my administration and the policies he helped to pursue, I can also tell you he is extremely personable and conscientious and is clearly dedicated to the pursuit of "good government." His intellectual capabilities are unsurpassed, and members of my administration who have worked with Scott in difficult negotiations concur that he is an insightful and perceptive person who understands the need to work with personalities as well as policies. I find this last to be one of the most attractive qualities in any person in any field.

While I might go on, let me conclude by making myself, or my Legislative Director, Bill Kandler, available to answer any questions you may have regarding Scott.

Sincerely,

James J. Blanchard

Committee on Admissions
University of Minnesota School of Law
229 19th Avenue, South
Minneapolis, Minnesota 55455

Dear Committee Member:

Scott Banas has applied for admission to the University of Minnesota School of Law. I write to recommend him highly and without reservation.

I have been associated with Scott, both personally and professionally, for five years, and of all the staff people I have known (including the many gifted young people who served on my staff while I was Majority Leader), Scott is without question among the most thoughtful, energetic and, most importantly, the brightest. He handles a wide array of extremely difficult public policy issues, and in addition to supplying keen analyses, he is very often a part of the small group of people who supply the solutions. He is, further, extremely well adjusted and well rounded and contributes a great deal of his time to civic activities. One look at his resume will confirm all of this.

A look at his resume and his college transcripts will further show that he received extremely high grades in a rigorous college program, while working to put himself through school. His employment record is also impressive, and I know he has been recruited by key people in government to fill challenging and responsible positions. He has, however, turned these offers down, opting to attend law school instead.

For the record, I must add a few words about Scott's commitment to responsible government and to finding sound solutions to difficult problems. When we are faced with a difficult issue, Scott works day and night, literally. He calls me early in the morning and late in the evening (I'll never forget the time he called me during the final minutes of the Super Bowl Game to discuss a pressing issue). He is tireless in the pursuit of making things come out in a way which benefits all concerned, and I cannot think of a finer attribute for a member of the legal community.

Accepting Scott into your legal studies program will be a great benefit, both to him and to The University of Minnesota.

Sincerely,

William Faust

Dear Scott,

Please accept my congratulations on your two successful terms as President of the Merriam Park Community Council. Although you will be stepping down as President of the Council, I am very glad to hear that you will remain on as a Council member. I want you to know that I very much appreciate all the excellent work you have done as President of the Merriam Park Community Council.

The District Council system is a unique and important part of the Saint Paul governance structure. The work of the Merriam Park Community Council has been instrumental in so many areas since its inception that it is not possible to innumerate them all.

Your leadership of the Merriam Park Community Council has been outstanding. Your inclusive and cooperative approach to bringing the neighbors and the City together to provide the City Council and the planning agencies with the Merriam Park Community Council's recommendations has helped strengthen the relationships among all of those involved. I know that your leadership and accomplishments will leave a lasting legacy in Merriam Park and the City of Saint Paul.

Thank you again for your hard work and dedication. I have enjoyed working with you as President of the Merriam Park Community Council, and I look forward to working with you, the next President of the Council and the entire Merriam Park Community Council as we move into the future.

To Whom it May Concern,

I write to offer my thoughts about Scott Banas, and offer my highest recommendation for his employment.

I first became acquainted with Scott during his first year in law school. He was a student in my constitutional law course, and quickly established himself in my eyes as among the brightest, most poised and well prepared students I have encountered in ten years of teaching.

Near the end of his first year, a position as technical editor opened with Constitutional Commentary, a Minnesota Law School publication for which I serve as senior faculty editor. I inquired with Scott about his availability, and he joined the staff. His work has been exceptional, and I have since promoted him to chief student editor. In this capacity Scott supervises two student editors and manages the publication process such that we now consistently publish on schedule and at a cost much lower than when the journal began in 1986. In short, he cut the time and cost of publication, for which I am grateful.

When Constitutional Commentary was incorporated into the Minnesota Center for Legal Studies, of which I am the Director, I asked Scott to become my executive assistant. He has taken on myriad tasks from administration to policy issues for me. For example, he has organized conferences, written grant proposals and arranged for subscription drives for Constitutional Commentary and promotional campaigns for the Center. Throughout, Scott has proven indispensable to me, and I give him the highest level recommendation possible.

On a personal note, Scott is very personable, has a delightful sense of humor, and is well liked by all the staff people at the law school. He does not feel above any task, and is always willing to pitch in to get to get the job done.

If I can provide additional information regarding Scott's candidacy as a legal editor, you are welcome to call me.

Sincerely,

Dear Senator Faust:

Thanks so much for your kind and generous letter concerning my work during the recent round of legislative consideration of the workers' compensation system. I have been out of town nearly constantly since your letter arrived, or I would certainly have written sooner to express my appreciation.

From a wholly selfish perspective, I am sorry I didn't have more personal contact with you during the whole process, but I was constantly aware of your crucial contributions at key points along the way. You could not have been better represented, by the way, than by your fine young assistant, Scott Banas. He is, as I am sure you are aware, a real prize.

For me, one of the genuine bonuses of this whole exercise was realizing how many truly able and dedicated persons are willing to devote themselves to the people's concerns in Lansing. I realize that any active politician has certain constraints on his or her freedom of action. Nonetheless, I was much impressed that so many were ultimately prepared to set aside narrow interests and work toward a realistic, decent compromise.

Again, thank you for your good words, and all best regards.

Operations Director
City Council Offices

Saint Paul, MN 55102

Dear Ms. Moloney:

I am writing to express my interest in serving as Interim Councilmember for Ward 4. I am a long-term resident of Ward 4 and active community member. I believe my professional and personal experiences position me well to step into this position and support Ward 4, the full City Council and Mayor Carter. I am excited about the opportunity to serve Ward 4 during this interim period to continue the great work of Councilmember Stark and promote my own priorities for the community.

I own and operate a small consulting business, which provides strategy, management and public relations consulting to public, private, and non-profit sector organizations. Our consultation services address complex community challenges through policy and systems alignment and/or improvement. I have had the great opportunity to work with state and local elected officials, agency leaders and community members at-large to find sustainable solutions that improve outcomes. Examples of our consulting work include the redevelopment of Governor Dayton's Children's Cabinet; work with Sprockets to improve social emotional learning opportunities for Saint Paul's youth; strategy support for Minnesota State's Office of Equity and Inclusion; and development of an action work plan for the City of Minneapolis's newly identified South Side Green Zones, which focuses on environmental justice.

I learned the value of local government while working with the Association of Minnesota Counties. During this time, I witness state and local governments interacting and learned how they rely on one another to accomplish their goals. I know challenging and rewarding it can be when we get policies and resources to align to better serve citizens in our communities.

In addition to my professional experiences, I am actively engaged in my community. I am currently the treasurer of Como Park Senior High School's Booster Club. We raise resources for Como Park's sports teams, student-led clubs and school-sanctioned clubs. We also work to build relationships between the school, its families and the surrounding neighborhoods. I am serving my last year as a Board Member of HandsOn Twin Cities. While Board Chair I was able to hire our current executive director and position the organization for long-term success. I am passionate about connecting people to volunteer opportunities in their community and have seen the benefits to the individual as well as the organization and community at-large.

I welcome the opportunity to speak with you further about this interim position. I can be reached at Laura@LaCroixDalluhnConsulting.com or 651-769-4933.

Professional Expertise

I started my business to provide strategy, management and public relations consulting to public, private, and non-profit sector organizations. My consulting contracts address complex community challenges and opportunities through policy and systems alignment and/or improvement. My diverse project management experiences and consulting contracts bring multiple stakeholders together to leverage partnerships and expertise to achieve better results. I have focused my passion and work over the past years on innovation, improvement and action in the public and non-profit sector. I have bridged and connected resources within and across systems locally, statewide and nationally.

Contributions

As a strategist, I use multiple methods and perspectives to understand, develop, and improve processes, policies and systems that support healthy communities and their public, or non-profit delivery systems. I work with numerous government, philanthropic and community-based organizations, statewide and national associations, as well as large and small communities as they mobilize their citizenry toward social innovation and action.

Dear City Council Members,

I am excited for the opportunity to serve alongside you as the next Ward 4 City Council member. As a resident of the Hamline-Midway neighborhood since 2010 and a tireless advocate for our community, I have a proven track record of moving the city forward through my actions, words, and passion. Those who have teamed up with me on local projects can attest to my commitment to direct action; boldness in starting new initiatives; ability to learn quickly and connect authentically; and fearlessness in respectfully speaking my mind and standing firmly upon my values. I have earned the trust of my neighbors, because I have my finger on the pulse of my community and I respond with thoughtfulness and action.

My actions in addressing issues that matter to me and my neighbors speak to who I am and my ability to interrogate and respond to these concerns. The Midway Murals idea was born out of a desire to promote economic development and bridge cultural divides, while also making our most busy thoroughfare a stunning public art attraction. When the call came for community input on the new soccer stadium, I applied and was selected to serve on the Community Advisory Committee, spoke up regularly at meetings, and wrote an impassioned reflection as part of the final report – which I encourage you to read. In recent weeks, my desire to ensure maximum stadium-related benefit for my neighbors led to my being named to the Midway Center Task Force operating out of the Union Park District Council. When the recent mayoral race was in full swing, I took it upon myself as a city resident to reach out to the candidates and meet personally for over an hour with 4 of the top 5 candidates – because being informed and holding elected officials accountable is imperative as a constituent. When a stray bullet hit my daughter's bedroom window several months ago, my measured response involved connecting with those same candidates, along with Chief Axtell, whom I have also met personally with for coffee and difficult, honest, forthright conversation. And as concerns persisted about crime along Snelling Avenue and at Hamline Park, I was meeting regularly last year with Russ Stark and Samantha Henningson to brainstorm ways to engage young people in positive activities, rather than being reactive and punitive in our collective responses. The civic leadership I've shown over the past several years has been entirely unpaid, and yet I treat these efforts with the same level of dedication that any job – and certainly this City Council position – deserves, because St. Paul and its residents demand a brighter future.

I am most proud of the work I've done in St. Paul to bring disparate groups to the table and give voice to traditionally marginalized people in our city. In addition to my public policy studies, I am a social worker, too, someone who cares deeply about the well-being of those with the least among us. Taken together, those qualities make me eager and poised to become a thoughtful, impassioned new voice on the City Council for the next 6 months. I look forward to speaking with you further about this opportunity.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Oppenheimer

Dear St. Paul City Councilmembers, Council President Brendmoen, and Operations Director Moloney,

Please accept my application for the Interim Ward 4 City Councilmember position. My most recent CV is attached.

Albeit an interim role, I would hope to represent Ward 4 to the best of my ability and do the vacated seat justice. This is a time of continued change for our city, as well as Ward 4 as we continue to experience investment and development. As a twenty year resident of Saint Paul and an eighteen year resident of Ward 4, this is an inspiring and exciting opportunity to serve our city and this area. I hope many of my neighbors throw their hats in the ring as well.

While my political experience is limited, over the past few years, I have had the privilege to serve on the Earned Sick and Safe Time (ESST) Task Force and more recently as a Commissioner on the Human Rights and Equal Economic Opportunity (HREEO) Commission.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely yours,
Autumn Amadou-Blegen

Saint Paul City Council President Brendmoen and Councilmembers Thao, Noecker, Tolbert, Prince, & Bostrom:

I moved to Saint Paul's Hamline Midway neighborhood in 2004, fresh out of college. I worked as an Americorps VISTA supporting the formal collaboration between Hamline University and Hancock Elementary, whose theme was "College Begins in Kindergarten." Under terrible circumstances—the death of a Hamline student in a hit and run on Snelling Avenue — I had the good fortune of meeting and collaborating on pedestrian safety with a nonprofit staffer named Russ Stark. Little did I know how much we would affect each other's stories.

In 2007, with no political experience, I begrudgingly managed Russ' long-shot City Council campaign. Thanks to an incredible campaign team and Ward 4 constituents who shared our vision for the future of the Ward and City, Russ won. Then I found out about the job that I have held, gratefully, for ten years. As I was transitioning into this job, I made a relationship compromise and moved to Minneapolis for a stint to live with my now-husband, Eric. This experience made it clear that Saint Paul is where I want to live. I told Eric I was buying a house in Hamline Midway and that I hoped he'd come with me. Thankfully, he didn't call my bluff and we were wed in the backyard of our Saint Paul home a few years later. The point is that I love Saint Paul, and it has been a true honor to work for the City Council and alongside so many good-hearted professionals.

I am proud of the work we have done over the years, from ensuring energy efficiency improvements were incorporated in the work done on houses during and after the foreclosure and vacancy crisis, to increasing transportation options in Ward 4 and beyond, including work on the Green Line, the Citywide Bike Plan, and all manner of pedestrian-related initiatives. More recently, major projects have included working collaboratively to ensure the future of organized trash collection and convening staff across jurisdictions on a Safe Routes to School Steering Committee to move towards a future in which all kids could walk or bike to school. It is hard to distill ten years of work, but common threads are my overall optimism, effective mix of patience and impatience, and belief that if you get people in a room together, progress can usually be made. For the brief tenure of the interim Councilmember position, I would work with you to advocate that the Council's budget and policy priorities are included within the Mayor's proposed 2019 budget, and engage in policy discussion about the Council priorities identified earlier this year. I would also continue to support Safe Routes to School and the development of the City's first Pedestrian Plan. Assuring that the Capital Improvement Budget process rolls out in a new and improved way this year will signal the end of a project that's been on my list for six years.

I can offer stability and continuity to the Ward 4 office and the Council during this time of transition — both with Russ' departure and with the new Mayor's administration. The relationships I have with constituents, District Councils, businesses, City staff, and developers are assets, as is my knowledge not only of City processes and procedures, but of where Ward 4 and City issues stand at this moment in time. My knowledge of specific constituent issues in the Ward can serve as a bridge between Russ' tenure and that of the next elected Councilmember. I also take a big-picture, Citywide view of the work even though I would be the Ward 4 Councilmember; I'm committed to the City's racial equity work and a data-driven approach to distributing resources and City services, versus responding to the loudest people in the room. I know that the role of legislative aide and Councilmember are different, so I also trust that I could rely on all of you for guidance when necessary. I appreciate your consideration of my application, and look forward to further conversation.

All best,
Samantha

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Legislative Aide to Saint Paul Ward 4 City Councilmember Russ Stark (2008 – Present)

- Manage the Ward 4 City Council office's operations: work flow, constituent relations, communications, project and policy development.
- Served as a liaison between Council President Stark and other Council offices and staff to ensure Council meetings and operations functioned smoothly [2015-2017].
- Work in a nimble fashion: able to juggle multiple projects as assigned by Councilmember Stark, initiatives of my own interest, as well as constituent affairs and Council agenda items.
- Develop and maintain positive relationships with constituents, non-profit and private-sector stakeholders, and City colleagues to ensure progress on many Ward 4 and City policies and projects.
- Secured grant funding for the Green Line Transit Oriented Development Manager and Pedestrian Safety Advocate positions, as well as for consultant support to develop the Saint Paul Safe Routes to School (SRTS) Policy Plan and several individual school-specific SRTS plans.
- Serve as a navigator for constituents, organizations, and businesses on how to best work with the City and on how to utilize the City as a partner on projects or policies.
- Collaborate with outside agencies and entities including state agencies, Metropolitan Council, Ramsey County, the City of Minneapolis, and the Saint Paul Port Authority.

Hancock Elementary-Hamline University Collaboration Coordinator (2004 – 2007)

- Coordinated program pairings between University academic departments and elementary grade levels.
- Identified need for, secured approval for, co-researched and developed a race/culture awareness curriculum for college students who tutored at the elementary school.
- Organized civic education opportunities and service-learning trips for college students.

SKILLS PROFILE

- Communications. Exemplary written and verbal communication skills. Facility with both formal and informal communication styles. Confident grant writer, media liaison, conflict manager.
- Research: Comfortable seeking quantitative and qualitative answers to questions related to both discrete projects and broad policy goals.
- Work Style: Strong self-directed work style. Equally comfortable taking direction, working collaboratively toward common goals, or working through difference toward a suitable outcome for various parties.
- Technical Expertise: Experienced using social media and online software platforms to deliver messages digitally to constituents and other interested parties.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

- Saint Paul Women on Bikes, Co-Founder, 2012
 - Identified the need for a more positive and proactive bike advocacy presence in Saint Paul to help the City reach its potential as a place where residents and employees have more than one safe transportation option.
 - Collaborated with co-founders to create structure and secure funding to make Women on Bikes a reality.
- Leadership Saint Paul, Class of 2013

COMMITTEES

- West Summit Neighborhood Advisory Committee (University of Saint Thomas/neighborhood committee)
- Hamline University Neighborhood Advisory Committee
- Saint Paul Safe Routes to School Steering Committee

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

- Attended many national conferences, including Smart Growth America, Railvolution, and Vision Zero (zero traffic fatalities).
