LEGISLATIVE HEARING DISCUSSION ITEM

- 31 RLH VO 23-19 Appeal of Christina Harding on behalf of Lynn Huynh to a Revocation of Fire Certificate of Occupancy and Order to Vacate at 1146 EDGERTON STREET. (public hearing closed and laid over from May 17, 2023)

Laid over for 3 weeks to then consider a June 30 deadline.

Also in attendance: Christina Harding, appellant

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This revocation is for long-term noncompliance with orders. Originally, there was a complaint in December, presumably by the tenants because it was interior conditions being complained about. The orders were written and there was some follow-up. Because it had been 6 years since the property had gone through a full certificate of occupancy inspection, an inspection was triggered by this process. It was a "Class A", the complaint came in and orders were written, then a full inspection was done and a full set of orders were written. The orders from the December complaint were mostly carried forward into the full set of orders, which is part of why the FCO is being revoked for long-term noncompliance. In the hearing, the property manager indicated that there were problems with the tenants, and that the problems were tenant-generated. When reviewing the orders, some seem tenant related while others appear to be deferred maintenance issues. I asked for a work plan to address the items. The manager said she needed 60 days to do the work, and I asked what her plan was to get there. That was on April 25. She then said she could have it done in 2 weeks. I said no, and that I didn't want to set her up for failure. I just wanted a work plan. We had a hearing the following week where a bid was mailed in at the exact time of the hearing. The bid didn't include the dates for doing the work and didn't address all of the items in the orders. It was specifically for the back of the building. It was not a work plan. My recommendation is that the work be completed by June 1. The appellant asked to have that extended to June 30. There still isn't a plan associated with that. There is also a statement in the written appeal that there had been an application for a permit to do the work. The biggest part for what needs the permit is the extension on the back of the building with the porch on the bottom and the room on the top. It has separated from the main structure and is unsound. The orders said that a structural engineer needed to look at it. That would be required to come into code compliance through fixing it. The appellant suggested removing that part of the building, which is also an option. That second option was what the bid was related to. I don't have any dates that go with that to say that will happen by June 30, which is my concern. One unit was described as occupied and the other had the tenants evicted after being a long-term problem. The landlord in California and the property manager have been struggling with this building, and are both looking forward to moving on. The property manager, Christina Harding, is on the line.

Council President Brendmoen: So the owner is in California, and the property manager is local?

Moermond: Correct.

Harding: Everything Moermond said is correct. The tenants were an ongoing problem, and in retaliation for the eviction they destroyed the unit and then called the City to complain. Once I got them out, that was when we were first ordered to comply with the fire inspection, and that was the day where we had sheriff lockout. Then they gave me 3 months and I had no luck trying to find a maintenance person who would do a small amount of work for the interior. I had a guy that was supposed to show up 3 times and never did, and so on. The fire inspector then brought in their supervisor and did a full inspection, which I am not in agreement with because no one went into the lower unit, which would have been included in a full fire inspection. Regardless, I am asking for until June 30. Right now, my contractor pulled a permit on May 5 and the City said they are working on permits from May 2 right now, so we still don't have a permit in hand. I don't know when the permit will come in. The dumpster was delivered today. The contractor wants to start work tomorrow morning and was prepared Monday morning, and then we only need 2 weeks.

Councilmember Yang moved to close the public hearing. Approved 7-0.

Brendmoen: Moermond, did you have something to add?

Moermond: Yes. I did follow up with the Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI) to find out if there was a delay. They said no permit has been loaded into the system, meaning no one has walked in with a permit application. They searched the computer system for a permit application for this address, for each of the contractor names, the property manager's name, and the owner's name, and there was nothing. Currently they are processing applications for May 8 moving forward, which would be after the May 5 date indicated by the appellant. I wonder if there may be a miscommunication between the manager and the contractor about the permit application. Something isn't lining up.

Yang: If we stuck to the June 1 deadline, but the appellant makes progress and still needs more time, is there anything we can do to grant an extension?

Moermond: My concern in cases like this is the displacement of tenants, and balancing that with housing conditions. The biggest problem is the structural problem. It is in your interest to continue the conversation, but at the same time we need some deadlines. Perhaps a 2-week layover would give a small extension to come back with a plan and documents from the contractor showing when work will happen, indication of payments to the contractor, or a permit application. We need something to hang our hat on. We don't want to move forward without anything substantive. We don't have a meeting in 2 weeks so the first Wednesday in June would be when you would lay this over to. That is a effectively an extension to allow you to consider the June 30 deadline.

Yang: In that case, I move to lay this over for 3 weeks.

Brendmoen: I support that. I like the idea that it's an opportunity to come up with a real plan. This is a good medium that we've reached. I also want to add that this street is a beautiful wide street that was once a hilltop neighborhood. As Payne Avenue has revitalized and other investments have been made, we can really feel more care and attention going into that area. I'm looking forward to some of these houses getting spruced up. Those houses matter. Lots of trees have come down so those houses are front and center.
