The D.S.I. inspector, Kristina Schweinler, has informed us in email and verbally, that we may not have liquor at informal social church functions without a temporary liquor license, due to her designating it a "public space". The liquor is not sold, it is owned by the member and no monetary transaction takes place. We disagree that a church is a public space and appeal that policy.

There should be no service, consumption or display of any liq. without a license.

Thanks Kristina.

My question still is not answered.

IF a church group, who meets here monthly, without any charge, has members who bring liquor to the meeting
– what do we do about that as it relates to a license.
