Mai,

Here are all the issues that delay processes.

With HPC - Get the right colors for siding and trim that George is ok
- get the right windows, which the bottom bar of the window need to be bigger than other bar.

With general contractor - take him to come back to measure and double check to see what the house need since different materials.

Ruby,

I went by this morning and looked at the work. Siding looks great-you can continue.

Egress window has a diamond grill pattern on the top sash that will need to be removed. Other than that, this window is acceptable. There are two ways to remove the grid; Remove the sash, pop off the glass by removing the glazing and cut the grill off the frame and return the glass to the frame (easiest) or carefully cut (by hand) the grill off of the frame- this could result in broken glass.

Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks
