CP Noecker,

In follow-up to your procedural question about an Appeal of a Zoning Administrator's Statement of Clarification (which is the basis of the 560 Randolph Council Agenda item):

- If the Council denies the appeal, the Zoning Administrator's Statement of Clarification determination would be affirmed.
 - The processing of the associated Site Plan Review application would continue.
 - The appellants would have the right to appeal the Council's decision to District Council, which could impact the processing of the associated Site Plan Review application.
- If the Council approves the appeal, the Zoning Administrator's Statement of Clarification determination would be overturned.
 - The associated Site Plan Review application would be recommended for denial.
 - The applicant would have the right to appeal the Council's decision to District Court, which could impact the processing of the associated Site Plan Review application.
 - The Zoning Administrator will utilize the robust reasoning of the Council action to understand and ensure future actions take into account the error in the analysis or process.
 - The applicant could request another Statement of Clarification based on permitted uses in I1 that they believe are similar to what they are proposing for 560 Randolph.
 - If an approved zoning use is obtained, the applicant could submit a new Site Plan Review application.
- If the Council takes no action, the zoning clock for the application will continue until the clock runs out. In this case, the Zoning Administrator's determination would be affirmed.
 - The processing of the associated Site Plan Review application would continue.

Please let me know if there are additional questions.

Thanks!! Dan
