Mr. Diatta,

After discussion with you on Tuesday, I had the chance to do a deeper dive into my property layout (plus do some measurements) to come up with a way that complies with the city code. Our current parking area is 18 x 35 or 630 sf. I propose a driveway/parking pad which is 9 x 30 or 270 sf which brings us to the limit of 1000sf. The driveway/parking pad will be composed of open cell pavers which help preserve the aesthetics of our yard. The paver approach also allows us to re-configure the parking area in the future if needed.

Attached is a copy of the site plan I put together.

Do you concur with this approach?

Regards,

Quintin
