

(a) In the event a wind chill advisory is issued by the National Weather Service, a facility may provide up to ten (10) beds for overnight use during the declared advisory for individuals referred by other overnight shelters or government agencies; the facility must be staffed while being used overnight for this purpose. Otherwise, beds are only permitted for daytime use, and overnight shelter is not permitted.