What legal rights do immigrants have?

You have rights under the U.S. Constitution regardless of immigration status:

- You have the right to remain silent.
- You have the right to speak to a lawyer.
- Unless an ICE agent has a warrant signed by a judge, you have the right to refuse his or her entry to your home.
- You have the right to refuse a search of your belongings.
- You have the right to decline to sign any documents without speaking to a lawyer first.

What is St. Paul's separation ordinance and how does it apply?

- The City of Saint Paul adopted a separation ordinance in April of 2004. (SPLC Ch. 44)
- The City of Saint Paul's separation ordinance states no city employee will ever take on the role of enforcing federal immigration policy and will not ask for immigration documentation or status in exchange for city services.

“Our city workers fight fires, investigate crimes, fill potholes, and provide safe spaces for youth with no regard to citizenship status. We’ve never had a role in enforcing federal immigration laws, nor asked for papers as a condition to receive city services, and we never will.”
- St. Paul Mayor Melvin Carter
