Hi Marcia,

This is Jonathan Perez from 272 congress following up about the truck. I got a hold of Jeff fischbach regarding the requirements of the home occupation but he pretty much said for that I can't have a home business and the home business truck there at the house. He then referred me to David Eide in the zoning department and we concluded that if I could raise the roof to fit the truck in the garage it shouldn't be a problem to store it there as long as it fits. He then referred me to someone for the garage plans

In conclusion I can technically have my truck in the garage as long as I can tie it with a company that is not my house just for storing purposes with the exception that I need to raise my roof or add an addition.

I know something like that will take a while to build therefore I think it would be better for me to move it in the meantime till I could get the work all done to the garage

I'm just asking from you some time to get my brake drums and fix and some minor mechanical work done so I can move to the correct zoning until I add to the garage

What ever time you can give me would be much appreciated thank you very much

Jonathan Perez
