Subject: 314 Chester St Appeal

Mai,

Hi, I'm just looking to follow up on an appeal for 314 Chester St. This is a warehouse suite that was being converted to a church. They had appealed a revocation order and were given an extension through the end of December to continue to occupy the church while they completed repairs and got their building permits approved.

I've spoke to the manager and it looks like things are in progress here but have not been approved yet. The contractor insists that the hold-up was due to waiting for the plumbing inspector to make it out to the building on a plumbing permit. They expect to have the work done quickly but I've told them that due to the appeal decision, I would not be able to allow them to continue the church services until after they have the permits approved.

They are requesting a few additional weeks to continue their services while finishing up the work. I think this sounds reasonable but because of the appeal deadline already set, it would need to be ok'd by Marcia Moermond to consider any additional extensions.

Thanks for looking into this,

Mitch
