Firefighters extinguished the fire, checked for extension and conducted overhaul. Investigation found numerous cigarette butts in the area around the dumpster. The dumpster contained clothes, paper and a discarded charcoal grill. Review of security video footage shows and individual discard items into the dumpster and what appears to be a cigarette, 25 minutes prior to the fire. The point of origin was the interior back right corner. The ignition source was ash or embers from a discarded cigarette. The first fuel ignited was most likely paper. The action that brought these items together was an improperly discarded cigarette. The classification of fire cause is accidental. *see document tab

Complainant works with buffet serving, & told staff that food should be kept at 150F. Staff didn't seem to understand. Complainants' partys' plates were taken & microwaved, but they only had one plateful because they did not dare take any more cold food. Then the staff came out & dumped more new food on top of the cold & mixed it all together. Complainant very concerned about possible bacteria. The takeout food WAS hot, cooked to order.KKO .
