Mr. Hanson, Planning and Economic Development, gave a staff report. There are two similar resolutions for biking facilities. He will quickly summarize the process. Segments of Western and Oakdale are scheduled to be resurfaced in 2016. For any resurfacing, Public Works asks is this the right time to implement bike facilities, and City staff thinks it is. The intent of these projects is to improve safety for biking, walking, driving. For both projects, there was a similar outreach process: they sent two mailings to properties within 250 feet, 369 addresses for Western and 438 for Oakdale. They held open houses and receive feedback. They have project websites so people can learn about these projects. For Western Avenue, PED is planning a street resurfacing. The bike plan recommends in-street bicycle lanes. City staff is also proposing to use the 8-80 vitality fund to eliminate a potential gap in bicycling facilities. They are proposing to remove parking on the west side of Western Avenue. Parking data suggests that parking capacity on Western and nearby side streets will be sufficient. Additionally, there is a parking ban on one side of the street for sanitation. Staff limited the parking ban to only Monday and Tuesday within the project limits. As of August 31, they received 6 comments from open house and 2 from Open St. Paul. All were in support of implementing bike facilities. Staff recommendation is to go forward.

Councilmember Brendmoen asked why it is not extending the infrastructure to Maryland. Hanson responded they are operating in the boundaries of the overlay. There are existing facilities there.

Brendmoen said it would be good to connect it to the North End.

 RES PH 15-265 - Letter from Carol Neumann

Mr. Hanson said Public Works is planning streetscaping on Oakdale Avenue. Staff is recommending we install bike lanes. City staff is proposing using 8-80 north on State Street. Parking removal was initially identified to the west side of Oakdale. After reviewing the conditions, City staff will remove parking from Oakdale. They are proposing east side parking removal tonight. As of 8-31, the comments were 14 from Oakdale open house, 4 statements from City staff, and 6 statements on Open St. Paul. The majority were okay with parking lanes but concerned with parking. Staff recommends the biking lanes.

Unknown female said she lived on Oakdale Avenue for 39 years. She decided to live in the inner city. They should be able to park in front of their own homes. There is probably nothing she can do about it. The bike plan is part of the problem. Oakdale is the wrong street for the bike route. (She explained the problem with Oakdale having a bike plan.) What really bothers her is she will be losing her parking spaces. Her next door neighbor has scerosis. Someone across the street has a terminal illness and they use their front a lot. There is one driveway. There are 16 homes. She doesn't know why people want to park on the side street. They want their car in front of their house. She doesn't think the bikes will use the hill. There is a problem where people can park on a snow emergency. She is not an anti-bike person, but she is fed up with the way bikes treat people who drive. She has suggestions and remarks. She would like to see things the bikes could participate in, such as lights, vests.

Unknown male said he read the report on biking. His problem is bicycling. If there is an accident, he asked what is the responsibility of the bicyclist. On his street, there is a 38% incline. Very few bikers have the capability of riding on a daily basis. They don't have the parking in snow emergency. Oakdale Avenue is difficult in the winter. He supports biking. Oakdale Avenue is a bike path to nowhere. (He submitted comments.)

Ron Johnson, 726 Oakdale Avenue, said they do not have adequate parking for the apartment complex. If you take half of that away, he asked where are people going to park. He asked why should he plow and take care of property that he cannot use. If they can't see a big red truck, they are not going to see a bike.

(Next, those in support)

Monica Bryand, 122 Winifred, grew up on the West Side. As a kid, she biked Oakdale. She bikes year round. She does go up and down hills. She is not a biker for biking sake. She bikes home and work. She likes the infrastructure in Minneapolis. She works in Saint Paul. She is looking forward to the connected infrastructure. It is an environmental justice issue, economic justice issue. The safer we can make these cities, the better and the more people will get out.

Deborah Schlick, 197 Prescott, stated she bikes since 1990. She bikes Oakdale frequently. She goes up Oakdale, which is a steep hill. The main trade area is Robert Street. Oakdale widens in West St. Paul. She uses that for recreational biking on the weekends. She is looking forward to a bike path.

*Thune moved to close the public hearing.

Thune moved approval and said it is the way to go.

Council President Stark said he supports the motion. They have to continue these processes. When you put bike lanes on the street, it makes things safe for anyone else. If it isn't there today, doesn't mean people won't use it in the future.

Yaya Diatti, Department of Safety and Inspection, reported and showed a map. The property is 1916 Fairmount Avenue. It is owned by Inga Oelschlager and the appellant is Daniel Thees, neighbor immediately to the east. This entire property is owned by Inga. The applicant intends to split the lot and create a vacant lot that would be used to build a single family dwelling for her family and she intends to sell this parcel where the house is located. The existing house has a sun porch on the east side. The applicant is proposing to have a subdividing line to have a 6 foot setback. The lot width is 50 feet. The applicant has the 50 foot setback in the front, the 50 foot width along the alley. There is a garage. (He explained the map.) The yard creates about 50 feet of lot width. She is proposing a 41 foot in the middle. The BZA (Board of Zoning Appeals) granted the variance. The neighbor to the east is appealing because it does not fit the neighborhood because all the lots have a straight line from the front to the back alley. Also, the appellant says it is driven by financial reasons. Clearly one of the findings is that financial reasons cannot be the reason for granting the variance.

Councilmember Tolbert asked the staff recommendation. Diatta responded denial.

Councilmember Stark asked what is on the parcel that they want to split off. Diatta said there is a swimming pool there right now.

Kathy and Dan Thees, 1906 Fairmount, said they lived there for 34 years. They filed an appeal. It is not about the house being built. The appeal is about the nonconforming lot line granted by the Zoning Board. The staff stated that Findings 3 and 6 were not met. They recommend denial. Criteria 3 is about practical difficulties and economic situations alone do not constitute. (Cathy Pace read from several sources, including the BZA minutes to support her position.) One of the options was to remove the sunroom. Removing the sun room would remove the need for the variance. After the tie vote, one board member drove by the property to better understand and she voted against the variance. Cathy believes the zoning board failed to look at the long term consequences of approving this. All of them in the community are straight lot lines. She asked the Council to listen to the neighborhood and uphold the zoning laws and to vote no to this variance.

Jan Ballman, life long resident of St. Paul, 1908 Goodrich Avenue, owns a business, father was a police officer, said the City is stepping over the line and inviting flood gates of variances. There is a tremendous amount of anxiety over the precedence this is setting. The documentation speaks for itself. The variance does not meet the criteria. When you do something for the first time, it is a precedent. She agrees with a lot of folks' concerns.

Jim Dickinson, neighbor from the proposed variance, said he is in favor of the appellant and supports not granting this variance. He submitted comments to Diatti via e-mail.

(next, those in opposition)

Inga Oelschlager, owner of 1916 Fairmount Avenue, said some of the neighborhood is opposed to any new construction on the empty lot she owns. The property originally was two separate lots. The majority of the lots in Ward 3 are single lots.

They have 67 pages of documentation from the BZA hearings. They had an extensive discussion on the merits of preserving the historic house she owns. What she proposes will change the character of the block less than if she tears down part of the existing building. She is trying to prevent a tear down of the existing house. She is building a house she needs for her family and preserving the character of the existing structure. She would like to pass around some materials. What she is building is significantly less. It is back from the street further. It is fitting the character of the block better. What she is proposing is a smaller portion. By removing the variance, the restrictions are removed. She could potentially do a building that is 38 feet wide. That would be less beneficial to the block than what she is proposing. Granted, any new construction and any change on the block would alter its character in some way. Met Council is in favor of urban infill. This makes our cities livable and desirable. The variance removed constraints.

(Gave materials to Trudy.)

Steve Busse, 1862 James Avenue, said the houses being built look like the blue box. (He wanted a picture put back up) The variance is conditional on the design of the house. Zoning Board said they don't set precedence. The variance is conditional on the design of the house. A builder is not going to slap a house up if they have to go through that process. The community gets involved and you get to see what the house looks like. Two blocks down, there is a property that fits in, but it is twice the size of anything around it. What she proposes is going to add to the character and not take away from it. They would be in favor of jogging the lot line. There should not be a precedent just willy nilly. There has to be a reason to do it. If the reason gets a better house built on that site maybe that's a good way to look at it. Tolbert moved to close the public hearing.

7 in favor, none opposed

Tolbert said the initial staff report was correct. Two of the 6 findings were not met. Findings were 3 and 6. He will grant the appeal to deny the variance.

Tolbert moved to grant the appeal based on Findings 3 and 6 and the entire staff report.

Legislative Hearing 9-8-15; City Council public hearing 10-7-15

Marcia Moermond said this was a no show. The items required have not been addressed. Taxes are due and owing. Code compliance inspection has not been done. Bond not posted. Property appears to be maintained. To fix it would cost over $100,000. She will bring up photos later.

Bruce Olstad appeared and said he was sick in the hospital. He has done what was asked. The house is not vacant. It has been lived in since 1995.

Moermond said the house seems to be incomplete.

Councilmember Stark said to go back over what is expected. Moermond responded there are a number of things the Council looks for: taxes up to date, bond posted, code compliance inspection on this building, work plan with bids, available financing to do the project. There was a summary abatement. The project was ongoing for some time.

Stark said those are the items that should be brought to the table. He asked does the owner have plans or want more time to do those things. Olstad responded he would like to finish it.

Councilmember Brendmoen said she is aware of this property. She has seen major improvements on the site. She recommends it go back to Legislative Hearing and Moermond can come back with an informed recommendation.

Moermond said she would ask the Council to refer it back to Legislative Hearing on September 8 and City Council on October 7.

Jim Burton, friend of owner, 646 Blair Avenue, said the owner is having a hard time living, let alone trying to build the house. Some of the situation is that someone comes in and red tags places.

Moermond and Brendmoen asked would Burton come to the Legislative Hearing. Burton responded he will come in the owner's place.

Brendmoen moved to lay this over to the September 8 Legislative Hearing and back to City Council on October 7.

Council Meeting Information

The City Council is paperless which saves the environment and reduces expenses.

The agendas and Council files are all available on the Web (see below).

Councilmembers use iPads to review the files during the meeting. Using the iPad greatly reduces costs since most agendas, including the documents attached to files, are over 1000 pages when printed.

Web

Meetings are available on the Council's website. Email notification and web feeds (RSS) of newly released Minutes, Agendas and Meetings are available by subscription.

Please visit www.stpaul.gov/council for meeting videos and updated copies of the Agendas, Minutes and supporting documents.

Cable

Meetings are live on St Paul Channel 18 and replayed on: Thursdays at 5:30 p.m., Saturdays at 12:30 p.m., and Sundays at 1:00 p.m. (Subject to change)
