LEGISLATIVE HEARING DISCUSSION ITEMS

- 41 RLH TA 24-21 Ratifying the Appealed Special Tax Assessment for property at 1540 MINNEHAHA AVENUE EAST. (File No. VB2402, Assessment No. 248801)

Public hearing closed and laid over for two weeks.

Also in attendance: Jason Lindsey, co-owner

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This is a Vacant Building Fee assessment for $5,075, covering a time period of June 2023 through June 2024. We are currently about 7.5 months into that billable time period. It's my practice not to recommend that a fee be prorated after it's been in the program for more than six months. It's likely to be there a little bit longer. This is a higher level fee because it is the second year that this Category 2 property has been in the Vacant Building Program. It entered as a Category 2 following its condemnation as unfit for human habitation. There was an absent toilet, standing water in the basement, and a foul smell reported by the inspector. The landlord at that time reported that he would be relocating the tenants. The owner of the property then is the same as the owner of the property now, LLSP Single Family Portfolio LLC. It was represented in the Legislative Hearing by Lee Yan. That LLC acquired this property, along with some others, in January 2021, one year before the condemnation occurred, almost.

One year ago there was an application for a Code Compliance Inspection Report (CCIR). The inspectors arrived and found that the lock box combination did not work. Someone named Steven from the company had applied for the CCIR on behalf of the owner, saying he would let inspectors know when they could get in. There was no communication back to the Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI). In June of 2023, five months later, DSI reached out to the applicant, Bonnie, at the company in question, GIRG. The e-mail bounced back as undeliverable. We learned in the process of the Legislative Hearing that GIRG had ghosted the owner and obviously not followed through on being present for this inspection either. When this information came to light, the owner did get that CCIR scheduled and it was conducted. The CCIR was issued. The first permit was pulled at the end of September. A couple more were pulled in December and another in January. The actual building permit has not been pulled, so I don't think it's likely that they're going to be done in the very near future. I am recommending that this be made payable over five years, per the request of the ownership group, but I am recommending that this be approved as written. I think the higher vacant building fee for Category 2 properties exists to address this kind of situation.

Councilmember Noecker: I know we sometimes allow payments to be made payable over five years when there's a financial hardship. This sounds like an LLC with a number of properties. What's the reason for granting a request for payment over time?

Moermond: I think that this LLC is in financial difficulty, from what I was able to determine by reviewing Ramsey County taxation records. This property and nine others were purchased on a contract for deed from a landlord who owns a number of properties and seems to be backing out of the business. The acquisition price for those was something like $1.6 million. That's a lot of properties to be turning around if you don't necessarily have your ducks in a row. The City's interest rate that it charges is the same as the bond rate, so the taxpayer is not experiencing any additional costs related to spreading the payment out.

Councilmember Johnson: The owner previously mentioned coming back to you with the potential update from the new contractor on a timeline or just touching base with you. Have you been able to get in contact with them since?

Moermond: I have not had subsequent conversations with the ownership group. I was able to review the permit status. It's evident that they have their CCIR and that permits have started to be pulled. One is finalized, one is inspected, the other couple are active. One still needs to be pulled. There's progress happening, which is what I look for. This is a June vacant building anniversary date. If it's done by June, there is no fee after that, and it's out of the program.

Johnson: It's quite evident that it's a rental property and an investment property.

Moermond: Historically, it has been. It was sold with a cluster of rental properties, yes.

Council President Jalali opened the public hearing.

Jason Lindsey: My name is Jason Lindsey and I'm one of the owners of this portfolio. I live in Ham Lake. I don't have all the documentation in front of me, but we actually just acquired this portfolio in January 2023. The previous owner who we took it over from was in financial distress, lost all his money. There were 2 owners, and one of them made it very hard to get paperwork, which is why it took us so long to get the CCIR. I just received it. We actually have passed all three of our mechanical inspections as of today: plumbing, heating and electrical. We just started working on it. I took it over in December. Communication has been very hard because the guy who had the original paperwork from this company was very uncooperative in getting us the correct info. He wouldn't change the address over, so we weren't getting the code compliance notices, is what I've heard. I've worked as hard as I can since December. I'm hopeful that we can have it ready soon, though probably not by February 1 because we have to wait for inspections. All the rough-ins have been passed. So we just have to fix everything up on the inside. I don't know if there are any other permits that have to be pulled.

Moermond: The building permit.

Lindsey: I'll look into that. I would like to take this money and put it back into our other properties. We've had several neighbors come up and thank us for taking these over and making them livable, because the tenants were not good neighbors and the houses have been in distress for a while. We're three people, all local. We're first time investment buyers and we'd like to make these into nice properties. Did you have any questions for me?

Jalali: Do you have an ask today? We're being asked to approve a recommendation from Moermond. Do you want something besides the payment being spread over 5 years?

Lindsey: Some of the fees that are being assessed for being vacant were from before we even had the property. We were not in control when the people moved out. We just took it over in January of last year. We're just coming into it. And I would ask for a little bit of leniency with the fees, so we can put that money back into our properties.

Johnson: Thank you for being here. I'm the councilmember for this part of the City, Ward 7.

Lindsey: I didn't know that. Thank you for telling me.

Johnson: Are you a co-owner with Lee Yan, who appeared in the Legislative Hearing?

Lindsey: Yes, along with Lee Yan.

Johnson: Do you have any sort of concern with Moermond's recommendation? Mr. Yan didn't seem to have a question about it, if it was payable over five years.

Lindsey: I think he was kind of coming into this not knowing anything. That's why I'm here. He's more financial. I have a construction background. I'm trying to help out with anything that I can. I don't know this arena very well, so I'm doing the best I can. The less we have to pay in taxes or assessments, the more we can put into our properties sooner.

Johnson: Given the update that you have on the property, do you anticipate going beyond June of 2024?

Lindsey: No. This is about a financial burden for us sitting vacant too. This was a huge struggle for us, not being able to get the paperwork for so long. We didn't know about the lockbox issue because the paperwork was going to the wrong place, to the previous owner, so we couldn't even get the paperwork to figure out what was going on with getting the CCIR.

Johnson moved to close the public hearing. Approved 7-0.

Jalali: Could you summarize your recommendation again, Moermond?

Moermond: My recommendation for this second year vacant building assessment on a Category 2 vacant building is it's ratification, and for it to be made payable over five years.

Johnson: I just want to clarify that the amount that is currently being assessed would have been during the time frame in which they owned it, that they're not back paying from before they bought it.

Moermond: All assessments go with the property, not with the person. They wouldn't be billed to a prior owner. We wouldn't be tracking somebody down for these payments. With respect to the ownership, I did just double check that and there is a registered contract for deed from June 2021. There is no subsequent registration of a contract for deed in the Ramsey County system.

Johnson: It's the five year payable time for me. Are there alternatives to that?

Moermond: It could be made payable over fewer years or not made payable over time at all. It would show up on the 2025 property tax statement, half for the first half and half for the second-half. It would have accrued interest from about six weeks from the time the Council ratifies it to that point.

Johnson: So, the financial straits are with this group of LLCs that currently owns it?

Moermond: In the Legislative Hearing, we discussed the payment over five years, and if that would be helpful. Mr. Young indicated that he wanted to consult with his ownership partners before coming to a conclusion on that. We sent a confirmation e-mail afterward, asking if he had consulted them. We heard back, and they asked to spread out the payment.

Johnson: Okay. I didn't hear that today from Mr. Lindsey. I'm just not quite sure what to do with that since there are multiple owners. I might move to amend your recommendation to not make it payable over five years.

Moermond: I will modify the resolution accordingly.

Jalali: Any discussion on that motion?

Councilmember Bowie: Was your motion to increase or decrease the fee?

Johnson: It only adjusts the payment time frame to remove payments being spread over 5 years. I didn't hear that ask today from Mr. Lindsey, so I'm not sure if we can really go off of that, being that there are several owners.

Bowie: Moermond, since there are three owners, which owner is billed? I know you said it's based off of the property not the owner, so I'm just wondering who would be responsible for paying this bill.

Moermond: The tax owner of record with Ramsey County is LLSP Single Family Portfolio LLC, that appears to have sold their contract for deed interest to this current corporation, GIRG, which is owned by Young, Lindsey, and Yan. Who would be responsible for paying it? I can't say. The bill will be mailed. If the bill goes unpaid, the county and the state have ways of collecting that money.

Noecker: The current owners took ownership in January 2023 or January 2024?

Moermond: January of 2023, from what I'm hearing, which means a year has passed since the ownership interest was acquired and that is not registered with Ramsey County.

Noecker: It sounds like they had this property for six-seven months of ownership before this fee even started. There's been plenty of time for that work to get done while the current ownership was in place. I understand the frustrations that were expressed in terms of the previous owner, but I also know that when you purchase a building, that is sometimes the cost of doing business. The responsibility is not with the City, but rather with the owner to figure out those communication issues. I support the recommendation. I heard today a request for a reduction in the amount, and not anything to do with making it payable over time. I support the amount and I support it all being due now. We have these fees so that we can get buildings back into service quickly. That is a public benefit that we shouldn't do away with unless there are extreme circumstances.

Jalali: Johnson, do you have adjustments to your motion or thoughts?

Johnson: I have a slew of questions but...

Jalali: This could potentially be laid over. Moermond, is this urgent?

Moermond: You can always lay the matter over to the next meeting. The public hearing is closed. It would show up as a discussion item.

Jalali: Would you prefer that, Johnson?

Johnson: Being that your recommendation for the amount of time is based off of the financial strains of the LLC, I find it very important to make sure that we have a clear understanding of that with all three owners. We've talked to two directly, but to be able to have staff clarification on it would be helpful.

Moermond: A layover would take this to February 7, since you don't meet next week. With respect to contacting the membership of an LLC, that is almost an impossible ask for staff. The Minnesota Secretary of State will require that there's a contact person for an LLC, but diving deeper into who is actually in that LLC as a financial member and trying to contact them is almost impossible. I know now of two people who have indicated they have an interest. There might be a third. By the time we have this conversation next week, it could be one or it could be 10. That is what an LLC does. I am not a corporate lawyer. I'll turn to Mr. Warner.

Peter Warner, I think a 2 week layover is appropriate, so that Johnson can assess and perhaps talk with staff about the intricacies of the owner and his team. You could act today, but a layover would certainly be reasonable.

Jalali: Nothing wrong with more time. Is that amenable to you, Johnson?

Johnson: Yes.

Jalali: We'll move that in a moment. I appreciate the points made by Noecker about where the responsibility lies in situations like these. It is important, for sake of managing the business of the City, that we have a clear point of contact so that we can do the work that we need to do. We want to support property owners in making investments in the property. To do that, we need responsiveness. We need a clear point of contact and we need the work to happen on the time that we request. I will also make the point, and I believe Moermond said this, that you inherit a property's assessments when you purchase it. I know that news can be hard to take, but it doesn't actually change the reality under the law.

Councilmember Kim: I support a layover. Contract for deeds are very finicky. They require the buyer to file them and it's a buyer beware kind of situation. I can sympathize for not understanding that you take on the assessments in situations like this, and that logistical issue is something my office is interested in looking at in ordinance.

Johnson moved to lay over for two weeks.

Council Meeting Information

The City Council is paperless which saves the environment and reduces expenses. The agendas and Council files are all available on the Web (see below). Council members use mobile devices to review the files during the meeting. Using a mobile device greatly reduces costs since most agendas, including the documents attached to files, are over 1000 pages when printed.

Web

Meetings are available on the Council's website. Email notification and web feeds (RSS) of newly released minutes, agendas, and meetings are available by subscription. Visit www.stpaul.gov/council for meeting videos and updated copies of the agendas, minutes, and supporting documents.

Cable

Meetings are live on St Paul Channel 18 and replayed at various times. Check your local listings.
