

Why do some people say “hedonism”
like it’s a BAD thing?

Join Us for a Bacchanal of New Year’s Opulence, Decadence and Downright Naughtiness:

New Year’s Eve • 8:00 p.m. – 1:00 a.m.

The Dearing Mansion (now the home of Scott and [REDACTED])

241 West George Street • St. Paul

About The House:

The Dearing Mansion is located at 241 West George Street, just 3 blocks east of Smith Avenue across St. Paul's High Bridge. This lovely 1880s home was designed by Augustus Gauger, and it will be the perfect setting for a Bacchanal New Year.

About the Party:

The evening will offer many opportunities to celebrate the New Year in an opulent fashion. The house has nine unique fireplaces, and one will be dedicated to burning written testaments of what you'd like to leave behind in 2006, and another will be for sending up a special request to the gods for 2007.

_____ dancing with abandon and writing scandalous resolutions (for yourself and others) will all be encouraged.

Bring your idea of fabulously decadent food and a bottle of something lovely to share. You are also welcome to bring your most fascinating friends if you ask your hostess.

RSVP to the individual who sent you the invitation _____

_____. Questions can be directed to the same source.

Phone number for the evening is _____ and parking is available next door in the church parking lot.

We hope to see you in St. Paul for a Bacchanal New Year's celebration...
