5/16/2019 11:33 PM		It does not make any sense to enter into agreements regarding the garbage program until the court has ruled AND adjustments have been made to the program implementation that more responsibly respond to the very valid concerns that have been raised to allow for neighbor-sharing and opt-outs, etc., and refund those that never had trash bins and did not ask for or use service. Hopefully the Council has learned it's lesson not to enter into long-term agreements related to new programs without allowing for ample flexibility in the agreements to make adjustments for evaluative learning and input.	+5 1
