- Assessment ratified as no progress had been made since the March public hearing.*
- Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This was laid over one month ago. The appellant had been asking for the assessment to be deleted or reduced because he had ordered the code compliance inspection report. The Council considered this matter and noted that it continued to be a registered vacant building, although it did have the inspection report. I believe the Council wanted to consider any progress made between the public hearing in March and now. No permits have been pulled for any work so I would report that no progress has been made towards rehabilitation since the March public hearing.*
- Councilmember Balenger: If the work hasn't been done, fine is same.*

Council President Brendmoen: So you would move the recommendation of the Hearing Officer?

37 RLH VO 23-15

Appeal of Herbert Darnell Steele to an Emergency Condemnation and Order to Vacate at 1319-1321 DAYTON AVENUE.

Appeal denied.

Also in attendance: Herbert Darnell Steele, appellant

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: Council president, this is a condemnation that was issued on April 5th of this year with an effective date of April 7th to vacate this duplex. That is an immediate vacate under the code, so it was inspected and immediately placarded. The principal violations listed in this order include continuous water leaking from a water supply source. That would be pipes that run in between the first and second floor, not the pipes within the upper unit or the pipes within the lower unit, but the ones in-between. Fresh water leaking out, a lot of it. There's failing plaster and failing wood supports. There is water leaking obviously into areas where there are electrical fixtures, particularly noted in the basement. There is the appearance of mold-like substances in multiple locations in the lower unit. As I indicated, rotting wood. There are also 2 concerns in particular with the lower unit. That would be an excessive accumulation of materials in general described as being maze-like (to be able to get through) and gross unsanitary conditions, which are exacerbated by the water problems. I believe that water has been shut off to the property on an emergency basis because of this. I heard this appeal on an emergency basis immediately on April 6. One of the big questions that we started out with was: Who owns this property? That sounds like it would be a simple question, but it is not. The appellant is not the owner. The owners in the materials I provided appear to be the grandmother of the occupant and then ownership between the aunt's husband and aunt. It also is kind of odd. That the grandmother has died, so if it were to go through probate, what would that look like? All this has not been sorted out, but I do know that the occupant is not the legal owner of the property. That doesn't change the situation in terms of it being considered not a Certificate of Occupancy property because the lower unit is occupied by the aunt. She was present for the inspection. So we had code enforcement inspectors in there. The gentleman, our appellant who lives in the upper unit, Mister Steele, he has kept his unit in much better condition than the house is overall. He has not really done anything with the lower unit. The upper unit, I would say is primarily compromised by failing ceilings. Within that unit, the roof is compromised. So there's water coming in there causing the ceilings to fail. We can see the black plastic that is there. Then the concern about the support of the floor given that water leaking through. These are overall conditions that affect all spaces within the building when you have these water issues coupled with electrical problems and water also accumulating in the basement. Those are things that affect you no matter where you are residing within the building. Given that the building, the duplex, was condemned as unsafe for human habitation, there is displacement. The lower unit occupant, I believe moved in with her brother. Mister Steele was looking to find more permanent circumstances at the time of the hearing. He would like to be able to do some of the fixes and move back in again. As I review the conditions and the extensive photos, which I will allow you to look at on the computer, I believe that this is a case where we have not only the sanitation accumulation issues (which can be addressed to have a condemnation lifted) but also significant structural electrical plumbing issues. It becomes a much more complicated problem requiring more complicated solutions. It is for these reasons that I can't see a way where occupancy could be re-allowed in the short term under any conditions. It's for that reason that my recommendation was to deny the appeal. Mister Steele would like to speak to the Council about that recommendation and object to it.

Council President Brendmoen: I appreciate the in-depth conversation about the integrity of the structure and the seriousness of the situation. I don't have my computer in front of me, but I know that many of my colleagues do. Perhaps it would be possible to pull up photos while we hear testimony?

Moermond: Of course.

Brendmoen: This is a public hearing. If there's anyone here that would like to speak to this item, this is your opportunity.

Steele: Thank you for this opportunity. Yes, this situation is very complex. One of the purposes of me even fighting for this is because this home has been in my family for 50 years. I'm 47 years old and it was purchased a couple years before I was born. Some of the things that have happened through this is a lot of family infighting. People saying: "Well, this belongs to me, and that belongs to me..." I do have a plan. I didn't know of some of the other things that were going on in the lower unit. I didn't see all this other stuff. They said that it was a leaky toilet. I have an almost $700 bill here saying that the problem was fixed. I found that there was a vacant building form that I can fill out. My plan is to completely restore the entire building from top to bottom. There is another issue with the bottom tenants. We have a contract that, within a reasonable amount of time, her homestead will be up. This will allow me to take control of the entire building. Currently, what I am doing is taking bids from different contractors to fix everything. I have the ability to do it. So, it doesn't make sense why I cannot do it. It is something that is very close to me. Like I said, this has been in my family for 50 years. I don't feel that it is appropriate for the City to take something from a family that's been here for so many years, especially with this particular building, just steps away from Rondo. This is something that needs to be able to stay for another 50 years. I'm willing to take the responsibility. I am slowly building a team, even a legal team to get paperwork together, so that I know that this belongs to me 100%. I'll be able to file this vacant building form next week and will have a plan of action.

Brendmoen: Just one point of clarification. The City is not taking your house. It's condemning it for the safety of you, your guests, or anybody who would go into the property. It's wonderful that you have a plan that you're working on to bring it back up to standards. But the vote here is simply the condemnation of the property, which provides you the time and space to get that work done. The City is not taking ownership of your property.

Steele: The reason I said that is because I have a stack here of letters and notifications to the lower unit. So, how would I even have the opportunity to address any kind of situation...but I didn't have an opportunity. Because of the infighting within the family, none of this information was shared. So then when her unit was inspected, they came and said that my unit has to be done to. That's a problem for me because all of these things are an issue because I didn't know anything about it. I have an entire year and I just don't feel that it is appropriate. I just don't feel that it is appropriate that it's on City website as vacant. There are people like house flippers doing inappropriate things like jumping over fences and pulling on doors. I think that's very inappropriate. I even had one person call me. My first name is Herbert, but this particular person called me Darnell. So I'm wondering how that was possible. How did you get my phone number? How did you call me and why would you call me Darnell?

Brendmoen: What we're looking at today is the condemnation. I will defer to Councilmember Balenger in Ward 1, but the City has resources and can help.

Councilmember Balenger moved to close the public hearing. Approved 7-0.

Balenger: How soon can you get this work started?

Steele: I need to wait until at least May 15 for taxes, so that I can pay my portion of the taxes and then I can go forward from there.

Balenger: From what I understand, no one can be in the building at this time.

Steele: I was given between 8am and 8pm.

Moermond: In the normal course of events, when a building is condemned as unfit for human habitation and its is upheld, it would be referred to the registered vacant building program. It would be a Category 2 registered vacant building. The way the list of things that need to be done would be determined is having 4 trades inspectors go through and review what needs to happen to bring the building into minimum code compliance. That would be the list that Mister Steele would work with his contractors on. There is a concern of ownership. Mister Steele is currently not in an ownership position. So if he fills out a registered vacant building form, that would need to be on behalf of the owner or representing the owner. The owner would need to sign that. That situation needs to be managed. Building permits would not be issued to someone who is not the owner of the building. That does need to be addressed in the process of moving forward to get the house rehabilitated. In terms of getting rehabilitated, all things can be.

Balenger: I would like to see if we could get this piece about the ownership looked at and see if that could happen within 3 weeks.

Moermond: All of the title documents are attached to the record in front of you. It's a quite extensive file that was put together prior to the hearing process but forwarded to us from the Rondo Land Trust in. The documents are there in the record, and those should be the ones used to do the changes that are necessary with probate court and so on.

Brendmoen: One idea would be to continue with the condemnation, as it is unfit for human habitation and unsafe, but separate the notion that Mister Steele and others can go in the house and work between 8am and 5pm, but they can't live in the property. There's opportunity then to resolve the ownership questions and to make a plan for rehab. But for now, what's been presented to us is a home that isn't safe for humans and the water is off. Perhaps we move forward with the recommendation of the Legislative Hearing Officer, and then work with Mister Steele to move forward.

Balenger: Alright. Let's do that and see what we can make available.

Brendmoen: I think that's a good motion and I would support it. This Council wants you to get back in the house. We want to preserve the home, but there are also steps in between that are about safety.

Steele: This is the reason why I said the City is trying to take something, just like the state. All I want to do is fix the situation. And then I just have to jump through all these extra hoops. It seems like it's done intentionally, so that other people can...

Brendmoen: You have an ally in your Ward 1 councilmember, and there's a motion to approve the recommendation of the Legislative Hearing Officer. Just know that here's a lot of support behind you for the rehabilitation.

Council Meeting Information

The City Council is paperless which saves the environment and reduces expenses. The agendas and Council files are all available on the Web (see below). Council members use mobile devices to review the files during the meeting. Using a mobile device greatly reduces costs since most agendas, including the documents attached to files, are over 1000 pages when printed.

Web

Meetings are available on the Council's website. Email notification and web feeds (RSS) of newly released minutes, agendas, and meetings are available by subscription. Visit www.stpaul.gov/council for meeting videos and updated copies of the agendas, minutes, and supporting documents.

Cable

Meetings are live on St Paul Channel 18 and replayed at various times. Check your local listings.
