- 15 Ord 13-16 Amending Chapter 427 of the Saint Paul Legislative Code pertaining to exercise only facilities.

In opposition:

Monica Hartman (240 Spring Street, # 330), secretary for the board of the Mississippi Flats Condo Association, asked that a requirement be added for noise- and vibration-dampening materials for the floor. She spoke about the detrimental affects of noise from the exercise facility on property values and quality of life for residents and businesses.

Councilmember Thune noted that the requirement for noise- and vibration-dampening floor materials had been added.

Tim Griffin (240 Spring Street, #227) echoed Ms. Hartman's concerns, and said they had not been successful in resolving the problems through the existing condominium regulations. He made suggestions for other ways to mitigate the problems, including increased staffing at clubs. He said there was a temporary restraining order in place limiting the hours the fitness center could operate until the noise issue was resolved.

Ben Cowen (1209 Tyler Street N.E., Suite 160, Minneapolis), owner of three Snap Fitnesses in St. Paul, spoke about mitigation measures being implemented, and said most noise problems arose from weights being dropped. He said previous changes to the ordinance added a requirement for cameras, so he didn't feel increased staffing was necessary. He said the popularity of group fitness was not something they anticipated when the ordinance was changed in 2008, and they were asking to be able to add space to meet the demand for those services. He noted that safety measures added in the earlier ordinance were still in place. He thanked Council members Stark and Thune for their help.

Councilmember Stark moved to close the public hearing.

23 RES PH 13-67 Expanding residential permit parking Area 22.

In opposition:

Paul Moe (179 Finn Street) said the question involved how flexible the City was willing to be to accommodate its neighbors. He said the neighbors affected by the change had reached an agreement but City staff felt the proposed resolution wasn't convenient and wouldn't work. He reviewed the plan which included adding permit parking to the portion of the block where residents wanted it.

Kathleen Whitney (2117 Princeton Avenue) said she was opposed to the expansion because parking along her lot was already limited by a fire hydrant and driveway, and she felt the the 8:00 p.m. end time for permit-only parking was too late. She asked that the north part of Finn from Princeton to the alley be kept non-permit.

In response to questions from Councilmember Tolbert, Mr. Moe said the permit parking request came from neighbors who felt students parking on Finn created a nuisance, and that the streets north and west of the area had permit parking, and those south and east did not.

In support:

Mick Crandall (2122 Princeton Avenue) said he went around to neighbors on Finn Street from Fairmount to Sargent, and the majority were annoyed about the parking and felt it had become a nuisance. He said the number of cars parked also created safety issues for people leaving their alleys.

Cathy Wick (161 S. Finn) said she'd lived there for nearly 47 years and wanted to continue to feel safe and happy and get along with her neighbors, but the parking situation had become oppressive. She said the day and night foot and vehicle traffic was extensive. She said she had letters from six of her neighbors on Fairmount and one on Lincoln who already had permit parking and supported the extension.

Jill Weis (2118 Princeton) said it was her understanding that the permit parking extension was going to happen since 75% of the neighbors wanted it to, and the current discussion was over whether there would be a sign for half of the block. She shared anecdotal evidence of the the high demand for parking and the detrimental effects.

Councilmember Stark moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Councilmember Stark asked Public Works staff for clarification of their objection to Mr. Moe's proposal to add part of a block. Elizabeth Stiffler, Public Works, said the original proposal was for the addition of the two short blocks on Finn between Fairmount and Sargent, affecting a total of eight properties. She said the amended proposal would leave one property with a different restriction than everywhere else, and staff felt that would be confusing. She said there were typically one or two signs per block, and a lot of people were confused by signage in St. Paul already. She said Public Works as well as the Mac Groveland District Council supported the petition as initially proposed. She said Permit Parking Area 22 had been around for a long time and there had been a lot of additions, and making small changes at an individual level was not something they could do.

Councilmember Stark asked whether there was any precedent for only having permit parking on part of a block? Ms. Stiffler said there were some examples, but Public Works had been trying over the past few years to make things more consistent.

Councilmember Carter asked for an objective perspective from staff on whether there was a need for the permit parking. Ms. Stiffler said the practice now was to do a study before sending out a petition, and it was determined that there was parking pressure for the 33 spaces in the petition area. She noted that expanding the permit parking area would result in parking spilling onto Fairmount and potentially the need for permit parking there.

Councilmember Stark said he felt the proposal from the opponent was too fine, and signage would be confusing for users and parking enforcement. He moved approval based on the original petition.

Councilmember Tolbert expressed concern about the piecemeal approach of continuously pushing the problem on to the next block, and said he would be voting against it.

Councilmember Stark noted that Permit Area 22 hadn't expanded much since 2001, but said he agreed with the fundamental point of trying to figure out other ways of dealing with the issue.

Councilmember Carter said he would support the plan but also felt other options should be explored.

24 RES PH 13-62 Adopting the Great River Passage Master Plan. (Public hearing held April 3)

Council President Lantry said she would be introducing amendments that were the result of communications between constituents and the Parks department.

Don Ganje, Parks and Recreation, gave a staff report on the plan and the amendments, which he said had been agreed to by the Parks department. He thanked City staff and the task force, described the development of plan, and reviewed the changes. He said most were corrections and clarifications. He reviewed the goals of the plan. He stressed that it was a 30 to 50 year legacy plan, and a vision of what could be along the river in the future.

Council President Lantry said there was competing language related to Island Station, and the agreement was to leave what was originally in the plan. She said it was hers and Councilmember Thune's impression that items 5, 6, and 7 on page 4 would be deleted from the resolution, and the language presented in the books would remain. She said the language was not that much different, and noted that it was all concept plans which would require further public input and discussions before anything happened. She moved the amended resolution with items 5, 6, and 7 on page 4 removed. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Public testimony:

Bob Spaulding, Friends of the Mississippi River (360 N. Robert Street, Suite 400), spoke in support of the plan, especially the proposal for Watergate Marina.

Tia Anderson (2091 Pinehurst Avenue), president of the Highland District Council, said the length and complexity of the plan made it difficult to understand, and they fully supported modifications adding the requirement for community notification and public input before individual projects were implemented. She expressed concerns about Chapter 7 of the plan, and said the potential impact on an already strained City budget and finite tax base raised questions about the fiscal soundness of implementing the full plan.

Paul Labovitz, National Park Service superintendent of the Mississippi National River and Recreation Area, congratulated the City of St. Paul on their concept for the 17 miles of the Mississippi River, and said they were excited to use the plan as an example for other communities along the river.

Patrick Seeb, Executive Director of the St. Paul Riverfront Corporation (25 W. 6th Street), spoke in favor of the plan, acknowledged the Parks department and its leadership, and thanked City staff, especially Council President Lantry and Councilmember Thune for finessing the details.

Greg Lais (3211 Keewaydin Place, Minneapolis), Executive Director of Wilderness Inquiry, spoke in favor of the plan.

Kent Peterson (503 St. Clair Avenue) spoke in support of the plan, and thanked staff for their work. He noted some problems with the way the plan appeared online. He also noted some bluff areas that weren't marked and said he felt there should be a bluff protection plan wherever there was a bluff. He suggested that more attention be paid to making the river accessible to people of different abilities. He said he applauded the language added recognizing the fact that the plan was conceptual in nature.

Betsy Leach, Executive Director of District 1 Community Council (2105 1/2 Old Hudson Road), referred to their earlier correspondence expressing concern about the plan's impact on neighborhood parks, and read a statement elaborating on those concerns. She asked for consideration of how this plan fit in with the current system plan, and an examination of the public process for implementation of the plan.

Peggy Lynch (1621 Beechwood), Executive Director of Friends of the Parks of St. Paul and Ramsey County, and task force member, expressed enthusiasm about the plan and commended staff for all of their work. She said one significant concern was about the location at environmental learning center at Watergate Marina, because of the potential for flooding. She said they agreed that Watergate Marina was a mess and needed to be cleaned up but spending close to $15 million to construct an environmental learning center in a flood plain was not the answer.

Tom Dimond, thanked Parks and Public Works staff for their work, and commended the Council for their involvement. He said the important element was enhanced access to the river, and while there were elements that still needed to be worked on, it was important to remember it was an evolving plan. He said he would like to see more opportunities for people using the river to access downtown and neighborhood businesses.

Lorrie Louder, Port Authority, thanked Parks Director Mike Hahm and Parks staff for their work and for involving the Port Authority, and thanked Council President Lantry for the language related to Riverview Industrial Park.

Councilmember Thune asked Mr. Ganje whether the bluff protection could be extended to the areas mentioned by Mr. Peterson. Mr. Ganje said it could be.

Council President Lantry said the intention was to take testimony and lay the plan over for a week before passage, and changes could be added in the intervening time.

Councilmember Tolbert asked how implementation of the plan fit into the budget. Parks and Recreation Director Mike Hahm first took a moment to thank Mr. Ganje and Parks staff, Planning and Economic Development and Public Works staff, and members of the community for all of their work. In response to Councilmember Tolbert's question he said capital projects would be brought forward on a case by case basis as was already the practice. He said recreation centers were not eligible for some government funding and some private funding, and private donors were not always interested in funding rec centers. He said implementation of the Great River Passage would not come at the expense of community recreation programs, as they were independent operations and financed independently of one another in terms of sources of money. He said any new funding proposed for implementation of the plan would be handled through the City's budgeting process and ultimately vetted and approved by the Council. He said at the most basic level they had been thinking about a modest investment of $200,000 to $250,000 to add a manager and support staff for an operating division, and professional design staff. He said some operating funds could be moved from operating budgets for existing activities into the control of the new operating manager. He stressed the importance of a new operating division with leadership available to leverage private investment, working with existing and new partners.

Mr. Hahm answered additional questions from Councilmember Tolbert regarding sources of funding for implementation of the plan. He said there currently were no specific plans for implementation or funding.

Councilmember Thune confirmed with Mr. Hahm that approving the plan didn't mean approval of specific spending decisions. Mr. Hahm said specific actions to establish the new division or budget for new activity would require future action as part of the budget. Councilmember Thune congratulated Mr. Hahm on the plan.

Councilmember Stark added his appreciation for all of the great work leading to the plan, and reiterated the point that decisions about the plan were independent of decisions about operating and priorities.

Councilmember Bostrom said he shared the concerns expressed by Councilmember Tolbert, and felt it was critically important that this didn't take any funding or potential funding away from rec centers.

Council President Lantry said a lot of time and process had gone into making sure everyone's voice was heard; she commended staff for their work.

Councilmember Brendmoen moved to close the public hearing and lay the matter over to April 10.

- 42 RLH OA 13-48 Re-examining the record for RLH RR 13-10 approved by the City Council on March 6, 2013, ordering the razing and removal of the structures located at 758 MARYLAND AVENUE EAST within fifteen (15) days.

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said a copy of the work plan was omitted from the record when the address was before the Council on March 6, so it was brought back for the Council to hear with the complete record available. She reviewed the history, and said the situation had not changed in terms of a work plan and financial information, and maintenance of the property had been lacking. She said a Ker Moua tried to pay the bond the previous Friday, and told staff he had purchased the property along with two other properties from Raven Financial. Ms. Moermond said the bond was not accepted, because current code stipulates that the work must be done by the current owner. She reviewed and responded to documents provided by the appellant. She said it appeared to have been an illegal sale to Mr. Moua, and she couldn't give a recommendation that there be time granted for rehabilitation.

Council President Lantry confirmed with Ms. Moermond that the issue before the Council was the order to raze and remove the building, and that Ms. Moermond's recommendation was to order razing and removal within 15 days. She asked Ms. Moermond to review the standard conditions for time to be granted. Ms. Moermond said the taxes and code compliance inspection were current, but the property was not being maintained, there was not an adequate work plan or sufficient finances, and the performance deposit had not been posted.

Mary Kaye (880 Clark) appeared in behalf of Raven Financial and read a statement. She said Raven Financial had completed four of the five items they'd been asked to and were unable to complete the last due to a clerical error on the part of the City. She said a history of errors on the part of DSI (the Department of Safety and Inspections), Ms. Moermond's office, and the City Council had made it impossible to finish rehabbing the property. She outlined steps taken by Raven Financial to meet the conditions set, and reviewed a report from a retired building inspector stating that the building did not constitute a nuisance. She said photographs and email correspondence in the property file had been modified, and inspectors could not have accessed the property at the time they stated they had. She said if the demolition order were removed they could get things done, otherwise they would use the money set aside for the rehab and pursue legal action.

Councilmember Stark asked whether the property had been sold. Ms. Kaye said the title hadn't changed, but there was a private agreement that could possibly result in transfer of the property in two years. She said Mr. Moua would be doing all of the work. In response to questions from Councilmember Tolbert and Council President Lantry she said Raven Financial, LLC was a husband and wife residing in North Dakota. Councilmember Stark said if Raven was the owner they should be able to post bond. Ms. Kaye said they could, but had not been allowed to post bond or pull permits because of the demolition order and not for any reason related to ownership as stated by Ms. Moermond.

Councilmember Bostrom moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Councilmember Bostrom said the Council had heard all of this before, and the property had been a vacant building since 2007. He said the evidence made it clear that inspectors had been at the property, and he was troubled by the allegations that they hadn't. He said there was nothing to prevent the owners from posting bond and providing documentation of finances available to do the work right. He said the photographs indicated that there were serious problems and a lot of work was needed. He moved to adopt the recommendation of the Legislative Hearing Officer.

Council Meeting Information

The City Council is paperless which saves the environment and reduces expenses.

The agendas and Council files are all available on the Web (see below).

Councilmembers use iPads to review the files during the meeting. Using the iPad greatly reduces costs since most agendas, including the documents attached to files, are over 1000 pages when printed.

Web

Meetings are available on the Council's website. Email notification and web feeds (RSS) of newly released Minutes, Agendas and Meetings are available by subscription.

Please visit www.stpaul.gov/council for meeting videos and updated copies of the Agendas, Minutes and supporting documents.

Cable

Meetings are live on St Paul Channel 18 and replayed on: Thursdays at 5:30 p.m., Saturdays at 12:30 p.m., and Sundays at 1:00 p.m. (Subject to change)
