A photograph of the exterior entrance of a brick building. The entrance features a dark grey door with a large glass panel in the upper half, reflecting the surrounding environment. Below the glass panel, the address number '1220' is displayed. The door is flanked by two yellow side panels, each containing four small, square glass inserts. Above the door is a transom window with multiple small panes. The entire entrance is framed by a yellow-painted concrete or stone lintel. The building is constructed of red brick, and a small black object is visible on the left wall.
