We service all containers in the alley. I went out to the resident yesterday as she stated that she did not have a cart. There was a cart next to her garage which looks like it has been there for a while with the snow packed around the bottom (see attached for pictures).

I looked in the cart to see that there was a single bag in there. Her service days are on Fridays (today). She was claiming that she didn't know that it was her cart even though it was in front of her property.

Romack,
Please see question below.

Bottomline clarifying question...If Republic was servicing the residents in this alley and the cart was out at this address, would Republic service this container?

Hi Romack,

I hope you are doing well. Do you have a record of Republic serving this account. Specifically, if the cart was out for collection did Republic have a truck driving down the alley and would the bin have been tipped?

Thanks,

Chris
