He reviewed what the ordinance would do. - 32 RES PH 15-117 Granting Municipal Consent for the MnDOT project to rehabilitate the pavement on Interstate 94 from Seventh Street to Mounds Boulevard, including the construction of an auxiliary lane from Seventh Street to Mounds Boulevard and the construction of a sound wall along a portion of Mounds Boulevard. (State Project No. S.P. 6283-175) (Public hearing continued from May 6)

In opposition:

Eric Zidlicky said the Heritage Preservation Commission had determined the sound wall would have a negative on the neighborhood. He said a recently released MnDOT traffic congestion study did not seem to support the need for the auxiliary lane. He said if the BRT were added it would further reduce traffic congestion. He said he didn't feel the addition of the eastbound auxiliary lane would benefit St. Paul residents but would have a negative effect on the neighborhood.

Diane May said they had lost quite a few of their neighbors due to sound from the freeway, and everyone agreed a sound barrier was needed. She said the disagreement was over the height of the wall and how far it extended. She said the wall would come down in a few years when the dedicated bus lane was added, and the neighbors would be back at that time looking for modifications to the sound wall to make it more amenable to neighbors.

Councilmember Bostrom asked how many miles of repaving was included in the project. MnDOT district engineer Scott McBride said he didn't know the total miles but it extended to 494. He said it was a $40 million project and most of that was for paving. Councilmember Bostrom said he recalled from the previous public hearing that if the project wasn't done now it would be put off for at least 30 years. He asked whether that was correct. Mr. McBride said that was true of the funding for the auxiliary lane, which was about a $5 million piece of the project. He said it was not one of the heaviest congestion areas in the metro area, but the auxiliary lane would add space and reduce weaving between closely spaced entrance and exit lanes. Councilmember Bostrom said it was also a traffic safety issue as well and would continue progress and provide jobs.

Mr. McBride said this was a good time to add the auxiliary lane since the paving was being done. He said the increased traffic capacity of the auxiliary lane triggered the need for the noise wall analysis which also triggered municipal consent. He stressed that municipal consent was needed for the auxiliary lane but not for the paving project. He said if municipal consent was denied because of the noise wall issue, the rest of the paving project would continue without the auxiliary lane and noise wall.

Councilmember Finney moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Councilmember Finney said he hoped discussions about the wall could continue, but this was an important enough project for the City and this would allow it to move forward.

Councilmember Finney moved to approve the resolution. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

40 APC 15-2

Public hearing to consider the appeal of Jack Kirr to a decision of the Planning Commission approving a site plan for a four-story mixed-use development at 735 Cleveland Avenue South.

Appellant:

Jack Kirr (2078 Highland Parkway) said on behalf of 59 residents representing over 85% of the owner-occupied homes adjacent to the project, and the seven residents whose homes abutted the parcel, he asked the Council strictly interpret its 11-point, mandatory "shall" ordinances for site plan review. He said the project was not ready, and they would like to see the development done right the first time. He said the ordinances for evaluating the site plan were very specific, and the zoning code was the law. He said issues of privacy, public safety, and general welfare had not been sufficiently addressed in the site plan. He expressed concern about the conflation of the terms setback and stepback, and about the solar and light access. He stressed that the code was the law, and precedent or departmental memos were not. He said it was hard to understand why height and density standards would be implemented without solar access standards. He spoke about the lack of standards for privacy loss, and detailed their concerns about public safety and general welfare.

Howard Miller (2081 Highland Parkway), adjacent neighbor, said the Council and Zoning committee had a responsibility to constituents. He read from the Highland District's 2005 Comprehensive Plan about a desire for developments no higher than three stories. He read from the Highland District Council's resolution opposing the four-story development, written to reflect public outcry and opposition from hundreds of neighbors. He said it was a matter of standard procedure for the City to summarize district comprehensive plans rather than adopting them in their entirety, and during district plan review, the Planning Commission tried to screen out neighborhood positions that might conflict with citywide policy. He said the development would create a shadow casting, traffic ballooning nightmare that the neighbors would have to live with.

Conor Quinn (2115 Bayard Avenue), said he was disappointed at the arbitrariness of the staff response. He said as a pedestrian he had experienced the danger of new construction for pedestrians. He said he was not opposed to a development at this site but respectfully ask that it be sent back for further study.

In opposition:

Developer Jim LaValle (2416 Edgcumbe Road), respectfully asked the Council to deny the appeal. He said the Zoning Committee, Planning Commission, and staff had done their jobs and made proper findings. He said as a resident it was exciting to see the recent capital investments in the neighborhood, and he felt this project only built on that momentum. He said the appellant's allegations of defects in the Planning Commission actions were not justified or warranted, and statements outlined in the appeal were inconsistent with applicable code. He said the height and setbacks conformed to City codes and the Comprehensive Plan, He said information submitted to the City prepared by experts in their respective fields demonstrated that the project would not have the alleged negative impacts. He said in collaboration with the City planning and engineering staff, the development team purposely designed the project to meet all applicable standards and zoning code, and the Comprehensive Plan and building codes to ensure the legal standards of the site plan approval. He said the development team paid serious attention to concerns raised at public meetings and made several changes to the project design in response to the concerns. He said the Highland District Council did not oppose the development but had but stipulated conditions, and they were committed to working with the district council to the best of their ability. He said the goal of the development team was to provide a first class development that would be an asset to the whole Highland Village community. He asked that the project be allowed to move forward to encourage construction and other jobs.

Brian Alton (951 Grand Avenue), attorney representing the developer, urged the Council to deny the appeal and allow the project to go forward. He said only the site plan review was being considered and no variances, rezoning, or conditional use permits were necessary. He said staff had shown that the site plan review should be approved, and it was approved unanimously by both the Zoning Committee and Planning Commission. He said the plan complied with all codes and ordinances and was specifically designed so that there wasn't a need for a conditional use permit. He said the development would be sensitive to the existing housing next door, but did fit into the code.

Jeff Fenske (239 Cleveland Avenue N.) said he had an office at Cleveland and Marshall and lived about a half mile north of the site, but was appearing as vice chair of Midway Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors. He said the developer and owner were not Chamber members and he had no personal interest in the project and was speaking from a broader perspective on behalf of the Midway Chamber. He said the this exactly the sort of project that the Chamber and City Council should be advocating because it contributed to making the City more walkable, sustainable and transit oriented. He said the proposed mixed use development was the type of project the City had been seeking through the Traditional Neighborhood zoning process. He said the project was designed with the zoning of the property and complied with all of the zoning and land use regulations, did not require variances or a conditional use permit, had the support of the Planning Commission, and City staff recommended its approval. He said the Midway Chamber asked that the Council deny the appeal and allow the project to move forward.

Matt Anfang (1635 Bayard Avenue), Highland Park resident, said he supported the site plan and urged the Council to deny the appeal. He said he served on the Planning Commission when part of the TN ordinances were passed, and also worked as project manager for the Upper Landing Development which incorporated many of these same design elements and standards implied by TN zoning. He said he lived near Snelling where there were 4 story buildings next to single family homes, and fears of shading and loss of privacy were unfounded. He urged the Council to deny the appeal and said the project was bringing the City in the right direction in creating more density along busier corridors.

Ted Davis (1940 Eleanor) spoke in support of the Planning Commission's recommendation. He said the project was a realization of the vision the City had been working on for a number of years, and it met all zoning requirements without variance or subsidies. He read from a neighbor's letter of support.

Tim Bloom (300 Stonebridge Boulevard), said he'd been a resident in the area for nearly 70 years, and his commercial real estate office was near Ford Parkway and Cleveland. He said he represented national retailers, and this project met all of the zoning requirements. He said it was an amenity to the Highland area. He said retailers would say they've been waiting for something like this. He said it didn't make sense to deny something like this that met all requirements and was demand-driven.

Councilmember Tolbert moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Councilmember Tolbert thanked the neighbors for coming to testify. He said it was a tough issue that had been a topic of discussion for months. He said Mr. Kirr raised important points about solar rights, privacy protection, public safety, and parking which needed to be addressed with every development, but he didn't find any errors in the Planning Commission's findings. He said this was within the code as written, and he moved to deny the appeal.
