On October 23, 2011, at approximately 2:10 A.M, there a fight broke out in our parking lot afterward which we called the Police. After the police arrived at the scene they talked to the restaurant's security personnel and transport the victim to hospital, then they left the parking lot. I was present at the restaurant up to around 2:50 A.M, by which time I had to leave. After 3:00 A.M the police returned to the restaurant and asked my husband for a copy of the security videotape recorded during the time of the incident. My husband told them that he wouldn't be able to do so as the office key was with me. I have stopped giving my husband the office key because he keeps on losing things due to his medical condition. After I became aware of their request, I subsequently made the videotape available and called the police to inform them that it is already picked by the police. The police always have access to video camera during the restaurant business hours.

Sincerely

Zinash Made
