Hello Councilmember Yang, Chris Xiong, and Jenna McCullough

My name is Britta Dornfeld and I'm an advocate for housing justice with the East Side Freedom Library. I'm writing to express my strong support for the proposed amendments stemming from Phase One of the 1-4 unit infill study. I believe they'll be a step in the right direction towards housing justice because they'll make it possible to build more types of housing that accommodate a wider variety of families, aging adults, and people of all incomes.

I also want to urge you to go much further in Phase Two of the 1-4 unit infill study later this year, by legalizing duplexes, triplexes, fourplexes, townhomes, cluster developments, and other Missing Middle Housing options in all residential areas of the city and by amending zoning rules to allow people to convert existing homes into multiple dwellings. I believe that making it easier to build more housing is one of many policy solutions we'll need to achieve housing justice in St. Paul and heal the race and class disparities reinforced by Single-Family-only zoning.

Thank you for your work,
