WHEREAS, according to data from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, there have been only two hundred (200) residential building permits in Saint Paul through April of 2022, compared to 1,391 at the same point in 2021; and

WHEREAS, according to census and forecast data published by the Metropolitan Council, the population in Saint Paul is since the year 2000 is outpacing the increase in new housing; and

WHEREAS, according to American Community Survey data from 2015-2019, 36.8% of Saint Paul residents live below 185% of the federal poverty level; and

WHEREAS, prior to adoption, city partners expressed that passage of rent stabilization could increase the future financial risk on loans for executed redevelopment agreements which, in turn, could lead to developers pulling out of existing executed redevelopment agreements; and

WHEREAS, the development of new affordable housing in the City depends, in part, on Tax-Increment Financing (TIF) produced by the development of new market rate housing in general; and

WHEREAS, a decrease in development of new housing will decrease the availability of TIF and thus decrease the development of new affordable housing; and

WHEREAS, city partners have forecasted a loss of capital investment, relocation of developers and builders to more predictable locations and asset types, negative impacts on housing supply, and long term increases to housing costs due to the rent stabilization ordinance; and

WHEREAS, a local bank has reported that a Naturally Occurring Affordable Housing development will not proceed because of passage of the rent stabilization ordinance, which reportedly caused a reduction in value of approximately $1.1 million to the development; and

WHEREAS, a large non-profit affordable housing developer has reported over 500 affordable housing units will not be constructed as they are predicated on TIF funding from market rate projects which are indefinitely on hold due to the limitations of the current rent stabilization ordinance; and

WHEREAS, rent stabilization ordinances across the country include exemptions for new construction, including ordinances in effect in Berkeley, Oakland, and others; and

WHEREAS, the purpose of new construction exemptions in other jurisdictions is to address challenges similar to those faced by the City of Saint Paul, specifically housing shortages and accessibility to affordable housing; and

WHEREAS, the text of the rent stabilization ordinance finds that “that the welfare of all persons who live, work, or own Property in the City of Saint Paul depends in part ensuring that Saint Paul residents have access to affordable housing”; and

WHEREAS, consistent with the rent stabilization ordinance’s stated goal of ensuring access to affordable housing, the City Council finds it necessary and reasonable to amend the Chapter to exempt new construction; and

WHEREAS, exempting new construction will help to ensure that city partners can continue to construct new affordable housing units in the City of Saint Paul; and

WHEREAS, the City has received numerous inquiries and complaints from residential tenants since the passage of the ordinance; and

WHEREAS, the ordinance, in its current form, does not specify a process by which tenants may file Complaints with the City; and

WHEREAS, the City Council desires to clarify the process by which tenants may seek redress of improper rent increases which exceed the cap increase in the ordinance, subject to exceptions and exemptions outlined in the ordinance; and

WHEREAS, the City Council desires to ensure that the rent stabilization ordinance does not dissuade the construction of new housing; and

WHEREAS, the City Council desires to balance tenant interests in housing security with the interests of landlords to adjust vacant units to competitive rates; and

WHEREAS, Complaints, Applications, and appeals filed with the City since the passage of the rent stabilization ordinance have demonstrated difficulties with implementing the rent stabilization ordinance; and

WHEREAS, Complaints, Applications and Appeals filed with the City since the passage of the rent stabilization ordinance have demonstrated that allowing rental increases above the ordinance cap can, in limited circumstances, increase the likelihood that landlords will invest in their property and make improvements; and

WHEREAS, the Council may amend ordinances pursuant to Saint Paul charter; now, therefore, be it

The Landlord may apply to increase Rent pursuant to this section in an RROI Application and the RROI Application shall be approved, subject to sections b and c below.

- b. When determining the pattern of recent Rent increases or decreases and Just Cause Vacancy, a Landlord may apply to increase rents subject to each of the following conditions:

 - iii. Approval of RROI Applications based on the pattern of Rent increases or decreases for a Deferred Rent Increase shall be provided only when the Landlord can demonstrate that a Tenant has vacated a unit for just cause. The following reasons for vacancy constitute just cause:
 - A. Non-payment of Rent. The Tenant fails to Cure the Deficiency after receiving a non-payment notice from the Landlord, and the Landlord does not pursue a valid non-payment eviction action under Minn. Stat. § 504B.291, subd. 1(a), but decides to terminate the tenancy at the end of the lease.
 - B. Repeated late payment of Rent. The Tenant repeatedly makes late payments of Rent, no fewer than three (3) times in a twelve (12) month period.  - C. Material non-compliance. After receiving a written notice to cease from the Landlord, the Tenant continues a material breach of the lease. This subsection shall not diminish the rights of a Landlord, if any, to terminate a lease for actions permitted under Minn. Stat. § 504B.281, et seq.
 - D. Substantial damage. The Tenant has willfully caused or allowed substantial damage to the premises beyond normal wear and tear and has refused, after written notice, to pay the reasonable costs of repairing such damage and cease damaging the premises.

- F. Occupancy by property owner or Family Member. The property owner, in good faith, seeks to recover possession of the dwelling unit so that the property owner or a Family Member may occupy the unit as that person's principal residence. The property owner or Family Member must move into the unit within ninety (90) days from the Tenant's vacation. If a Substantially Equivalent Replacement Unit is vacant and available, that unit must be made available to the Tenant at a Substantially Similar Rental Rate as the Tenant's current lease.

1. The Landlord elects to demolish the building, convert it to a cooperative, provided the Landlord complies with the provisions of Minn. Stat. Ch. 515B, or convert it to nonresidential use, provided that, the Landlord must obtain a permit necessary to demolish or change the use before terminating any tenancy;

 3. The dwelling unit is being converted to a unit subsidized under a local, state or federal housing program and the Tenant does not qualify to rent the unit under that program.
- H. Rehabilitation and renovation. The Landlord seeks, in good faith, to recover possession of the dwelling unit that will render the unit uninhabitable for the duration of the rehabilitation or renovation. If a Substantially Equivalent Replacement Unit is vacant and available in the building, that unit must be made available to the Tenant at a Substantially Similar Rental Rate as the Tenant's current lease.
- I. Complying with a government order to vacate. The Landlord is complying with a government agency's order to vacate, order to abate, or any other order that necessitates the vacating of the dwelling unit as a result of a violation of Saint Paul city codes or any other provision of law. If a Substantially Equivalent Replacement Unit is vacant and available in the building, that unit must be made available to the Tenant at a Substantially Similar Rental Rate as the Tenant's current lease.
- J. Occupancy conditioned on employment at the Landlord's Property. The Tenant's occupancy is conditioned upon employment by the Landlord on the Landlord's property and that employment relationship is terminated.
- c. For purposes of application approvals under this subsection:
- i. A facial showing of both 1) Deferred Rent Increase, and 2) a subsequent Just Cause Vacancy of a Rental Unit is sufficient to

- (e) Landlords or Tenants may, as part of their respective RROI Application, Complaint, or appeal, present evidence to rebut the presumption that the base year net operating income provided a reasonable return. Grounds for rebuttal shall be based on at least one of the following findings:
- (1) Exceptional expenses in the base year: The Landlord's operating expenses in the base year were unusually high or low in comparison to other years. In such instances, adjustments may be made in calculating operating expenses in order that the base year operating expenses reflect average expenses for the property over a reasonable period of time. The following factors shall be considered in making such a finding:
 - i. Extraordinary amounts were expended for necessary maintenance and repairs.
 - ii. Maintenance and repair expenditures were exceptionally low so as to cause inadequate maintenance or significant deterioration in the quality of services provided.
 - iii. Other expenses were unreasonably high or low notwithstanding the application of prudent business practices.
 - (2) Exceptional circumstances in the base year. The gross income during the base year was disproportionately low due to exceptional circumstances. In such instances, adjustments may be made in calculating base year gross rental income consistent with the purposes of this chapter. The following factors shall be considered in making such a finding:

 - ii. The gross income during the base year was significantly lower than normal because of the destruction of the premises and/or temporary eviction for construction or repairs.
 - iii. The pattern of Rent increases in the years prior to the base year and whether those increases reflected increases in the Consumer Price Index.

- (h) Retaliation prohibited: In accordance with State law, a residential Tenant may not be evicted, nor may the residential Tenant's obligations under a lease be increased or the services decreased, if the eviction or increase of obligations or decrease of services is intended as a penalty for the residential Tenant's or housing-related neighborhood organization's complaint of a violation.
