Explanation of history and request for more time emailed to Hector. Thanks
Good afternoon Hector

Thank you for your call back last week. This email is in response to your request for an update on the buildings exterior, my plan and what I have been trying to do.

I know this has been a long process and I have been given many extensions, so I appreciate the patience.

Ok so originally I had a certificate of occupancy inspection, during that time the inspector noticed the issue with the brick facade. I at that time built a cement ledge that filled in underneath the brick and supported it so that it could not move any more. That has appeared to prevent any further issues. We had our re inspection and they requested more to be done. I called 15-18 companies. I maybe got 4 of them to answer and show up, I think out of the initial 4 2 gave a bid. I was told by a few of them that it is safe and that it is not going to move anywhere and that it wouldnt get worse. I relayed that message to the city, they requested that I get that company to put that in writing, so I asked them. They said yes and then gave me the run around. Somewhere in there I think we had a conference call with the city with the contractor and at that time he agreed to have an engineer come out and assess the property and then he would put it into writing. The city and I are still waiting. I have reached out to him a few more times. No response. Engineer never came. I called additional companies. I believe I have 4 bids. 2 were in email/writing and 2 in text message with numbers from the contractor.

From what I can remember I have a text bid of $10,000 Hodge Masonry. Another for $21-24,000. A written estimate of $91,000 Building restoration corp. And another in the $40k range. Obviously you would think to go with the lowest bid but Ive been there and done that it doesnt typically work out. Also companies are scheduling project far out. I should say these bids are to fix the problem area and to tuck point other areas of the brick siding.

In the mean time I heard of a program called the St Paul Neighborhood STAR program, where businesses can apply for grants and loans. I started this process quite a while ago. I had expected a decision by now but after speaking with them within the last 2 weeks I was notified that they wont be making decisions until mid July but from there final approvals wont be made until potentially end of August. I was hoping to get approved for this program to help with the funds needed. I wont have that decision for a while now so it is hard to move forward. I can assure you that the brick area under question is safe and secure. It has not changed, dropped or moved. The program will not help with project that start prior to approval. So I am stuck hoping and wishing they approve me.

I would like to get on a companies schedule but until I know how I am going to pay for it its hard to pick a company and move forward.

Please let me know what I missed and I will gladly get you that information.
