30 APC 12-6 Public hearing to consider the appeal of the District 6 Planning Council to a decision of the Planning Commission approving a conditional use permit for Volunteers of America-MN to operate a Department of Corrections-licensed community residential facility at 1394 Jackson Street.

Councilmember Brendmoen requested short staff report. She asked that both public hearings be conducted in their entirety before the Council members made their decisions.

Allan Torstenson, Planning and Economic Development (PED), said a conditional use permit, with a modification of the condition pertaining to the number of residents, had been approved by the Planning Commission on June 1. He said the Planning Commission found that the use met all of the applicable standards and conditions but one, which limited the number of residents to 16 except in B4 and B5 business districts, where 32 residents was the maximum. He said Volunteers of America (VOA) had applied for a modification of the condition to allow up to 74 residents. He said the Planning Commission found that the applicable conditions were met to allow a modification for 32 residents but not for 74. He reviewed the two appeals.

Appellant:

Kerry Antrim, District 6 Planning Council, read a statement. She expressed concerns about residential use of a property that was in the middle of an industrial area and had not had a residential use in a long time. She said the decision might come down to interpretation of the policies set forth in the District 6 Plan and the City's Comprehensive Plan.

Karen Hauck, CEO of Advance Shoring, displayed an aerial photograph of the adjacent properties, and expressed concerns about a residential use next to her company's very industrial use.

Kirsten Libby, attorney representing District 6, said the appeal was based on errors in the findings of fact and in procedure. She reviewed the Volunteers of America (VOA) proposal and the effects upon adjacent properties and conflicts with the existing plans. She said the standards for the conditional use permit had not been met; she reviewed the errors and conflicts.

In opposition:

Tom Johnson, attorney representing VOA, said the proposal was to move an existing and successful program to a building designed for institutional residential use and designed to accommodate more residents than proposed. In response to points raised by Ms. Libby, he said the proposal was consistent with goal of job creation, and he stressed the distinction between family residential and institutional. He said the code allowed the institutional use.

Councilmember Brendmoen moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 6 Nays - 0

- 31 APC 12-7 Public hearing to consider the appeal of Volunteers of America-MN to a decision of the Planning Commission approving a conditional use permit for Volunteers of America-MN to operate a Department of Corrections-licensed community residential facility at 1394 Jackson Street.

Appellant:

Paula Hart (7625 Metro Boulevard, Edina), President and CEO of Volunteers of America (VOA) in Minnesota, described the organization. She said they were appealing to the Council to follow the wisdom of City staff, who had diligently guided VOA through the application process and followed the City's rules and precedent in making their determination. She said in connection with the conditional use permit, VOA-Minnesota would commit to paying the City an annual amount equal to the City portion of the property taxes levied at 1394 Jackson Street, would grant the City first right of refusal if VOA-Minnesota offered the property for sale, and would not sell the property as a community residential facility should the City choose not to exercise its right of first refusal.

Teri Twardowski, program manager of the Roseville location, described the program and goals.

Lance Petschl, past resident, described his experiences and the ways in which he had benefited from his time at the Roseville facility.

Tom Johnson, attorney representing VOA, said there was no dispute that VOA had met the legal standard for an upward modification. He said the limit of 32 residents was chosen arbitrarily, based on the fact that one of the Planning Commissioners knew that 32 was the limit for downtown facilities. He said the contract between the VOA and the Bureau of Prisons required a capacity of 74 residents, and a capacity of less than 74 was not economically sustainable for the VOA.

Kerry Antrim (District 6 Planning Council) said no one was disputing that the VOA ran a stellar program. She said it was rational and reasonable to allow 16 residents as per the code.

Kirsten Libby, attorney representing District 6, reiterated that the issue was land use and not VOA. She asked that the City overturn the conditional use permit, or at least limit the facility to 16 beds. She said they were asking that this industrial land be allowed to be developed in a way consistent with existing plans.

Dick, Jackson Street resident, expressed concern about loss of property value, the loss of needed industrial land, and the effect on the lives of long term residents of the area.

Councilmember Brendmoen moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 6 Nays - 0

Councilmember Brendmoen thanked everyone for their work, and acknowledged District 6 and neighbors. She commended the VOA on their work. She said based on information in the record and after consultation with the City Attorney's office, her finding was that the that Planning Commission had erred in finding that the application met the City's standards for approving a conditional use permit. She cited specific sections of the code and comprehensive plans in explaining her decision.

Council President Lantry commended Councilmember Brendmoen on her work.

LEGISLATIVE HEARING ITEMS REQUIRING DISCUSSION

Items 114 and 116 were considered together at the beginning of the Legislative Hearings.

114 RLH VO

Appeal of Southern Minnesota Regional Legal Services (SMRLS), on behalf of several tenants, to a Notice of Condemnation and Order to Vacate at 1205 WESTMINSTER AVENUE.

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond reviewed the past Council action on the properties and described the current appeals. She said there was agreement among all parties that the conditions described in the orders did exist, and the question was whether the conditions supported an order to vacate. She noted that the condemnation of the balconies had been part of earlier orders. She said conditions had not changed significantly since January, and she described the change in ownership and management. She said the owner decided in late May that the work couldn't be done piecemeal, and the City issued orders to vacate by July 1. She expressed concern about what appeared to be continued use of the condemned balconies, and said she didn't believe conditions would improve since the owner and property management had indicated that they would not continue with piecemeal work. She said her recommendation was to order the properties vacated by July 9, and the appellant was asking for an extension in order to pursue a other legal remedies. She said an emergency tenant remedy action had been filed and a hearing scheduled for July 12, but that hearing was between the tenants and property owner and dealt with lease obligations.

In opposition:

Appellant Tovah Flygare (55 E. 5th Street, Ste. 400), Southern Minnesota Regional Legal Services (SMRLS), appeared along with a number of building tenants. Ms. Flygare reviewed the appeal and emphasized that tenants were not "asking for the moon" but were asking for their basic legal rights. She said the filing of the tenant remedies action had resulted in a favorable order, and a vacate date of July 9 date would not allow time for that legal process to be completed. In response to a question from Councilmember Thune, she said fewer than ten households remained, several with small children.

Councilmember Tolbert asked whether the tenants were looking for more time to find new housing or were asking for more time to allow repairs to be made at so they could continue to live there. Ms. Flygare said they were asking for additional time to enforce their legal rights under the law, and there were several alternative remedies in the order signed by the judge. Councilmember Carter asked for further clarification of the legal rights being pursued by the tenants. Ms Flygare said she was asking for time for the tenants to complete the emergency remedies action that had been filed.

Council President Lantry asked what date they were asking for. Ms. Flygare said August 1.

Councilmember Thune said he was still not clear as to whether the goal was to find new housing or make repairs so the tenants could remain. Ms. Flygare said both were possible remedies.

Tenant Aurelia (via interpreter) said she was present to tell about threats and abuses from Equimax (property management company). She shared an anecdote of intimidation by management and described deteriorating conditions with the new ownership.

Council President Lantry reminded those giving testimony that the issue before the Council was the condition of the apartments, and not issues with the management which would be addressed through the court system.

Leslie McMurray, Executive Director of the District 5 Planning Council, said she felt that comments by the tenants did speak to conditions at the apartments.

Additional tenants gave testimony (via interpreters) about conditions at the apartments, intimidation from management, and they requested help from Council.

Jane Prince (1004 Burns Avenue), appearing as East Sider and volunteer, distributed a letter. She said the building situation had not changed since December when the Council decided not to condemn or order vacation, and that the Council did not have to order condemnation and vacation of all units now.

Al Oertwig (509 Fred Street), President of the District 5 Planning Council, said District 5 wanted two things: safe living conditions and protection of residents while repairs are being made. He said there had been no rush over the past few years to correct conditions at the property, but there appeared to be a rush now to remove the residents, potentially making some of them homeless. He asked the Council to grant more time.

Ms. McMurray, made closing comments about the behavior of the management and conditions at the property. She said displacement of the tenants would not improve health and safety of the community.

(The vote on this item was taken following testimony on Item 115.)

Items 115 and 117 were considered together.

115 RLH VO

Appeal of Peter W. Brown, on behalf of several tenants, to a Notice of Condemnation and Order to Vacate at 1205 WESTMINSTER STREET.

Peter Brown, clarified that the appellants were 18 residents, including some residents who had already testified. He distributed materials related to orders issued earlier, and said at that time it was determined both in Legislative Hearings and City Council that adequate progress was being made. Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond clarified that those materials were already a part of the record.

Pablo Tapia (3840 Patriot Lane, Lexington) said he was a cofounder of an alliance of Latino-speaking churches and had learned of the conditions at the apartment from renters who attended churches in the organization. He said they found the worsening living conditions troublesome, and felt that the conditions were the fault of the management and not the tenants. On behalf of the organization, he demanded that the tenants be give enough time and be given the dignity and respect they deserved.

Mr. Brown said the condemnation order put the power of the City behind the management's push to get the tenants out, when the City could have been using that power on behalf of the tenants with an emergency tenant remedies action (ETRA). He said the City was now interfering with the ETRA filed by SMRLS, and the purpose of the housing code was to protect these poor and mostly minority residents and not to push them out through gentrification. He said conditions were the same on June 1 as they had been on May 8 and May 18, and the property was not deemed condemnable on May 8.

Leslie McMurray, District 5, asked for short extension to allow tenants to be relocated through the legal actions.

Mr. Brown said the decks had been used for 30 years and a board had never cracked. He said the decks had been condemned on February 17, but Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI) inspectors had noted apparent use of the decks since then and it didn't appear that anyone really believed the decks represented an immediate threat.

In support:

Wade Shatzer (1161 Wayzata Boulevard, #312, Wayzata), owner of property management company Equimax Real Estate, said only six families remained of the 45 who were there are on May 1. He said they, along with some charitable organizations, had been working tirelessly to help tenants find new housing, and at this point there was no excuse. He said they had found it wasn't possible to fix things with the units occupied, and they had acted quickly so moves could take place in the summer before school started. He said the goal was to make the property an asset.

Councilmember Brendmoen moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 5 Nays - 0 (Carter not present for vote)

Councilmember Brendmoen thanked residents and City staff, and reviewed conditions and activity at properties since January. She said it was not safe for tenants to remain in a building that was largely vacant, but she was committed to helping the remaining tenants relocate.

Councilmember Carter said the Council's responsibility was to the tenants not the property, and in this case that meant helping them move on.

Councilmember Tolbert commended CM Brendmoen on her work. He said the time was now to move forward and get the tenants out of the poor conditions.

Councilmember Thune agreed that sometimes buildings reached the point where it was not possible to make necessary repairs with tenants in residence. He suggested an extension to the end of July.

Council President Lantry said the Council's desire to avoid displacing tenants in the winter and before the holidays had resulted worsening conditions and the current situation. She said property management company gave notice for June 30, and the City was not responsible for the decisions of the tenants. She said great efforts were made to give the tenants support in making the transition, but the temptation to grant a little more time was tempered by the possibility of tragedy due to unsafe conditions. She suggested one vote on items 114 - 117.

Councilmember Thune asked for clarification of what would happen if tenants were still in residence on July 9.

DSI Director Ricardo Cervantes said inspectors would go out and ask for assistance from police to remove anyone remaining.

Councilmember Thune said he still felt that after working on the issue this long, the Council should grant an extension to July 31.

Councilmember Bostrom said he didn't think anything would be different on July 31.

Councilmember Brendmoen expressed concern about the City's liability should something happen between July 9 and 31. She moved to deny the appeals.

Ordering the rehabilitation or razing and removal of the structures at 482 STINSON STREET within fifteen (15) days after the June 20, 2012, City Council Public Hearing. (Public hearing held June 20; laid over from July 3)

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said HUD had not informed the buyer (appellant) of the order to abate a nuisance building, and the appellant had begun work on the property without pulling permits. She said her biggest concern was the lack of an adequate work plan. She displayed a photo of the property, and said the department estimate for rehabilitation was upwards of $75,000. She said given the property owner's difficulty in meeting basic requirements, she was not confident the rehabilitation could be completed successfully, and she recommended ordering removal or repair within 15 days.

At Councilmember Carter's and Council President Lantry's request, Ms. Moermond clarified that the house was a Category 3 vacant building and had an order to abate a nuisance property at the time the appellant purchased it, and that information was not disclosed by HUD.

In opposition:

Lionel Mendez, subcontractor, said they had completed 70% of repairs to the house, and the only thing stopping them was that they couldn't get plumbing and electrical permits. He said they were asking for the opportunity to get permits so the work could be completed. He said everything would be done to code. He provided photographs.

Thomas Garcia, property owner, appeared and affirmed the points made by Mr. Mendez.

Councilmember Carter moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 6 Nays - 0

After consulting with Ms. Moermond, Councilmember Carter moved to lay the matter over for two weeks to allow the owner time to provide more detailed bids and financial information, and to have an inspector out to check work already done.
