Councilmember Thune announced that Item 46, the Cossetta's issue, would be continued for two weeks with the agreement of the appellant.

20 RES PH
12-183

Approving the application of the Metropolitan Council for a sound level variance to allow Central Corridor Light Rail construction between 6:00 AM and 12:00 midnight from March 8, 2012 to November 30, 2012 along University Avenue from Hamline Avenue to Robert Street.

Bill Gunther, Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI), said they had received one letter in opposition.

Paul Niskanen (1142 Sherburne Avenue) said the ordinance would be detrimental to those who live close to University, especially those with young children and those who don't have air conditioning and have to keep their windows open. He said the noise woke them at 7:00, and if work continued until midnight it would leave only six hours for his kids to sleep. For families living along the corridor, some other solution should be sought.

Councilmember Carter moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 6 Nays - 0

Councilmember Carter asked about contractor compliance with previous limitations on the type of work that could continue until midnight.

John Maczko, Public Works, said the Met Council had held the contractor to those commitments and they had not seen or heard of any concerns or violations. He said staff was not concerned if the Council wanted to reduce the number of occurrences, and noted that approval from the Councilmember's office, Public Works, and DSI was required for permits which kept the contractors on a "pretty tight rein."

Councilmember Carter said heard about neighbor reports of noise continuing past midnight. Mr. Maczko said there were reports of noise past midnight on two occasions, but the contractor and their subs were not working at that time.

Councilmember Carter said he shared the concerns about noise, but also about getting the construction completed. He introduced an amendment to limit the number of occurrences to 15 rather than 45, and said if more were needed the contractor and Met Council could come back to the Council.

Council President Lantry asked whether there should be a public hearing on the amended version. Deputy City Attorney Gerald Hendrickson said that wasn't necessary, but he noted that the issue would have to be noticed again if it came back before the Council for additional occurrences to be added. Council President Lantry and Councilmember Carter said that was the intent.

Councilmember Carter moved to approve the resolution as amended.

Approving the application of Jarret Oulman for a sound level variance in order to use a P. A. sound system and amplified music from 4:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. on June 22, July 6, 13, 20, 27, August 3, 10, 17, 24, & 31, 2012 at Ecolab Plaza on Wabasha between 5th & 6th Streets. (Public hearing continued from June 20)

Tim Yohnk, Ecolab, said they had just become aware of this and they had to object to it at this time. He said they were concerned about the noise, trash, building security, and crowd control, and had questions about the time. He said 1,400 people leave work at approximately 5:00 p.m. He asked about plans for extra trash and for crowd control, and said they wanted to make sure there a proper corporate image was maintained.

Councilmember Thune moved to continue the public hearing for two weeks.

Council President Lantry noted that the first event was on the 22nd. Councilmember Thune responded that they would not make it then.

Council President Lantry reiterated that the first event was in two days. She asked whether the questions could be addressed in that time.

Mr. Yohnk said they would be happy to work it out. He said the notice was not delivered to the right place, so they did not find out until the day before.

Council President Lantry asked why Ecolab was not notified. Bill Gunther, Department of Safety and Inspections, responded it probably went to the wrong person in Ecolab.

Councilmember Thune moved to continue the public hearing to July 3.

Approving the petition of Eugene Woitas to vacate a portion of platted, unimproved Sims Avenue abutting 1499 Sims Avenue. (Public hearing held June 20; laid over from June 27)

In opposition:

Robert Mercado (376 Grove Street) said he was speaking on behalf of Mr. Prokott. He said they opposed it because a privacy fence was installed close to the house and Mr. Prokott had a disabled sister who used Metro Mobility and had to be carried from the back to the front. He said the property was used for cars prior to the fence being installed. As a retired police officer, he felt it was a huge liability for the City not to allow the fence to be there. He said he drove a Ford Edge and could not get through. He did not have a problem with the fence going up, but physically getting a vehicle in there was impossible.

Jerome Prokott (1512 Sims Avenue) stated this property does not have to be vacated, and if it were vacated, he wanted to have a chance to have it. He said with the fence up, the bus could not pick up his sister, and he didn't know why the City allowed the fence.

Councilmember Bostrom moved to close the public hearing and lay the matter over for one week.

44 APC 12-2

Public hearing to consider the appeal of Tammy and Mike Thomas to a decision of the Planning Commission approving the site plan for a 20-unit apartment building at 2124 Grand Avenue.

Tom Beech, Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI), gave a staff report. He said the Planning Commission approved the site plan with seven conditions on a 15 to 1 vote. He noted that the developer had withdrawn his appeal. He displayed a map of the area and said most was zoned single family but there was a mix of properties along Grand. He displayed architect's drawings and described the plan. He said zoning permitted the 50' building height although there were some questions about how the height was measured. He said the zoning code required 40 parking spaces; 37 were underground and three were off the alley. He said there would be 20 apartments, each with four bedrooms.

Councilmember Thune asked about other apartments in the area. Mr. Beech indicated locations on the map and said none were as tall as that proposed. He said none met the parking requirement because they had been there for a number of years.

Mr. Beech provided further description of the plan. He said the Macalester Groveland Community Council recommended that the City Council deny the appeal, and the City had received 50 letters or emails in opposition.

For the appellant:

Rita Cooper (2129 Lincoln Avenue) said she and (appellant) Tammy Thomas lived across the alley from the proposed site. She said they disagreed that the site plan met the zoning code, and felt it violated some technical provisions. She showed a drawing and noted that the open parking ramp with no green space was being counted as setback, and an elevated area on top of the underground parking, covered by a thin layer of grass and sod, was also being counted as setback. She said the tenants could not use that area as green space because it would damage the roof. She said their primary argument had to do with the proposed building's effect on their properties. She stated that the zoning code required that the arrangement of buildings and uses must not unreasonably affect abutting properties, and the Planning Commission must ensure protection of adjacent neighboring properties against aspects of the design which would have a substantial effect on those properties.

Tammy Thomas (2135 Lincoln Avenue) said this will be behind the apartment where she lives with her husband and 3 kids. Most of the students are good kids. They are temporary and have nothing invested. To think she could have 80 college kids near is frightening. The neighborhood is desperate and pleading for your help.

Rita Cooper showed a photo of what it will look like in her backyard. It is towering over her backyard. It will have 80 students. Students keep different hours, stereos, noise. People tell her she has to move. (She showed a diagram of what it looks like.) She has a petition of 100 people who agree this is unreasonable. She came up to close to 70 letters. She is flummoxed by the decision of the Planning Commission. Does not know how Mac Groveland comes up with this. There are options and alternatives.

Pete Cooper (2129 Lincoln Avenue) stated this is a true picture of the proposal. This is an off campus private dormitory. (He showed a diagram of a typical apartment.) The developer since March said this is not a dorm. This is based on demand for rent. What matters is who is going to live here. There will be students and 80 of them. Planning did not have detail of what this is all about. (Showed a diagram of the apartments.) On the title page, it says Grand Avenue student housing. This is a dorm. Would a family rent out a four bedroom apartment like this? There are zoning code requirements for public dormitories, but not private. This was placed under the multiple family land use zoning code. It would be better to characterize as a dormitory, but it is not owned by the university. Zoning deals with the use of the land and not the ownership of the land. The zoning code does have provisions for these unique situations where a specific use is not mentioned in the code. This is a similar use. They are asking for the City Council to see this as a student dorm. He asked the Council to reduce the scale and density, such as reducing the number of stories and requiring features that would attract tenants besides students.

Brian Fogarty (2166 Lincoln Avenue) showed a diagram. He and his wife lived here for 18 years. He showed a diagram with the restrictions placed on the University of St. Thomas in 2004 when it applied to expand its campus. The building clearly violates the notion of a transition zone. Even UST would not be permitted to build this building. A profit developer expects to get around these restrictions. This should not be permitted.

Dan Chapman (2161 Lincoln Avenue) said this is not a student need. The students all have some place to live right now. It is a desire for a developer to profit off those students. He is not anti student. He lives near students now. This is not in my back yard. It should not be built anywhere.

Council President Lantry said we are already over time. We will now hear from those in opposition to the appeal.

Graham Merry, developer, said he will address the aspects for the appeal. Heights, setback, density, and parking. He explained some definitions. (Showed photos.) The existing property is a plateau. The appeal claims this property is too tall. Despite this mistake, they have worked with architects, engineers, and Tom Beech to lower the height. The appeal says it does not meet setback requirements. The retaining wall is not part of the building: it is a decorative landscaping feature and separate from the building. The City and neighborhoods complained about water drainage, so he changed that sloping hill, which added quite an expense to the plan. Concerns were raised about the density. It is determined by a straightforward formula in the City code. If there was not a bonus for underground parking, it would be cost prohibitive. Concerns were raised about the dimensions of the underground parking spaces. Underground parking is measured by the center of adjacent building and not outside edge. This has been a longstanding policy in Saint Paul. The Penfield development utilizes the same measurement method. There are no development standards that this plan fails to meet. City staff and Planning Commission have confirmed this. The other aspects from the appeal is distracting from the fact that this building is a permitted use and allowable development. He is not asking for any variance, any conditional use permits, and is not asking for any loopholes in code. He is not affiliated with St. Thomas. He is a private developer using private financing on private property. He is not party to the 2004 conditional use permit. The conditional use is only established for the conditional use for the property it is granted. It is suggested that this building is a dormitory. It has a close proximity to St. Thomas. If proximity were factored in to defining this as a dormitory, then the restaurants in the area frequented by students are cafeterias. Many tenants will be students, but that is a result of location. This building will have a desirable location for various reasons: access to transportation lines and proximity to campus. It will be desirable for students tenants. I also think this is a good option for managing students instead of spreading them out to houses. Many people discussed a different hearing on the housing ordinance. Single family homes and duplexes are at the heart of the issue. There should be options that students prefer to live in. He is sympathetic to the challengers and struggle this neighborhood has endured over the years. The concerns of the site plan are from a motivated and outspoken minority group. They claim to defend the neighborhood, but only put forward their own interests. The official statement put forward from the Mac Groveland Community Council advises you to deny this appeal. He values their opinion and demonstrated this by withdrawing his appeal of parking requirements. City staff has approved this site plan and Mac Groveland has asked the Council to deny this appeal. This building is not part of the problem, but part of the solution for change and improvement in the neighborhood.

Thune asked did they reduce the height. Rob Howard responded they had one point had it measured from the platform of the garage roof and it was 8 inches taller than it is now. They whittled it down a bit. It was 8 inches taller then it is now. It is now compliant with the 50 food elevation.

Stark moved to close the public hearing.

5 in favor, one opposed - Public hearing is closed

Stark said this is a tough issue. There are a lot of residents concerned about the proposal. He would like to thank everyone who came out tonight. On a factual level, he does not see a basis to grant the appeal. The proposed development is allowed. This may be a use we have not dealt with before. It is clearly not a dorm. It could relieve some of the pressures of students renting. The next item is the ordinance, in which they limit the density. They are trying to address this issue. For the University conditional use permit, the appellants laid out the reason, but the developer is right that it does not apply to him. The west summit neighborhood said they should look at zoning. They want taller buildings in mid block and shorter on the corners. That is not relative to the decision before us tonight. The zoning is what it is.

Stark moved to deny the appeal.

Lantry asked those in support in the audience to stand.

Thune said that this is such a bad proposal. The City has done an incredible disservice to the community if there is not a reason to turn this down. It is illogical and a terrible shame. It is clearly a dormitory. It should not be in a residential neighborhood. It should comply with heights, setbacks. It will not be good for the college, neighborhood.

45 Ord 12-34 Amending Legislative Code Chapter 67 pertaining to student rental housing.

Stark read his amendment. They would define student occupancy in one of two family units as you rented to students at least one year in the last three.

Stark moved the amendment.

5 in favor, none opposed - Amendment is approved

Josh Williams, PED, conducted a study looking at the issue to owner occupied to rental. This was an action last year by the Council. They did the study in April. The study and recommended ordinance was made public. The moratorium was one year and expired in August. They looked at the issue of student housing overall. Student housing does differ from owner occupied to rental as a whole. Some of the issues are aggravated by poor behavior on the students. There are other recommendations coming out of that study. The ordinance itself is a student housing overlay district. (He explained the ordinance.) This applies only to single family houses. Existing student houses would not be effected. Substantial written testimony was received on both sides.

Lantry said they will hear from those in support first.

Joel Clemmer (2154 Fairmount Avenue), president of Macalester Groveland City Council, said they came out strongly in favor for this ord. In the study, they came up with some data. It is a graph of the on campus student enrollment. (showed a graph) The total has now leveled off. A higher portion of the students are undergraduates. Before the 1990's, there was harmony with the university. They are dealing with undergraduates. There is a demand for housing, concentrated along the university.

Alyssa Rebensdorf (2096 Lincoln Avenue) stated this is nuisance behavior. They should call St. Thomas and the police. If calls to the police and working with student leaders at the Univ. would solve the problem, they would not be here now. She is asking the Council to walk in their shoes.

Appellant at 1892 Ashland spoke about several houses in the neighborhood that had problems. Jay Benanav was so frustrated that he ran for city council. Their neighborhood is in decline. This is not a global indictment of all students. Everyone is suffering if any neighborhood has problems. They are all lifting people up.

Shaun McElhatton (1879 Carroll Avenue) stated radius restrictions is unusual and unenforceable. There is a certain category of usage that can overload a neighborhood. The answer is a radius restriction, such as bingo hall, liquor licenses, pawn shops, tobacco shops, etc. She urges the Council to adopt the ordinance.

Scott Banis, West Summit Neighborhood Advisory Committee, stated the fear is that without action they will gaze upon the homes and streets. There is still time and hope that they will prevent the crime with the continued conversion of single family homes. They support the proposed concentration ordinance. They will help in the continued inhabitants. Existing trends point to more convergence. The future of the neighborhoods is in large measure dependent on the proposed ord. It is good public policy.

Valerie Cripe stated they do not live in the proposed zone. They are house hunting and considered a home on Lincoln. They are looking for a home to live, grow family.

She is concerned about the density of student housing. Many of the people would choose not to stay if they had to. They are looking for the peace and enjoyment to the home. They are looking for an adult neighborhood.

James Savoie (2023 Lincoln Avenue) said They are not expanding on the dormitories. He has had some theft, vandalism. There seems to be nothing done. They are not trying to exclude the people. It has always been a good mix.

Dana Welebski (2150 Fairmount Avenue) said she was a student at St. Thomas. (She talked about where she lived.) They remodel homes. They have students on their street. They have seen what housing conditions have become. This would keep the neighborhood stable. We need to focus on family and seniors and consider them as well as the students.

Doug Dennis, Government Relations at St. Thomas, stated they value their presence in an attractive neighborhood. They understand the concerns that there is too much rental housing. They cannot support the ordinance. It unfairly singles out St. Thomas. They are the largest university in Saint Paul. Throughout this process, they urge the City to look at all colleges in Saint Paul and not just St. Thomas. The issue of student housing should be dealt with on a city-wide level. If a density ordinance is considered good public policy, then it should be applied to all colleges. There should be a minimum of 100 feet between student housing instead of 150 feet. They are not in a position to borrow funds now: they reached their debt capacity building the student center, recreational complex, and parking ramp. They vigorously oppose sophomores living on campus. This would hurt their recruitment efforts. 60% come from the Twin Cities area. Students need the flexibility of living on or off campus.

Rhys Ledger (1440 Wellesley Avenue) said they do not need downward pressure on real estate values. Families are already struggling to hold onto their homes. St. Thomas is one of five in the area. The idea that somehow this issue of student housing is unique, is inaccurate. There is a strong pressure of student housing in the other institutions. St. Thomas students are a vital part of the community. Balance is important. He understands that is the give and take of living in the area. In terms of the boundaries, they are arbitrary. The City does not think there is a problem in other area, they are not looking. It is a short car ride if necessary. This is a problem that needs to be fixed. There needs to be more dorms and fewer parking decks.

Eric Meyers, realtors, stated they are in opposition of the mechanism in this ordinance. The gov. affairs committee has looked at this ordinance and understand the complaints of the community. For them, it comes down to the property rights to all property owners. When they purchase a house, they are buying the house and the rights to sell. One right is to let property to rent. These are residents for the youth. The lifestyle is different, but the zoning use of a rental property--non homestead versus homesteaded property--is no different. It will be a problem with enforceability. He feels the problems with the neighbors, but this will not change the demand for student housing. Enrollment is the same. People are going to live near campus. This ordinance does not solve the issue. They request that the actual solution is going to be better coordination between the students, the university, landlord, and the community.

Steven Strand (226 Wilder Street North) attorney, realtor, said this will not hit the mark. Homeowners want their full bucket of rights. The study brought up other areas. What he has read and seen is there will be lawsuits against the City and animosity in the neighbors. Student fall under protected classes. He manages four other apartments in the past. Perhaps the Council could use curfews. They could congregate in groups of four or more. Maybe cannot drive after a certain time.

David Doran (1832 Carroll Avenue and 1232 Laurel Avenue) stated he owns two rental properties in the area. He does not feel this ordinance will solve the problem. Everyone has to be held responsible. He has called the police. Landlords need to be held responsible. This ordinance will push this issue to a neighboring community.

Dr. Angelette stated this ordinance does not pertain to her. At some point, she will want to sell her house. She bought it as a student. It was a student house when she bought it. There are some basics the students need to learn. She has a problem with the roving groups of students.

Jason Scott (1491 Mississippi Street) owns property in the zoning area. All of them are duplexes. He rents to people. He does not delegate whether they are a student. He rents to 34 students, and some of them stay beyond graduation for 2 or 3 years while they work. It is a personal behavior problem and not a zoning. He does not believe any of the duplexes have problems. He works with the university and police to address the problems. He does this full time. Not every landlord is the same. He has invested hundreds of thousands in the upkeep of his property. His property taxes are high because they are nonhomesteaded.

Tait Danielson, stated he works in Downtown, this issue has peaked the issue of his board of directors.

Lantry said that he could not continue, as time has run out.

Someone moved to close the public hearing - 5 in favor, none opposed

Lantry asked those in support of the ordinance to stand.

Lantry asked those in opposition of the ordinance to stand.

Lantry stated this is the third reading.

Stark said he sponsored this ordinance. He does not take the concerns in opposition likely. They are working effectively to manage behavior. They have good cooperation with the police department. They are trying to hold people who hold parties responsible. There is a separate issue and a concentration of impact. This is a unique use when you put a concentration of a community of folks in the neighborhood. As for doing it for the rest of the City, the other complaints are scattered. 90% are around St. Thomas. About 60% are in the zoning. He feels they have targeted the area where the issue is unique. The concern about pushing the problem outward, the existing properties would be grandfathered in. The changes would be moderate and gradual. This would stabilize things. The University of St. Thomas needs to house more students on campus.

Thune said there are other cities that help them build dormitories and houses on campus. That might be a good fit.

Deanne Tambornino stated this has been a nightmare. She is asking for leniency to get insurance on board to getting demolition started. It has been a financial strain to deal with this. Ratiofing the Appealed Special Tax Assessment for Real Estate Project No. J1201V1, Assessment No. 128001 at 858 DESOTO STREET. (Public Hearing held on May 16, 2012)

Moermond stated this is a vehicle abatement. The orders were originally issued for 2 vehicles. The 2 vehicles were inoperable and missing key parts, no current tabs, under tarps. There was a car and truck. The charges for the towing and storage, subtract from that the money the City received from the sell, towing, storage, admin. fees, minus the cost at auction. She recommend the payments be divided over 5 years.

Owner said he bought the property in 2001. He put a lot into it. Then, the bottom dropped out. He went into 2 foreclosures. He got out of them. The 2 vehicles he talked about, the primary concern was to keep the house. He has plates for the vehicles. He has the receipts for the plates on the Camaro. He talked to the hearing officer about the Camaro. He showed there were no tickets on the Camaro. He has storage on his garage. He moved everything out of storage. He did not have the money to redo the truck. If he brought the truck back, it would be towed again. The house went down $100,000. He is doing everything he can to keep the house.

12-260*Appeal of Jennifer Vietmeier to a Correction Notice-Complaint
Inspection at 1865 COTTAGE AVENUE EAST.

Moermond said the item of contention is the ceiling height. The room is 6 by 22 feet long. There is a peaked roof. There is a small percentage above 6 foot 7. The requirement is ½ of the floor area needs to be above 7 feet. This falls way short. She recommends denying the appeal.

Lantry said it cannot be used as a bedroom. Moermond responded it is for sleeping purposes, yes. Technically, the code does not differentiate, but they do in these settings.

Jennifer Vietmeier stated she installed an egress window, which cost $1,000. She was unaware of the ceiling height requirement. She had a provisional certificate of occupancy. Her sole purpose of renting the home was to avoid foreclosure. It is not financially preferable to continue renting it as a 3 bedroom. For it to be a 2 bedroom is a hardship. She owes several hundred more than what she takes in as rent. She is confused why it has come up at this time. Her husband is 6 feet tall and he had no problem with it. She has done her due diligence. She is interested in trying to hang onto it. She feels she should be granted a variance.

*Bostrom moved to close the public hearing.
5 in favor, none opposed - Public hearing is closed*

Stark said it went through one or more inspections prior to the ceiling height being raised. Moermond asked has she gone through an inspection before. Vietmeier responded said she had a provisional put into it.

Brendmoen stated she pulled permit, built it, it was inspected several times. Moermond responded she only looked at this issue. There was a fire inspection in 2011 and that inspection did not list the ceiling height as an issue.

Bostrom said maybe it was not considered as a bedroom back then. It may not have been listed as a bedroom when it was originally inspected.

Brendmoen stated she has a problem with the City approving these things and then changing later. She feels a certain amount of sympathy.

Bostrom moved to accept the recommendation of the Legislative Hearing Officer.
