Project Overview

This application seeks funding for the continuation of an auto theft prevention strategy that the St. Paul Police Department was able to initiate and grow during the previous Auto Theft Prevention Program grant cycles. Under previous grants, the St. Paul Police Department was able to purchase and deploy nine (9) License Plate Recognition units which, in concert with our investigative strategies, coordination with the Juvenile and Special Investigations (SIU) units, training, and special detection/enforcement/education details have provided a substantial positive impact on our ability to combat auto theft crimes. In order to maintain the LPR program, future funds will be required to maintain the equipment, continue wireless service and provide overtime to fund LPR details when the activities require an extension of the normal eight-hour workday or have to be scheduled outside the normal work week to accommodate the detail.

Funding is also requested to expand, improve and support the department's "bait car" program. Bait car programs in other cities have proven to be an effective tool in the apprehension and prosecution of auto thieves, as well as a deterrent once the program becomes widely known to exist. Successful programs have a variety of bait cars at their disposal. They also have the ability to replace vehicles and/or modify the appearance of their vehicles, so that the vehicles are not recognized by auto thieves. The St. Paul Police Department currently has two (2) bait cars in service. Both are rather generic vehicles with limited appeal for auto thieves. Grant money will be used to improve the program by funding a coordinator position, providing for program garage space, allowing the acquisition of more units and to diversify the fleet. Overtime money will be used to allow officers and investigators to work outside their normal working hours for bait car details and follow-up investigations.

The department's ability to purchase and fund these strategies on its own has suffered correspondingly with state and local budget cuts resulting from the economic conditions faced on the state and national level. This reality means this grant is necessary for the department to be able to continue and improve its auto theft reduction and prevention efforts, as well as providing the department the ability to adapt to changing auto theft trends and issues as they arise.

II. Needs Assessment/Planning Process

The City of St. Paul covers 56.16 square miles with a combined population of 273,535 according to the 2006 population estimate by the United States Census Bureau. In 2007, there were 2,076 vehicles stolen in the City of St. Paul. During the following two (2) years, the number of automobiles stolen decreased each year to a low of 1,789 in 2009. This represents a decrease of 14% from 2007 to 2009. In 2010, that number rose to 2053 auto thefts reported. Unfortunately, this upward trend returns the city to the 2007 rate and shows a 14.8% increase from 2009. The auto theft per capita rose from 6.2 per 1000 people in 2009 to 7.1 per 1000 people in 2010.

The St. Paul Auto Theft Unit is staffed by three full-time investigators who work exclusively on auto theft related crimes. The St. Paul Juvenile Unit, Special Investigations Unit (SIU) and Gang Unit also conduct auto theft-related investigations with an offender-specific orientation: The Juvenile Unit deals with youthful offenders while SIU looks primarily at organized crime activity involving outlaw motorcycle gangs. Intelligence gathered by SIU investigators, during auto theft-related investigations, often is used to prevent or solve other serious crimes. Their investigators are also extremely important for their analysis and intelligence gathering capabilities. Our Gang Unit assists the other units when the investigation shows that there are street gang ties. These four units work together, focusing on crime activity involving stolen automobiles and its related perpetrators.

In St. Paul, auto thieves favor particular makes and models of cars. The Honda Civic and Honda Accord consistently rank on our "top 5" list, followed by the Toyota Camry, Acura Integra, and either the Buick Century or the Dodge Caravan. A large number of auto thefts occur in a specific group of relatively small, identifiable geographical areas of St. Paul. These "hot spots" include the downtown area, the North End area, the Thomas-Dale neighborhood and the Summit-University neighborhood. Many of the Hondas and Acuras are stolen from parking lots such as those located at public housing and retail outlets. Some of these are harvested of parts and left abandoned by the suspects who operate mobile "chop shops" in vacant garages and other secluded locations. Recently, arrested auto theft suspects have described how organized rings gather orders for specific vehicles or parts. They then literally "go shopping" for vehicles that will fulfill those orders. Much of this is fueled by the racing crowd who are looking for vehicles and parts to build their racers. Many of our stolen automobiles are found abandoned in other jurisdictions, including in other states. Conversely, we are finding many stolen automobiles from other jurisdictions being abandoned in our city.

We are experiencing thefts involving low-value vehicles, or vehicles in a state of disrepair, that end up, if found at all, at salvage operations locally or elsewhere. Thefts of Harley-Davidson and other makes of motorcycles remain low. However, each year there are spikes in motorcycle thefts that need to be addressed. Intensive and cooperative investigation is required to address these types of theft operations.

Cold winter weather brings with it a corresponding increase of vehicles left running and unattended with the keys in the ignition, making for an easy crime of opportunity. Damage done to the vehicle is generally minimal in these cases. As with vehicles stolen by persons known to the owner, the best outcomes are either catching the offender while he/she is in the car, or the quick recovery of the car to restrict the use of the car to the offender and return it to its rightful owner.

The St. Paul Police Department's License Plate Recognition (LPR) program has proven to be a valuable tool in the recovery of stolen automobiles. It has been responsible for the recovery of six hundred twenty eight (628) stolen vehicles since its inception, four hundred ninety-nine (499) of which were in the last grant cycle. It has aided in the arrest of 11 auto thieves and located 681 scofflaw vehicles (five or more unpaid tickets listed to a registered motor vehicle) since 7/1/09. Most importantly, the recovery rate within the first ten (10) days has improved from 73.62% in 2009 to 85.31% in the 4th quarter of 2010. We believe that these numbers will continue to increase as more officers are trained in LPR operation. Overtime money is essential to allow investigators to train officers, conduct investigations and target auto theft "hot spots" during times outside their normal working hours. In addition, LPR units are often assigned to special events that historically have auto theft problems in and around the event. These events often happen during holiday weekends or other extremely busy times of the year. The patrol districts are tasked with manning these events and are unable to staff auto theft details with on-duty personnel. Overtime money is needed to staff these events.

St. Paul Police Department currently has two (2) bait cars in service. As stated above, a large number of auto thefts in St. Paul occur in relatively small, specific areas. Our current strategy is to determine auto theft "hot spots" using a computerized mapping system and deploy the bait vehicles in those areas. This process, while a valid strategy, has had limited success.

On examination, there are several issues that need to be addressed in order to achieve a successful bait car program:

Our Bait Car Program is currently being run by a Sergeant that is assigned to the Auto Theft Unit. That Sergeant carries a full case load and is expected to fulfill all of the same responsibilities as the other Auto Theft investigators in addition to the bait car program. This leaves little time to give the bait car program the attention that is needed to make it an effective tool against auto theft. A successful bait car program requires a full time individual to assess the problem, deploy the vehicles, maintain the equipment and improve the program. That individual would also be assigned to coordinate the License Plate Reader Program.

Vehicles in the Bait Car Program are currently being stored in separate garages within the Department. There is currently no space available to house all of the vehicles in a central location so that they can be stored out of the public eye and to undergo the regular maintenance that is required to assure their functionality. The acquisition of such a space is essential to build and maintain a quality bait car program.

The vehicles in our bait car fleet are rather generic and our ability to replace them, or alter their appearance, is extremely limited due to budget constraints. Organized auto theft groups are looking for a specific type of vehicle in order to satisfy their customer's demands. One example of this is that these professional thieves are often looking for high performance vehicles and parts to supply the racing crowd. While our current fleet is adequate to entice run of the mill auto thieves who commit crimes of opportunity, neither of our vehicles hold any allure for professional thieves who most greatly influence our auto theft rate.

Having only two (2) vehicles in the fleet severely limits the capabilities of our bait car program. The addition of three (3) fully equipped vehicles would greatly enhance our ability to deploy bait cars in multiple areas simultaneously. It is imperative for a successful bait car program to have a number of vehicles that are attractive to auto thieves and to possess the ability to alter the vehicles' appearance so that they are not recognized as bait cars by the criminal element.

The availability of overtime funds is essential for a bait car program. If provided with these funds, Auto Theft investigators, who carry a full case-load, are then able to extend their investigations past their normal working hours, train officers that work shifts other than the day shift, concentrate on specific auto theft tactics and have flexibility to respond to circumstances as need be without putting undue strain to an already taxed department budget.

We have learned, through experience, of the importance of having customer service assured through the purchase of the annual maintenance and service agreements. While the LPR and bait car systems are stable and work without fault for long periods of time, because of the size of our department, and the variety of hardware and software in use, integration issues crop up from time to time. With maintenance and service agreements in place, our contractor's technical support has been available and responsive at all times. These agreements also assure the availability of replacement parts (provided at no extra charge) when necessary. Keeping annual maintenance agreements in place is essential and worth the cost.

It is the goal of the St. Paul Auto Theft Unit to integrate all of the pieces of our auto theft strategy into the everyday efforts of the entire department. Through the use of these grant funds, we have developed an LPR program that is being used every day by line officers to recover stolen vehicles more quickly. By improving our bait car program, it is our intent to provide a much needed tool to assist in the identification and successful prosecution of our most prolific auto thieves.

III. Demonstrated Results:

- I. LPR assisted arrests -11
- m. Stolen auto recovery rate within 10 days:

 - 2010 4th qtr. 85.31%
- n. Investigation outside of business hours assisted in the investigation of an auto theft/child abduction that resulted in the recovery of the child and charges filed against the suspect.
- o. Personnel overtime funds allowed Auto Theft Unit investigators to more thoroughly prepare cases slated for trial while ensuring that the investigators day-to-day obligations were not in any way neglected. Review of interview transcripts, photo development and computerized map making were typical prosecutor requests of investigators. Personnel overtime funds allowed investigators the opportunity to more fully investigate numerous in-custody cases so that these same cases could be presented to prosecutors for charging consideration while the suspects remained in custody.
- p. Investigation outside normal working hours allowed investigators to assist in a chop shop investigation that resulted in the recovery of a large amount of suspected stolen auto parts and charges against the suspect.
- q. As Minnesota's Capital city, we are involved in or host many statewide, even national interest events, such as the Minnesota State Fair, the Hmong New Years celebration and sporting events such as the Hmong Soccer Tournament and NCAA tournaments. Visitors to these events have their cars stolen. MATPP funds helped us reduce auto thefts nearly 75% in the area surrounding the Minnesota State Fair in 2010.
