NSP Marketing Process and Procedures/Homebuyer Incentive Guidelines

Overview

Members of the Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) Team met early on in the project to develop a comprehensive marketing strategy for advertising and publicizing program activities and to explain the potential impact in Saint Paul neighborhoods. The purpose was to identify marketing goals and needs, frame the message, determine who the audience should be, and develop a strategy to execute the plan. Two of the main elements identified up front were the needs to hire professional real estate services to aid in the marketing and advertising for property disposition services; and, to come up with a marketing strategy to develop the message, guide the strategy, and develop a medium to convey project information.

The marketing and publicity work was divided into two categories: contractors, developers, community members and those in the real estate business; and, home buyers. Initially the push was to publicize pre-bid meetings where general contractors were invited to bid on projects, learn about the program, and learn about the various certification opportunities including Section 3, Affirmative Action and the Vendor Outreach Program. This was done through a partnership with the Minnesota Multicultural Media Consortium (MMMC), and a combination of web and print advertisements. Through these meetings a list of approximately 100 contractors was generated; those contractors now receive an email when new bidding opportunities arise. This approach has led to a significant increase in the number of Section 3 general and sub-contractors certified by the city, as well as several new certifications in the Vendor Outreach Program as well.

The message and marketing for home buyers required a different approach than that for contractors, along with a more specialized branding effort.

Branding efforts

In cooperation with a local advertising agency, a brand and logo for activities carried out under the Neighborhood Stabilization Program was developed. The Inspiring Communities campaign came out of a need to consolidate a message to the public about the activities taking place under ISP/NSP1/NSP2/NSP3 with the ultimate goal being to get vacant and foreclosed properties re-occupied. The initiative was designed with goals of selling single family homes, inspiring confidence in communities, spurring incremental changes that improve the daily lives of residents, and promoting the benefits of living in Saint Paul. The strategy included the development of a website (www.stpaulcommunities.com), separate from the existing city site, aimed at potential buyers to display available homes, explain program requirements and the city's down payment assistance program. The intent is to develop yard signs for those properties under rehab or on the market to clearly identify properties that are energy efficient, have low maintenance costs and are an excellent value for the buyer and an asset to the neighborhood. In addition, the city will be doing a press release to help get the information out to a wider audience. The city currently manages a contract with the Minnesota Multicultural Media Consortium (through an ISP2 community engagement grant) and will be using this contract to reach populations that may be more likely to read a neighborhood or cultural newspaper rather than the Star Tribune or Pioneer Press. Listing agents currently working with the city have developed their own outreach techniques that include presentations to other real estate offices, social media, fliers, open houses and word-of-mouth. One rehabilitated property was featured on the Minneapolis-Saint Paul Home Tour on April 30 and May 1, which generated a significant amount of traffic and resulted in a qualified offer.

Project staff will continue the marketing and sales efforts by maintaining the Inspiring Communities website and working with real estate agents to effectively market available properties and promote living in Saint Paul neighborhoods.

Hiring Real Estate Brokers through the RFP for Professional Real Estate Services

It was determined by Planning and Economic Development (PED) and Contract & Analysis Services (CAS) staff that doing a RFP would be the best way to solicit proposals from a variety of real estate brokers, and that using a master contract would allow us some flexibility relative to which broker is selected to work where and when. In cooperation with CAS, an RFP was drafted and was released on July 19, 2010, it was followed by a press release on July 26, 2010.

CAS received 12 responses and, according to the criteria in the RFP, 6 were selected. All proposals were scored based on their approach to marketing; qualifications of sales team members and areas of expertise relative to geography, working with home buyers from diverse economic statuses and those who may be unfamiliar with the process of buying a home, and references; their approach to reducing language barriers; and their fee structure/costs. There was a total of 80 points associated with the aforementioned criteria, as well as an additional 20 points if the broker was Section 3 certified. Three PED staff members reviewed and scored all 12 proposals, the scores were averaged, and any broker scoring 68 points or more was automatically accepted. Those scoring between 60 and 68 points were interviewed, and those scoring below 60 were not selected.

Five of the six brokers who were accepted through the RFP process have successfully executed a contract, one sales team is Section 3 certified. Brokers have been and will be assigned properties primarily based on geographic areas of specialty as noted in their proposal.

Staff meets with brokers at the time the initial listing is offered to give background information on the Invest Saint Paul and Neighborhood Stabilization Programs. A PowerPoint that was presented to CDCs and community members in the summer of 2010 is used as the outline for the discussion in order to give the sales team a comprehensive view of what Saint Paul is doing, will do, and has done to address the issues of vacancy and foreclosure in Saint Paul neighborhoods. The presentation sums up the city's response to the issue, its role in securing and administering Federal stimulus grant money and the activities that are either directly or indirectly related to those grants, as well as the work being undertaken by our partners in the community to address the same or similar issues.

Property Sales

As a matter of city policy, the sale of each home is contingent on there being a public hearing before the Housing and Redevelopment Authority (HRA). The hearing is required by the HRA disposition policy and is not an opportunity to determine buyer acceptance or eligibility. The timing of the sale process, from the acceptance of the offer to closing, will fall within the 30 to 60 day market standard.

Fair Marketing Requirements

City of Saint Paul staff have followed the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Fair Housing Advertising policy (Part 109) and fair marketing practices. The Equal Housing Opportunity logo appears on the Inspiring Communities website, where homes are being offered for sale, and properties are being marketed without using terms that indicate a preference in regards to race, color, religion, sex, handicap, familial status, or national origin. In addition, the real estate brokers assigned to listings are required by their contract to employ fair marketing strategies. To date, those strategies have included door-knocking, posting fliers, speaking at real estate offices or events, listing the property on the Multiple Listing Service (MLS), using social and electronic media, and web and print advertising.
