Local Food Resource Hubs—is a membership program of Gardening Matters. Each "hub" is a grassroots, neighborhood-based network that connects its gardener members to low-cost seeds, seedlings, skill shares, tools & more.

There are 7 hubs in Minneapolis & St. Paul in 2013. Each spring, members receive organic, heirloom seeds & seedlings. Throughout the season, members host and attend skill shares, trainings, and other events to grow the capacity of their local food hub. Hubs are member-driven and member-supported.
