

Make sure to follow access security rules

Some recent incidents and the month of April make this an opportunity time to remind everyone of our responsibilities to keep our campus safe and secure. Our primary means to do this is access control. Everyone is aware that your ID badge is also your access to our facilities here at McCarrons Center. Everyone is given rights to open certain doors and gates depending on their duties here. Those rights may be removed temporarily or permanently in cases involving suspensions or terminations, when we do not want an employee to have access to our facilities. We do this for our safety and for the security of our facilities here.

Recently, an employee on suspension with his access rights temporarily deactivated was seen in the secured area of the administration building. This was most likely due to the fact that one of our other employees allowed that suspended employee through a secured door. This puts us all at risk.

This is a big part of the reasoning behind our policy that states that all employees will card themselves in through doors and gates. Piggy-backing, or carding in for someone else, is not allowed unless you are someone that definitely knows the status of an employee. So, these are the parts of the policy to be reminded of:

Governor toasts tap water, meets staff

Governor Mark Dayton, to the right of Steve Schneider, makes a toast with Saint Paul tap water with from left, Matt Anfang, president of the Board of Water Commissioners, Mayor Chris Coleman, and Chris Tolbert, commissioner with the Board of Water Commissioners, at a press conference at the McCarrons treatment plant on Wednesday, April 20.

Staff from the plant and other sections of the water utility attended the press conference with Governor Mark Dayton, center front, on the success of the water utility and the challenges urban water utilities face. The press conference included speeches from the Governor, the Mayor of Saint Paul, Chris Coleman, and the President of the Board of Water Commissioners, Matt Anfang.

- Wear your ID badge so it is visible at all times.
- Use your badge only for your own access. Do not allow others to go through a door you have opened unless you see them properly use their badge.
- Confront people who don't have a badge visible or report them to your supervisor.
- Make sure doors and gates close behind you.

People (employees or non-employees) who can't access a door because they don't have a badge or the badge doesn't work should be sent to our reception area. Do not open a door for them. If you think that security is not convenient, you are correct. Get in the habit of wearing your ID badge.

Following these rules will make McCarrons Center a safer and more secure place.

Temps return for construction season

A sure sign of spring is the return of our seasonal temps.

Returning so far this year are, John Pope, and Bill Strouts, cement finishers; Mike Sherman, Tom Longendyke, Mark Ness, Mark Coulter, and Jonathan Hakes, all water utility workers; and Mathew Mariani and Andrew Ruiz, both utility aides.

Please welcome back all of our returning seasonal temps.

John Pope

Bill Strouts

Mike Sherman

Tom Longendyke

Mark Ness

Mark Coulter

Jonathan Hakes

Mathew Mariani

Andrew Ruiz

Full time staff hired to kick off construction season

As we gear up for construction season, the water utility welcomes a host of new full time employees to its ranks.

Starting on April 16, the water utility hired the following water utility workers: Aaron Alt, Joel Koppendrayer, Derek Baregi, Joseph Munos, Matthew Schmidt, Samuel Caliguire, Terrance Mann, Jacob Masiello, and Kendrick Morrison.

Aaron Alt will be reporting to Jeff Abbott.

Joel Koppendrayer will be reporting to Mark Luzinski.

Derek Baregi will be reporting to Curt Wolf.

Matthew Schmidt will be reporting to Brian Finnegan.

Samuel Caliguire will be reporting to Tony Palumbo.

Terrance Mann will be reporting to Brian Gomez.

Jacob Masiello and Kendrick Morrison will be reporting to Mark Luzinski.

Please welcome all of our new employees to the water utility.

Aaron Alt

Joel Koppendrayer

Derek Baregi

Joseph Munos

Matthew Schmidt

Samuel Caliguire

Terrance Mann

Jacob Masiello

Kendrick Morrison