Minnesota's Center for the Book

As Minnesota's Center for the Book, The Friends produces literary programming that benefits all ages and reaches all corners of the state. The Center for the Book is a national initiative established in 1977 to promote reading, literacy, and libraries. In 46 states, the designated Center is a land-grant university or state library; in Minnesota, it's The Friends of the Saint Paul Public Library.

The Friends was awarded a $100,000 biennial appropriation from the 2017 Minnesota State Legislature to support Center for the Book programs and activities, including the Minnesota Book Awards and Moving Words: Writers Across Minnesota. Finalists and winners from the 2018 Minnesota Book Awards program will travel throughout the state as part of Moving Words: Writers Across Minnesota. The program will bring teams of authors to libraries in all 12 regions of the state for discussions about the impact of literature in our lives, how being a Minnesotan informs their content and writing life, and the elsn through which we read. Moving Words is also supported by a grant from the Minnesota State Arts Board and the BNSF Foundation. Events will take place in Bemidji, Mankato, Duluth, Fergus Falls, Marshall, Rochester, St. Peter, Upsala, Willmar, and Moorhead, with additional sites to be announced.
