Creating Chapter 374 of the Saint Paul Legislative Code to establish a license for commercial pedal cars.

Councilmember Thune introduced amendments. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Daphne Lundstrom, Assistant City Attorney representing the Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI), reviewed the changes made in response to industry input. She said the primary ones included changing the language to refer to pedal cars rather than pedal pubs which is proprietary, adding a business license and fee, adding language around route and parking plans, and reciprocity with Minneapolis for vehicle inspections. She said there were additional minor and technical changes involving the vehicles themselves, the use of downtown routes during rush hour, and changes to the penalty matrix. She reviewed a request for changes the department had received that day and said they were not recommending the changes be implemented.

In support:

Eric Olson, co-owner of Pedal Pub, thanked Ms. Lundstrom and Christine Rozek in DSI - Licensing.

Preserving the status quo and protecting the City's planning process pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 462.355, Subd. 4 pending the adoption of the Great River Passage amendment to the City's Comprehensive Plan, for that area of the City commonly known as the Island Station Power Plant.

Jody Martinez, Manager of Design and Construction for the Department of Parks and Recreation, gave a staff report on the Great River Passage Master Plan and the importance of preserving Island Station as one of only three potential public gathering places along the passage. She said a plan to demolish Island Station before the Great River Passage Master Plan could be adopted into the City's Comprehensive Plan undermined the considerable planning that had already taken place. She said adopting the ordinance would not bar development as long as it was consistent with the intended goals of the Great River Passage Master Plan. She noted that the Great River Passage Master Plan had not yet been submitted to the City Council for adoption, and the Island Station proposal could still be removed from the Great River Passage Master Plan.

Councilmember Tolbert asked whether the City had approached the owner about purchasing the property. Ms. Martinez said as part of a separate process, the Parks Service, Trust for Public Land, Riverfront Corporation, and other City staff had spoken with the owners about what was being talked about for the Passage.

In opposition:

James McLean, St. Paul Area Chamber of Commerce, expressed concern about the use of a moratorium at Island Station. He said they always discouraged actions which limited the rights of individual property owners, and they felt it was unnecessary in this case. He expressed hope for open dialogue and exploration of other options. He said the owner had been unsuccessful in trying to find a way to repurpose the building, and a moratorium would further delay the process.

Carol Lansing, attorney representing Breckner Riverfront Development, distributed a letter outlining the ways in which the interim ordinance was illegal. She said it exceeded the authority granted the City for adoption of interim ordinances, was discriminatory because it singled out one property, was arbitrary and capricious, and was an unconstitutional taking.

Tim Prinsen, real estate broker representing the ownership of Island Station, said millions of dollars and six years spent trying to find a developer for the property had lead to the conclusion that redevelopment was not possible with the building there. He said they were confident that something economically viable could be built if the building were taken down, but, as it stood, the property was a problem property with over 500 police calls. He said demolition of the property would make the implementation of the Great River Passage plan more likely to occur than if the building stayed.

Councilmember Thune moved to close the public hearing.

Public hearing to consider the appeal of Alan Young to a decision of the Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA) approving a variance to legalize an enlarged deck in the required front yard and denying the variance request to legalize an 18-foot wide driveway in the front yard at 654 California Avenue East.

Yaya Diatta, Department of Safety and Inspections (DSI) gave a staff report on the two variance applications. He said the Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA) had approved the setback variance for the deck but denied the variance application for an 18-foot wide driveway.

Appellant:

Alan Young (654 California Avenue E.) displayed photographs of the driveway and deck, and said the deck had passed the final inspection. He said the driveway was originally 16 feet wide, and he had sign off from neighbors on the additional width. He said they had a lot of family gatherings on weekends and there wasn't a lot of parking available. He noted the letter from District 5 supporting the variance requests.

Mrs. Young described the original driveway, and said the extra parking space was needed during snow emergencies.

Leslie McMurray, Executive Director of the District 5 Council, said District 5 supported the variances and felt the changes fit in with the character of the neighborhood.

Ratifying the assessment costs for the 2012 Right-of-Way Maintenance Program and 2012 Above-Standard Lighting Operation and Maintenance Program. (File No. 12ROW FINAL, Asmt No. 120032)

Jack Hoeschler (1630 Edgumbe Road) appeared on behalf of a group of downtown non-profits, a group of commercial corner-lot owners, and Dart Transit. He said assessments levied on the basis of lineal front foot do not reflect the true value of and benefit to the properties; he suggested using lot square footage. He said the system doesn't adequately catch and deal with properties; he noted that the Burlington Northern right of way is assessed in four different ways.

Ambasager Abraham (property owner at 756 Hoyt Avenue) said he doesn't have a sidewalk, and he asked for an explanation of the changes to his assessment rate. Council President Lantry referred Mr. Abraham to John Maczko from Public Works.

Bill Faulkner (833 Holly Avenue) said said increases in property taxes and assessments are driving people out of St. Paul.

Lyle Puppe (2531 Nokomis Avenue) read an email he had sent to Council President Lantry and Councilmember Bostrom stating that increases in assessments and fees have not been matched by increases in income, and the City should rein in spending like citizens are. He read from and responded to Council President Lantry's reply to his original email. He said he objects to the City sending out separate statements for real estate tax, right of way, and storm sewer charges.

Eva Ng (190 Washington Street), President of Capital Business Council, said the percentage of increase is significant, especially for seniors on a fixed income. She said University Avenue businesses are already dealing with losses, and landlords can't raise rents in this economic environment. She said leaders should have empathy for those they represent.

Mike Schumann (1037 Grand Avenue) said the process is flawed, and the Right-of-Way (ROW) assessment program has become a dumping ground for all kinds of expenses the Council doesn't want to put on the general tax rolls where they belong. He said assessments exceed services performed, and services provided don't increase property value. He said the system is unfair to corner property owners and is illegal, because assessments need to be proportional to the benefits to the property owners.

Councilmember Thune moved to close the public hearing and approve the resolution.

Councilmember Stark said the Council had talked about this over a number of years and he did agree with Mr. Schumann about corner commercial properties. In response to other comments, he said spreading payments over a several years for maintenance performed every several years was preferable to having it all billed when the service was performed, and the majority of tax-paying properties benefited from having ROW billed separately because non-tax-paying properties paid the fees as well.

Appeal of Cyrus S. Irani to a Fire Inspection Correction Notice at 1842 ASHLAND AVENUE.

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said the appeal pertained to a large garage in considerable disrepair, and her recommendation was to order the garage removed by June 30, 2013. She said there was also one window sash that needed repair.

In opposition:

Property owner Cyrus S. Irani said there was no reason the garage should be demolished. He said there were no safety issues, and there was a strong foundation. He expressed frustration that his building had been changed to Class B after six years for irrelevant reasons. He said the window sash had been fixed. He asked for more time to save money to repair the garage. He noted that the orders did not say the garage should be demolished.

Councilmember Stark moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

In response to a question from Councilmember Stark, Ms. Moermond clarified that the orders for the garage could be addressed either by removing or repairing it. She said it was in poor condition and would get worse with time.

Councilmember Stark said based on the photographs in the file it appeared the condition was pretty bad. He said a June 30 deadline to remove or repair seemed reasonable.

Appeal of Ron Becker to a Revocation of Fire Certificate of Occupancy and Order to Vacate at 121 COMO AVENUE. (Public hearing held October 3)

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said appeals by the occupant and property manager were denied two weeks earlier and long term non-compliance was basically the issue. There was a basement fire in April 2010 and there have been problems gaining access since then. The decks were unstable and both tenants were to have moved out. She recommended upholding the Certificate of Occupancy revocation with a vacate date of the following Monday if the property had not already been vacated.

In opposition:

Property owner Ron Becker distributed handouts and said he'd had a rough couple of years, but everything on the orders had been done, under permit and inspected. He displayed photographs and reviewed the items that were completed. He said the downstairs tenant was out, and the upstairs tenant had belongings there and was in and out. He asked the Council to refer the address back for another inspection.

Councilmember Carter moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Ms. Moermond said the permits were finalised on September 28, but an interior inspection was still needed. She said the options were to order the property vacated and start from the beginning or allow a length of time for the Certificate of Occupancy to be reinstated.

Councilmember Carter said given the circumstances it seemed appropriate to take another look at the building interior. He moved a one month layover.

Appeal of Michael R. Hulke, on behalf of Agnes M. Hulke, to a Notice of Condemnation as Unfit for Human Habitation and Order to Vacate plus Summary Abatement Order at 1915 IVY AVENUE EAST.

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said this was an issue of hoarding of both material and animals. She displayed photographs, and said she had ordered immediate vacation. She recommended denying the appeal and referring the property to vacant buildings. She said an inspector had checked the exterior that day and noted a large amount of material on the porch and visible inside.

In opposition:

Appellant Michael Hulke said he lived at the property and cared for his mother. He said he was working on cleaning it up with help from his family, but needed more time. He apologized and said he never should have let it go this long.

Councilmember Bostrom moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

Councilmember Bostrom said he couldn't in good conscience allow occupation to continue; he moved to adopt the recommendation of the Legislative Hearing Officer.

Ratifying the Appealed Special Tax Assessment for Real Estate Project No. VB1210A Assessment No. 128821 at 2023 STILLWATER AVENUE. (Public hearing held October 3)

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said if the work was complete and permits finalised she would recommend that the fee be prorated.

In opposition:

Property owner David Schell expressed frustration about a number of issues related to the rehabilitation of the property. He said he had built 50 houses in St. Paul but no longer had an active license and had to work with a contractor on this property. He said he'd had trouble getting permits and gotten misinformation from the building inspector about the vacant building fee.

Ms. Moermond said they had talked about an October 17 deadline, so there was still some time.

In response to a questions from Council President Lantry, Mr. Schell said he needed a couple of months to complete the work and he was not occupying the property.

Council President Lantry moved to close the public hearing and lay the matter over to October 17 so Mr. Schell could work with Ms. Moermond to develop a timeline for completing the work.

Ordering the rehabilitation or razing and removal of the structures at 702 THIRD STREET EAST within fifteen (15) days after the July 3, 2012 City Council Public Hearing. (Public hearing held October 3) (To be referred back to Legislative Hearing on November 13, 2012 and City Council for discussion on December 5, 2012)

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said Jim Erchul of Dayton's Bluff Neighborhood Housing Services had been working with the property owner to facilitate a short sale, but the property owner's sister, who had been making the mortgage payments, wanted to rehabilitate the property. She said she hoped the disagreement did not result in the building being torn down, and she recommended continuing the public hearing to allow time for the short sale to take place and Dayton's Bluff Neighborhood Housing Services to intervene. She noted that it was a very long term problem property.

Property owner Charles DeLisi (2060 Wilson Avenue, Apt. 2) described circumstances that had lead to delays in the short sale.

Joanne Tyler (840 Lake Street) said she and her husband had experience rehabilitating vacant properties and wanted to fix the property up. She said she had been making the payments all along and wanted to move forward.

Council President Lantry moved to close the public hearing and lay the matter over to November 7.

Ratifying the Appealed Special Tax Assessment for Real Estate Project No. J1213A, Assessment No. 128524 at 530 THOMAS AVENUE.

Legislative Hearing Officer Marcia Moermond said the assessment was in two parts: one for tall grass and weeds and one for a cleanup. She said the appellant questioned whether there had been notification for the cleanup, but the City had met notification requirements. She said the City had conducted the cleanup, and she showed photographs documenting conditions at the property. She recommended approval of the $746 in assessments with payments spread over five years.

In opposition:

Property owner Chong Lor said he disagreed with the assessment for a couple of reasons. He said he had done a complete cleanup and remodel of the property, but acknowledged that he had not gotten to the grass in the alley parking area. He said the other items were there for him to haul away with his truck but they were taken by the City before he had a chance. He said six letters were supposedly sent out but he didn't receive any. He said the only letter he received was the final tax bill in August, and he had received the gold card but not the bills the inspector told him he'd be receiving. He said he was willing to pay half, but didn't think it took four hours for the City to do the cleanup.

Councilmember Carter moved to close the public hearing. Yeas - 7 Nays - 0

In response to questions from Councilmember Carter, Ms. Moermond reviewed the addresses where notifications were sent, and the additional fees included in the assessment besides the hourly rate.

Councilmember Carter said he was sympathetic, but the City did the cleanup and had incurred the fees. He moved approval.
