Interim ordinance pursuant to Minn. Stat. § 462.355, Subd. 4, preserving the status quo in the boundaries of the potential Merriam Park Heritage Preservation District pending the completion of a report, recommendation and nomination to place the potential Merriam Park Heritage Preservation District on a register of historic places and possible amendments to the City's official controls for protecting historic properties.

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAINT PAUL DOES HEREBY ORDAIN

Section 1

Interim Ordinance: Statement of Legislative Intent and Findings. The Council of the City of Saint Paul finds that the Historic Sites Survey of Saint Paul and Ramsey County (1983) states, "In 1882, Merriam platted a one hundred and forty acre tract bounded by the Short Line on the north, Dewey Avenue on the East, Marshall Avenue on the south, and Cleveland (then Union) Avenue on the west...It is not surprising, therefore, that the oldest parts of Merriam Park have the largest concentration of 1880s houses in District 13. Unfortunately, a number of the houses have suffered from both lack of maintenance and insensitive alterations, but enough of the original character survives that consideration should be given to establishing a Merriam Park Historic District." (p.129)

The Council further finds that the St. Paul Residential Real Estate Development Context Study (2001) concluded that "This study concludes that the original plats of Hamline, Macalester Merriam Park, St. Anthony Park and Warrendale are strong first candidates for further study as local historic districts. Their significance is based on the planning ideas of the original plat, the strength of the developer's original marketing efforts, and resulting architecture and community character." (p.2) The significance for potential historic district status is further reiterated in the Context Study on page 22 where it states "As noted in the introduction, Hamline, Merriam Park, Macalester Park and Warrendale have been identified as first candidates for study of the planning ideas of their original plat, the strength of original marketing efforts and resulting architecture and community character."

The Council also finds that the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, 16 U.S.C. § 420 et. seq., ["NHPA,"] has established a strong federal policy favoring the preservation of properties and sites which have been significant in American history and that the NHPA authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to create, maintain, and expand a National Register of Historic Places composed of districts, sites, buildings, structures and objects significant in American history, architecture, archaeology, engineering and culture.

The Council also finds that the state of Minnesota had established a similar policy regarding historic preservation which is more expansive than federal policy towards historic preservation by favoring the preservation of properties possessing historical, architectural, archaeological and aesthetic values which represent and reflect elements of the state's cultural, social, economic, religious, political, architectural and aesthetic heritage through the creation of a State Register of Historic Places under the Minnesota Historic Site Act. [Minn. Stat. §§ 138.661-.669].

The Council notes that Minn. Stat. §471.193, Subd. 1 enables local units of government to engage in comprehensive programs of historic preservation for the purpose of promoting the use and conservation of historical, architectural, archaeological, engineering and cultural heritage sites in the State for the education, inspiration, pleasure and enrichment of all through the creation of local heritage preservation commissions and, accordingly, the City has declared a policy calling for the preservation, protection, perpetuation, and use of areas, places, buildings, structures and other objects having special historical, community or aesthetic interest or value as a public necessity and in the interest of health, prosperity, safety and welfare of the people, including safeguarding the heritage of the City by preserving sites and structures which reflect elements of the City's cultural, social, economic, political or architectural history and to achieve this policy the City has adopted ordinances pursuant to Minn. Stat. §471.193, Subd. 3, under Leg. Code Chap. 73, to achieve the same.

The Council also finds that the nomination to either the National or State Register of Historic Places or as a City's Heritage Preservation Site, requires an exacting process of data collection, investigation and documentation to assure that a nominated property is eligible for historic designation base upon complete and adequate information regarding the historical significance of property

Further, the Council notes that Minn. Stat. § 473.859, Subd. 2(b) states that the land use chapter of a municipal comprehensive plan "shall contain a protection element... for historic sites." The City's adopted Comprehensive Plan contains a Historic Preservation chapter that calls for the incorporation protection elements. The Council further finds that the City's heritage preservation ordinance presently lacks a process or procedure for demolition delay or interim protection which could provide protection to historic resources during the lengthy designation process for properties which are nominated or eligible for historic designation. However, the Council is informed that a proposed ordinance for ~~demolition delay~~ and interim protection is presently in the public review process for review and adoption by Council in the near future.

The Council therefore finds that during the data collection, investigation and documentation process to determine the historic significance of a nominated property and the actual designation of the property, whether to the National or State Registers of Historic Places or as a City Heritage Preservation Site, that it is in the interest of the health, welfare and safety of the public, as is consistent with the strong statements of federal, state, and local policy to preserve districts, sites, buildings, structures and objects significant in historic, architectural, archaeological, engineering and cultural heritage as well as with the strategies of the Historic Preservation Chapter of the Comprehensive Plan, to enact temporary legislation to provide interim protection to property that has been legitimately identified, as has the potential Merriam Park Heritage Preservation District by the 1983 survey and 2001 context study, as having the potential historic significance to be named to a listing of National, State or City historic places; provided that the City takes the immediate steps necessary to promptly investigate, nominate and include the potential Merriam Park Heritage Preservation District on the National or State Registers of Historic Places, or as a City Heritage Preservation Site, as the case may be, and further provided, pending the receipt of a report and the effective date of any actions taken by the City based upon such a report, regarding the protection of historic sites under the Historic Preservation chapter of the City's Comprehensive Plan.
