

Our mission is to provide reliable, quality water and services at a reasonable cost.

Curt Wolf Retires
Safety Picnic
Page 2

The Pipeline Express

Vol. 24, No.9

May 5, 2023

Treatment plant work progresses

Above, Will Menkhaus, right, gives a tour of the work site of the treatment plant project on April 25.

The first panels of the clarifiers going up the first week in May.

Shea talks lead with Gov. Walz

Top, Pat Shea, general manager, and Gov. Tim Walz speak with a home owner at a Lead Free SPRWS press event on April 20 on Front Ave. Right, Shea fields questions from the media about the Lead Free SPRWS program during the press conference.

Krenz joins water utility

Rutger Krenz has joined engineering as an engineer tech. II.

He started work at the end of April.

Please welcome Rutger to the water utility!

Rutger Krenz

Curt Wolf retires after 35 years of service

Curt Wolf, right, is congratulated on 35 years of service to the water utility by Rich Rowland, assistant distribution division manager at a reception in Curt's honor on Friday, April 28.

Curt Wolf retired from the water utility on April 28 after 35 years.

He started work as a water utility worker I in 1988 and was promoted to a water systems worker I in 1990.

In 1994, he was promoted to water systems worker II before becoming a heavy equipment operator in 2000.

Curt Wolf, left, looks at photos shown by Elmer Stevenson, right as Todd Niedermayer looks on at Curt's retirement reception.

In 2005 he was promoted to water mains supervisor and in 2009 he was promoted to a water distribution supervisor II. This is the position from which he retired.

He was honored at a reception on his last day on April 28 at utility and a social hour at Vogel's following the formal reception.

Good luck to Curt on his retirement!

Utility holds safety picnic to kick off construction season

Matt Lanars, Austin Bell, and Chase Haack, water utility workers, check out safety gloves at the safety picnic on May 4.

Mark LaDouceur and Pahna Chan, water utility workers, check out the safety equipment at the safety picnic.