No lie, was at 95%, now 96. As much as I want to throw in the towel, the items that remain cannot be left undone. If she at least gets the stairs done (that she just decided to change), adds a handrail to the front entry steps, completes the kitchen and bathroom flooring and fixes the broken floor in the upper level I will give CCC. I don't care about the trim and flooring in the other rooms. I told her this.
