Thanks for the information.

I will say that any city official that promotes the bull dozing of CVS without a plan to build in hand will not be very popular in the Hamline Midway Area.

I am aware that private equity firms may be involved and that they have purchased Cub and Sears in the past. Today we learned they closed Rusco Remodeling after buying it.

I would strongly suggest you survey the businesses and residents of the Hamline Midway about bulldozing CVS without an immediate replacement in hand. We currently have over 20+ vacant businesses in the area and crime is a big factor. Another factor is lack of leadership. In the political world, we would call this political suicide.
