LEGISLATIVE HEARING DISCUSSION ITEM

36 RLH RR 23-18

Fourth Making finding on the appealed substantial abatement ordered for 318 EDMUND AVENUE in Council File RLH RR 21-11

Laid over one week to make determination on recommendation to either demolish the building or require a new $5,000 performance deposit, forfeit $5,000 of existing performance deposit, and hire a general contractor to manage work going forward.

Also in attendance: Aychoeun Tea, appellant

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This was originally in front of you on April 21, 2021. You laid this over a couple times to give a total of 4 months for the initial plan and evidence of financing. You heard it again after 6 months elapsed and progress was at 40%. 6 months later you heard it again and progress was at 40-45% according to the inspector. The most recent finding, 90 days after that, is that progress at 45-50%. In considering this, you increased the performance deposit from $5,000 to $10,000. In this most recent round, I was reviewing your order from December and needing to make a finding and recommendation to you. The finding is that the nuisance condition is not abated. The finish line is a certificate of code compliance. In the resolution you adopted in December, you indicated that a failure to meet this deadline would result in demolition and forfeiture of the $10,000 performance deposit. I had a Legislative Hearing scheduled for 2 weeks ago, and Ms. Tea did not attend. She stopped by the office later that day and indicated that she did not understand the time and slept through it. She did attend the hearing yesterday. She did not have any of the things that were asked of her for the Council to consider her request for more time to finish the rehabilitation. Attached to the record is a letter from our office that is highlighted and incredibly clear about what should have been done, including a work plan and financial information. I will also state for the record that this is not her property, it is her son's property.

Council President Brendmoen: If it's not her property, why do we engage on this? How do we draw distinctions with parties and ownership?

Moermond: I don't have an answer on that. All I can say is that she has been acting on her son's behalf, such as providing information on her son's bank account. They do seem to be operating in cooperation. I have never met the property owner. Aychoeun Tea is his mom. On the overhead you can see the recommendation is highlighted. We were clear about what was needed. At the hearing yesterday and up to that point, there was no plan or evidence of financing. At 3pm this afternoon, Aychoeun Tea arrived at our office with an affidavit of available funds. We ask for evidence of financing in terms of needing a bank account with a name on it that has the necessary money or a construction line of credit. This affidavit is a promise but still not evidence of money. Ms. Tea then called her bank and then, with our staff helping her, had her bank fax in a statement showing that she has money to complete the rehabilitation. She also handed me a work plan at 3:45pm that I have not had a chance to review. She says everything's been paid for, but I don't have evidence of that. What I have are trades permits that aren't finalized. The building inspector says it is 55% completed. After 2 years, that is bad. That is also an unenviable position in terms of demolition, since money has been put in. Commitments that have been made in the 4 times I have looked at the property (and other properties Ms. Tea owns, we have gone through this before) have not been followed through on. She has put forward plans and money and the work has not been done. It is disrespectful to this process to knowingly and continuously provide plans and evidence of financing that do not pan out to get the job done. Plan after plan says they will, and then excuse after excuse gets old after 2 years. What's in front of you in the resolution is an ask to forfeit the $10,000 deposit and order the building removed. An alternative, should you wish to consider it, would be to forfeit $5,000 of the deposit and require an additional $5,000 deposit. It would require a general contractor to be hired to develop a plan and manage construction decisions, that responsibility for work be taken away from Ms. Tea and the property owner and assigned to a 3rd party. The work place would require clear statements of getting contractors paid and getting permits finalized. If you wanted to go this other route, I would ask for a 2 week layover to give time to hire a general contractor. That indicates a finding of no confidence in Ms. Tea and the owner, but does give one last chance to get the work done. I'm looking at this plan at 3:45pm today and it was written on our conference room table. This is not...

Brendmoen: The building has been vacant how long?

Moermond: It has been vacant since 2012. The last sales transaction was in 2013 for $10,000.

Brendmoen: So it's been registered vacant for 11 years? I bring that up to highlight those who live near the property.

Tea: I'm doing this for my son... I have tried to fix this house. I'm the one who took his money to buy this house... I want to show you photos...

Brendmoen: Just to clarify, the owner lives in Minneapolis and not this property.

Tea: My son has problems and this is why I do everything for him, so he can have a house to live in. He is not here because he has problems... Your paperwork took so long and you approved me doing work in the winter. How am I supposed to do work then? Every time you approve it is in the winter. 55% is not correct.

Brendmoen: What is your request?

Tea: I want more time. The house is almost done. Brand new windows and front door. New deck. Bathroom has new toilet and new sink.

Brendmoen: You're out of time. What is your ask?

Tea: I need more time to finish the work.

Brendmoen: Thank you.

Councilmember Balenger moved to close the public hearing. Approved 7-0.

Moermond: The photographs Ms. Tea showed are attached to the record on your computers.

Balenger: I move to give one week to see that the work has been done and see where it stands in terms of completion, and make a determination next week.

Brendmoen: I would support that, given the information that just came in.

Public hearing closed and laid over to May 3, 2023

Ordering the rehabilitation or razing and removal of the structures at 1366 FREMONT AVENUE within fifteen (15) days after the October 26, 2022, City Council Public Hearing. (Amend to remove 15 days)

Removal ordered within 15 days.

Also in attendance: Samuel Coleman, attorney for Wells Fargo Bank

Marcia Moermond, Legislative Hearing Officer: This was originally in front of you on October 26, 2022. I've had 5 legislative hearings on this since you last saw it. This is a case with a foreclosure where we have been trying to figure out of Wells Fargo, who is foreclosing on the property, intends to rehabilitate or remove the structures, and then make a path forward. I received 2 documents to draw to your attention. One is a letter stating: "At this time, Wells Fargo intends to rehabilitate the subject property to bring it into compliance with city and state building regulations. My client's position may change once a comprehensive inspection is conducted by the city, but my client is absolutely committed to proceeding with the city inspection and completing the pending foreclosure. As detailed below, the property should now be in such a state that a city inspection may be performed. Arrangements are also in place to have a private contractor provide a rehabilitation estimate completed as soon as possible. We request some additional time to follow through on these intentions." I would note that the original application for a code compliance inspection was made in January. The inspector went out and the house and accessory structures were full. I think we all know what I mean by that. It does have a bid for doing the work. It has a few photos attached showing that it was still full on March 29 but then cleaned out when photos were taken on April 5. We do not have a code compliance inspection report, but we do have a bid for $20,600, despite the absence of a code compliance inspection. I would not accept that, since it is not known what work needs to be done. We also still lack a commitment on rehabilitation. In my experience doing this work, an owner in an instance like this is doing a calculation on loss mitigation: "What is the best way out and keep your client as whole as possible." There needs to be an analysis of whether it's financially in their interest to do it. The bid we have does not tell me that. It's been since October on this, and only now do I have a bid that isn't acceptable. My recommendation is that if the appellant doesn't demonstrate a real commitment, not a qualified "if" commitment... I need something like that to process for you to put together a package that you would require for rehabilitation.

Council President Brendmoen: How long has this been a vacant building?

Moermond: It became registered vacant in August of 2020. The owner died in 2019. Noting the time, it did get caught in the foreclosure moratorium during COVID. Things are backed up, but even still we have known about this property. It has been boarded and secured multiple times. The bank has not completed the foreclosure process, so ownership is still with the estate of the deceased, though I can be corrected on that.

Councilmember Prince: I am concerned about the estimate for the bid not being based on a code compliance inspection and being done from New Hampshire and just based on photos. I cannot imagine that is accurate. So before us is the decision to demolish?

Moermond: My recommendation is the razing and removal of the structures, lacking a plan or commitment to rehabilitate the property. To the best of my knowledge, there has not been any analysis at Wells Fargo to make that decision.

Coleman: I want to point out that this property is in the foreclosure process and Wells Fargo is not the owner. In the letter I submitted (same as referenced earlier by Moermond), there have been difficulties with this property. The owners are deceased and the heirs don't want anything to do with the property. Wells Fargo as a secured lender is the only party trying to prevent demolition, but we don't have the same rights as an owner. The letter outlined the process of getting personal property moved into storage. I had to get a court order to allow people to go in and move a bunch of junk into pod storages. As also pointed out, there was a title error in the foreclosure. It should have been done quite some time ago, but the title report we used was missing a defendant. I appreciate the time Moermond has given us, and would like an additional 6 months. We do have a foreclosure sale scheduled for June 13, and then an action to reduce the redemption period from 1 year to 5 weeks, which would put us in ownership in July to start rehabilitation thereafter. I received the bid at 9am this morning. My client was scrambling to get a ballpark estimate on the rehab cost. I was pleasantly surprised by the bid amount, but I also cannot tell you 100% that my client will rehabilitate the property. That may change. Wells Fargo has spent a lot of money up to this point in the foreclosure process, getting junk out, and getting court orders. We have demonstrated a true commitment up to this point. If this estimate doubles to $40,000, based on the property value, I think it would make sense to rehabilitate the property.

Brendmoen: Have you been out there?

Coleman: Several times. I was out there when the photos were taken when it was full of junk, and I was there on April 5 or 6 when it was better. A lot of junk has been moved. If Wells Fargo was in title now, I would understand wanting to raze this place. We are doing the best we can. I am dealing with a corporate bureaucracy which can sometimes move a little slow.

Prince moved to close the public hearing. Approved 7-0.

Prince: I am frustrated. I read your letter from April 7 that you would have someone visiting the property hopefully this month, and it was just this morning that we got a bid based on nothing but photos that were looked at in New Hampshire. It has been months to get to this point. At any point, you were responsible for that property and could have gotten someone there sooner or could have emptied it sooner to get the code compliance inspection. It's one thing when we have to do this with a private citizen with limited means, which is often the case, but here we have Wells Fargo in a case we saw back in October. I don't understand why you're owed any more time or patience. You haven't done anything to make a decision on cost effectiveness of rehab vs. removal. You could have done that any time in the last 7 months.

Coleman: There was a lot of junk there. In terms of getting a good inspection, that needed to be done. Moving the junk took longer. I advised my client to get a court order because they are not owners of the property and the owner's property was there. I wanted the safety of a court order before proceeding. You can always say people need to move faster. I am certainly guilty of not moving fast enough.

Prince: You're representing one of the largest banking corporations in the United States, so it's hard for us to understand why this has been so hard for you to do. My inclination is to say you're out of time and you'll have some grace period to figure it out, but I'm not inclined to give you more time. I have been out to the property. I would be astonished if the mess out there could be rehabilitated with $40,000, as you imagine it could. We see these things all the time. We were not born yesterday. You represent a very large institution that has the means to deal with this. This is on the East Side, where we expect our corporate neighbors to be good neighbors, and Wells Fargo has not been that for this neighborhood. Any other thoughts?

Brendmoen: It sounds like you're going towards the recommendation of the hearing officer. I would just say that the pressure seems to be benefiting Council and Wells Fargo. I support this motion to put a timer on the end of this. It seems like Wells Fargo could use the pressure to move this along.

Prince: I move the recommendation of the hearing officer.

Council Meeting Information

The City Council is paperless which saves the environment and reduces expenses. The agendas and Council files are all available on the Web (see below). Council members use mobile devices to review the files during the meeting. Using a mobile device greatly reduces costs since most agendas, including the documents attached to files, are over 1000 pages when printed.

Web

Meetings are available on the Council's website. Email notification and web feeds (RSS) of newly released minutes, agendas, and meetings are available by subscription. Visit www.stpaul.gov/council for meeting videos and updated copies of the agendas, minutes, and supporting documents.

Cable

Meetings are live on St Paul Channel 18 and replayed at various times. Check your local listings.
